MacArthur Orders Japs to House GIs and Provide Labor

CALLS FOR SPEED-UP IN OCCUPATION OF NATION

U. S. Troops Enter Tokyo on Friday, General Says

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 5 [Wednesday] (AP)—Japan moved today toward speedy and complete demobilization of her armed forces under a blunt "step on it" order from Gen. MacArthur, supreme allied commander.

In his general order No. 2 yesterday the supreme commander of the allied occupation forces sets forth at length requirements which would facilitate prompt and orderly establishment of United States occupation forces in the main islands of Japan, in the Ryukyus and Korea south of the 38th parallel. The orders were contained in 12 typewritten pages.

Must Furnish Quarters

The Japanese government also must be prepared to furnish all office buildings, hospitals, living quarters, warehouse and storage shops, transportation and communication installations required, with specific needs to be submitted later. This was in anticipation of the entry into Tokyo.

MacArthur directed that the Japanese government provide skilled labor at the time and place he designates. A pool of unskilled and semi-skilled labor would be used for repair of roads, railroads, docks, etc.

The order directed the commanding general of the 1st Japanese general army to report in person to Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, commanding the United States 8th army in the Tokyo area, at a time and place designated by Eichelberger, for instructions covering the entry of American troops into the 8th army's zone of responsibility.

Japs Get Summons

Eichelberger immediately summoned Field Marshal Sugiyama, former chief of the Japanese general army staff and military adviser to Emperor Hirohito, to 8th army headquarters to hear American terms for entering Tokyo.

Eighth army headquarters said the famed 1st cavalry division, first to enter Manila, would be the first American outfit to enter Tokyo. It will march in Saturday [Friday, Chicago time], Gen. MacArthur said. It was believed MacArthur would move his headquarters to Tokyo about the same time.

Eichelberger estimated 300,000 to 400,000 American troops will be required initially for the occupation of Japan and said all Japanese troops will be disarmed by Oct. 10.

Maj. Neil Stewart, of Woodvine, Ga., said the 27th division, which helped conquer Okinawa, would start moving into the Yokohama-Tokyo area tomorrow. It will share occupation duties with the 11th airborne and 1st cavalry divisions, already in Yokohama.

The commander of the Japanese 2d general army was instructed to

OAK PARK FLYER TELLS TORTURE BY CIVILIANS

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, Sept. 4—Ensign John Maynard Petersen, 24, of Oak Park, Ill., one of 64 American prisoners of war en route home by air from the Japanese prison camp at Omori, near Tokyo, said he plans to marry on his first day home.

Ensign Petersen

The party of the second part is Miss Patricia Rex, 7201 Adams st., Forest Park, Ill., who can expect her fiance in a day or two, and that goes also for the ensign's widowed mother, Charlotte, 629 N. Harvey av., Oak Park, Ill.

Petersen, a Corsair pilot from the carrier Hancock, was shot down while strafing Nip planes near Yamagata on Honshu Island, 300 miles north of Tokyo, last Aug. 10, five days before the Jap surrender which was on the 15th, Japan time. He was the last American committed to the Omori camp from which 516 men were liberated last Wednesday evening. One was Maj. Gregory [Pappy] Boyington, marine ace long believed dead.

Pals Call Him a Tourist

The prison party, headed by Maj. Boyington, arrived here today for an overnight stop before resuming its trip to the mainland. All are suffering from undernourishment but are gaining health and weight rapidly.

Petersen's experience was dramatic even tho he spent only 19 days in Japan. His comrades have dubbed him the tourist.

"I was making rocket runs on camouflaged Nip planes about 4 p. m. on Aug. 10," the ensign said. "An ack-ack shell hit my engine and got me good. I'd come home shot full of holes before but this shot was well placed.

"A few minutes later I was heading across country for the east coast 30 miles away when some civilians spied me crossing a rice paddy.

Beaten by Civilians

"About 100 of them armed with pitchforks and clubs ran me down because I was like a man from Mars in my full flying rig. They began beating me at once. They stripped my clothing off and stole my watch and all my belongings. Probably they'd have killed me right there except for two blue clad home guards who wanted to save me for the soldiers."

Petersen said the "half crazy" natives, ignorant and primitive, appeared to take fiendish joy in hu-

SENATE TO GET PEARL HARBOR BILL TOMORROW

Ferguson Asking Full Inquiry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4—Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] announced today he will introduce a resolution in the senate on Thursday calling for an exhaustive investigation of the naval disaster at Pearl Harbor.

Sen. Ferguson

On his return to the capital for the reopening of congress, the Michigan senator, who has been insistent on airing the facts of the blasting of the American fleet, said a congressional investigation is necessary to bring out the truth.

Ferguson held disclosures that the late President Roosevelt knew Japan was about to attack the United States made a congressional inquiry, rather than courts martial, the logical avenue of investigation.

Expose in Flynn Article

The disclosures tracing the blame for the disaster to the commander in chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt, were published by THE TRIBUNE Sunday in an article by John T. Flynn, widely known author, who has made a long study of Pearl Harbor.

"I am convinced the only way the full story can be obtained is thru a congressional investigation," Ferguson said. "A court martial is limited to the specific charges against a specific individual. A congressional investigation can explore all the avenues necessary to arrive at the whole truth."

The senator said he might introduce two resolutions, one calling for investigation by a senate committee and the other providing for a joint senate-house committee probe.

Disputes Truman

The senate will only meet for a few minutes tomorrow and then adjourn out of respect to the memory of the late Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.], who died while that body was in recess. The investigatory resolutions may be delayed until Thursday, altho they can be dropped in the hopper anytime after the congress reconvenes tomorrow.

Ferguson took sharp issue with President Truman's statement that the country as a whole is to blame for Pearl Harbor. He declared the people as a whole were not responsible for the blunders of the leaders.

"Since the people have been accused, they are entitled to a trial," he said. "A congressional investigation would give them that trial."

Bares F. D. R. Deal Giving Stalin Kuriles

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4—State Secretary Byrnes tonight disclosed that President Roosevelt agreed with Dictator Stalin at Yalta to let soviet Russia take over the Kurile Islands and regain the southern half of Sakhalin Island.

As grave concern was expressed in military circles over a Moscow radio report that the Russians were arming the island chain into "veritable bastions forming a screen of steel," Byrnes told a press conference this government will not oppose Russian claims to the territory.

Asked whether the decision on Russian occupation of the islands was reached at Potsdam, Byrnes said that his decision was based on discussion of Sakhalin and the Kuriles at Yalta.

Threat to Defenses Seen

The Russian radio announcement provoked fears here that the Russian occupation of the Kuriles would constitute a threat to American Pacific defenses and upset the moulding of peace in the far east.

It had been reported that President Truman had demanded American occupation of the Kuriles as essential to security in the Pacific. At the same time the President insisted Russia abandon claims to incorporating Manchuria and Korea into the soviet union.

Russian seizure of the Kuriles brought a reëxamination in diplomatic circles here of what had been considered a Truman triumph in Potsdam. Russia had renounced claims to Manchuria, seeking only restoration of pre-1904 rights to the Manchuria railroad, and had asked for a friendly government in Korea rather than the territory.

Fears were expressed here that the soviets had outmaneuvered Britain and America in the diplomatic game at Potsdam. The restoration of the railroad rights gives Russia a powerful hold in Manchuria, which approximates physical possession of that rich area.

Value of Kuriles Shown

The United States thus far has not pronounced any policy on Korea. Indications are that Russia is taking over that country under the guise of helping the Koreans move out Japs and establish a Korean government.

The Kurile Islands have a total area of 6,159 square miles and occupy a strategic position, as they lie between the sea of Okhotsk and the North Pacific, and are the nearest Japanese territory to the Aleutian Islands.

A short plane flight would bring planes from the islands to the Aleutians and Alaska.

They have a population of about 5,000, largely fishermen.

From antiquity, at least the three southernmost islands have belonged to Japan. At the beginning of the 18th century the Russians moved into the northern Kuriles after the conquest of Kamchatka.

Russ-Jap Agreement

In 1875 the Russians and Japs concluded an agreement under which the Japs withdrew from Sakhalin and the Russians in turn withdrew from the Kuriles. The Kuriles have been Jap possessions ever since. After the Russo-Japanese war at the turn of the century the Japs got back the southern half of Sakhalin.

The house naval affairs committee recently demanded that the United States receive outright possession of the Kuriles and other strategic Pacific islands as necessary for American defense.

SLASH TO SAVE 665,000 FROM OVERSEAS DUTY

Age Limit Also Is Changed

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 [Special]—The army tonight sharply reduced age limits and point requirements for exemption from overseas service, freeing an estimated 665,000 enlisted men now in this country from impending redeployment to the Pacific.

The new orders are that no enlisted men 37 or older or with 45 or more discharge points shall be sent overseas, and in addition that soldiers between 34 and 37 who have a year of military service shall also be excused from overseas duty. Previously the army required 75 points for exemption from overseas service.

The army said that screening will be begun immediately of units scheduled for Pacific duty in order to eliminate men covered by the new ruling. The screening will be begun on a basis of points acquired up to May 12, the German surrender date, the army said, but a recomputation of points taking into account service up to Sept. 2 will be made as soon as possible, and screenings revised accordingly.

No More WACs to Go

No WACs will henceforth be sent overseas, the army announced.

Exceptions to the 45 point limit, which will affect an estimated 1,000 men, were listed by the army. These are enlisted men in civil affairs units scheduled for early departure to the Pacific and men in the headquarters companies of the 8th and 18th corps.

Such men will need 60 instead of 45 points to be excused from overseas service if they are under 37 or over 34 with less than a year's service.

The new regulations were regarded as the army's answer to criticism from congressional and other sources of the redeployment of troops to the Pacific who had engaged in combat in the European theater. The army said the revision was made possible because the occupation of Japan was "proceeding according to schedule."

86th Already on Way

Divisions whose orders for Pacific duty brought protests from soldiers involved included the 86th, the 95th, and the 97th. The 86th is already at sea, en route to the Pacific, it was said, and all but one battalion of the 97th has embarked. This battalion and the entire 95th division will be screened under the revised requirements, the army said.

Any soldier now 38 or who has 80 points under the Sept. 2 re-figuring can get a discharge now upon application, the army said, estimating this includes about 1,100,000 men in addition to 400,000 who qualified for discharge before the point total was cut from 85.

WACs may now be discharged if they have 41 points, are 38 or over, are between 35 and 38 and have two years service, or are married to a discarged member of the military forces.

Moving to make an army career more attractive to volunteers in order to accelerate enlistments, the house military committee today tentatively voted to give enlisted men the option of retirement at half pay after 20 years service.

Other Plans Before Group

The present law permits retirement after 20 years only if a soldier is disabled. Automatic retirement comes after 30 years at three quarters pay.

Other proposals before the committee are to revise the reënlistment bonus program, continue the 20 per cent pay bonus for overseas service, extend the privileges of the GI bill of rights to men reënlisting and to finance 90 day furloughs home to men now in service desiring to reenlist.

Demands for an immediate end to the draft were heard in congressional circles, with Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] suggesting a 60 or 90 day moratorium on inductions "to see what we can do with volunteers."

Who Can Rent Such a Palace? Who, Indeed!

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 4 [Special]—A sumptuous American home which perhaps more than any other in the United States has symbolized the wealth and luxury obtainable in a capitalistic society was being prepared today for a new role.

It is the palatial 45 room brick, stone, and glass mansion of the late J. P. Morgan on East Island here, assessed at more than $1,000,000.

Untenanted since the death of the head of the house of Morgan a year and a half ago, the home has been preserved in its pristine grandeur, its 13 baths intact, its 18 fireplaces ready to be fired, its furnishings as ready to receive royalty as in the days when Morgan was its host.

Wanted to Save Landmark

Preservation of this home, even tho the greater part of the surrounding 116 acres might succumb to the subdivider, has been the expressed hope of Philip Publicker, president of the Morgan Island estates, a corporation which manages the Morgan property here.

As Publicker put it only a few months ago, the home should be saved "because it is a world landmark which has been visited by kings, princes, statesmen, and other well known persons."

With obvious regret, the corporation applied recently to the Glen Cove city zoning commission for a change in the zoning law to permit the home to be leased as a hotel. The remainder of the estate is to be subdivided, with the corporation putting in a sewerage system and paving, and erecting homes. The commission set next Wednesday for a hearing.

That's All Changed, Now

Today's developments, however, brought to an abrupt end any immediate plans for converting the one time citadel of American wealth into a hotel. J. J. Kramer, attorney for the corporation, made the announcement.

The mansion, he said, with six acres of surrounding land, has been leased at $15,000 a year for the next two years to the communist government of Russia to serve as a place for recreation and entertainment of high Russian officials. The deal was concluded Friday and the Russians have already taken possession, he said. They are refurbishing the place for a dedication two weeks from now when Russian Ambassador Gromyko will come on from Washington to take part in the ceremonies.

LOS ANGELES-CHICAGO TRAIN IS DERAILED; YANK DIES; 20 HURT

Arcadia, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—One soldier was killed, several other persons were reported to have perished and a score or more injured tonight in the derailment of the Santa Fe's Los Angeles to Chicago bound California Limited near here.

W. B. Cash, the railroad's night chief dispatcher at near-by San Bernardino, reported the train, a double-header, which had left Los Angeles at about 6 p. m., apparently hit an open switch or a broken rail. It then crashed into a work train standing on a siding.

Most of the injured were in the two forward coaches. Blow torches had to be employed to extricate some of them. Many of the passengers were service men.

U. S. ARMY FINDS ROMMEL JOINED FOES OF HITLER

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 4 (AP)—United States army headquarters said tonight it had uncovered "definite evidence" that the late Field Marshal Erwin Rommel fell out with Adolf Hitler and was a participant in the unsuccessful plot to assassinate the Fuehrer on July 20, 1944. Dr. Reinhard Brink, a banker and attorney and later a major in the German army, told the story.

Brink said the conspiracy against Hitler began to form in September, 1940, and added that the late Field Marshal Erwin von Witzleben was one of the leaders. Rommel joined the conspiracy, Brink said, at the beginning of July, 1944.

U.S. Flag Over Wake Again as Japs Sign

WAKE ISLAND, Sept. 4 (AP)—The American flag flies over Wake Island this afternoon.

Thus was written the last line of one of America's greatest chapters of war.

Within a few hours after a Japanese rear admiral came aboard the destroyer escort Levy to surrender command of Wake atoll and approximately 1,200 men, a small force of seamen and marines went ashore with a flagpole ready to raise the symbol of freedom.

Jap Admiral Signs

Rear Adm. Shigetmatsu Sakaibara affixed his signature to the surrender document while Marine Brig. Gen. Lawson Sanderson, Shelton, Wash., commanding general of the 4th marine wing, looked on.

The flag was run up at 1:50 p. m. with a marine color guard of about 75 officers and men from the Levy.

The Japanese admiral and his staff came to attention and saluted as the flag was raised. The attitude of the Japanese thruout the surrender negotiations and later ashore on America's first actual battleground of this war was perfect politeness. Sakaibara said, "I regret Japan had to surrender but I'm glad it is to Americans."

He said his garrison was suffering from malnutrition and had only 17 days' rations left. He said the last time he received supplies was June 21, when a Japanese submarine came, but he lost contact with it when the submarine was forced to submerge speedily at the approach of a United States submarine. He had became atoll commander Dec. 13, 1942.

Wake's gallant little garrison of 435 marines gave up to the Japanese invader Dec. 23, 1941, after the last patched and repatched plane was shot down and their means of fighting was exhausted.

Australian Cabinet O. K.s 12½% Cut in Income Tax

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Australian cabinet approved in principle today a 12½ per cent reduction in personal income taxes and a lowering of sales taxes over a wide range of commodities. The proposals are expected to be submitted with the budget Thursday and to become effective by Jan. 1.

THIS YANK THINKS ABOUT FOOD AND HIS MENU PROVES IT

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 4—This will give you a faint idea of what thousands of American war prisoners, who were deprived of enough to eat, are thinking about. It is one Yank's dream of what he would devour when back home once more:

6 a. m.—eggnog, cake, sweet milk; 9 a. m.—ham omelette, hot cakes and sirup, hot cereal, coffee and sweet rolls; noon—chicken dumplings with sage dressing and potatoes; 4 p. m.—tea and assorted sandwiches; 8 p. m.—stuffed pork chops, oyster dressing, apple pie with vanilla ice cream and coffee; midnight—chili con carne and hamburger and onions.

Other prisoners prepared similar lists of such things as clothing they intended to buy, books they planned to read, songs they wanted to hear. On the latter list, one lad knew no songs later than "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas," which was popular when he was captured about three years ago.

Plane Priorities to End

U. S. Cuts Order

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Priorities for travel on commercial air lines in this country will be abolished Oct. 15, the war department announced today. Beginning Sept. 15 the volume of priorities will be reduced from 100,000 a month to 15,000 or less. This cut will be achieved by abolishing priorities for some classes of military and naval personnel and by "stringent screening" of other military and civilian applications.

Priority controls on civil air line service to South America, Central America, and Alaska also will be abolished Oct. 15.

[In Chicago L. W. King, regional vice president of American Air Lines, greeted the announcement as "extremely good news." United Air Lines officials said the directive means that 90 per cent of passenger space on their planes will be available for civilian traffic after Sept. 15, compared with 35 per cent in recent weeks.]

More Pullmans

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—The office of defense transportation is expected to relax two of its remaining holds on civilian travel around mid-September, thereby making more Pullman space and more special trains available.

Directions probably will be given to the government reservations bureau to reduce its space requirements by two-thirds after Sept. 15, according to word circulated today in responsible railroad circles.

The government reservations bureau at times has held between 25 and 50 per cent of all Pullman reservations on long distance trains, after allocations for regular troop movements.

A second relaxation is expected to come in removal of the ban on special trains for special parties, some time around Sept. 16.

Railroad men also have heard that ODT may raise from five to 14 days the period in which advance reservations may be made.

FORM PEACEFUL STATE, MIKADO URGES JAPANESE

Told to Seek Confidence of World

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY AND DONALD STARR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—Emperor Hirohito read a royal rescript at the opening of the 88th session of the Japanese diet [parliament] today in the capitol building undamaged by bombings. He appeared before a joint session of the 400 members of the house of peers and the 466 members of the house of representatives. Later the two houses met separately.

"It is our desire that our people will surmount the manifold hardships and trials attending the termination of the war and make manifest the innate glory of Japan's national policy, to win the confidence of the world, establish firmly a peaceful state, and contribute to the progress of mankind," he said.

"In consummation of the great task...we would observe faithfully commitments of the empire and foster concord and amity with all nations; and internally, devote our efforts to reconstruction in every field."

Orders Report on Defeat

He commanded that reports be made tomorrow by state ministers on the causes of defeat.

Hirohito was driven in a maroon sedan to the diet building. After rapidly reading the rescript he returned to the imperial palace. All upper story windows along the route were curtained, as is customary, to prevent his subjects looking down on him.

This afternoon in the house of peers Baron Reijiro Wakatsuki, a former premier, sharply criticized the former Tojo government.

Wakatsuki said that at the beginning of the war "the Japanese government cheated us because it told us we had more strength than we actually had."

Wakatsuki said he "wanted to fight the United States" at the war's outset because "every one then believed in victory. But now we have no guns, no aircraft, no men so we must accept the Potsdam declaration."

Konoye Is Present

When Wakatsuki finished speaking, rolling up one side of his yard wide speech as he unrolled the other, the president of the peers asked for a vote on whether the speech should be accepted. "All in favor," he said in Japanese. Every one of the peers snapped to his feet.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye, who was premier until a few weeks before Japan went to war, and the army and navy minister were present. But Gen. Hideki Tojo, premier responsible for Pearl Harbor, was absent.

"Where's Tojo?" American newsmen perched in the plush, blue green seats of the visitors' gallery asked an interpreter. The interpreter made a motion of futility with his hands and said: "Aw nuts, Tojo. Japanese people don't know. He isn't here any more."

Aid to Jap Soldiers

Meantime, the house of representatives members, who come up for reelection in January, talked of aid to discharged Jap soldiers and relatives of the dead and wounded. The present representatives were elected in 1942.

The diet meets in a block long, modernistic building topped with a squatty pyramidal tower. Strips of black paint and nets draped on the tower served as camouflage. Only the emperor and his retinue use the central door. A wide marble staircase covered with a red carpet runs thru the middle of the building, and is reserved for the emperor.

The peers' house is to the right, the representatives' to the left. The walls of these three story high rooms are of carved paneling and damasks. A stained glass ceiling admits diffused light. In the house of peers, the emperor's blue and gold throne sits in splendor on the dais. Two sets of drapes, one of thin white silk and the other of heavy red velvet, cascade down each side of the throne.

Formal Morning Clothes

Each house has seats and desks arranged in a semi-circle. Page girls with bob-tied hair and brown blouses and pantaloons run errands. About half the members of both houses wore formal morning clothes, striped torusers, black coats, and white vests.

Members of the diet enter and leave the capitol thru side doors. Visitors use a basement door in the rear.

GEN. M'ARTHUR ORDERS JAPS TO HOUSE U. S. ARMY

Demands Enemy Also Provide Labor

report by radio without delay to Maj. Gen. Krueger, commanding the American 6th army, for entry of occupation forces into southern Honshu, Shikoku and Kyushu.

Likewise the Japanese commander of Korea was told to report to Maj. Gen. John Hodge of the 24th army corps for instructions on the American entry into Korea.

Imperial headquarters also was directed to have its naval commanders report to Admirals Halsey and Spruance, of the 3d and 5th fleets, and to Adm. Kinkaid of the 7th fleet as naval representatives of the supreme commander.

All Japanese merchant ships of more than 100 tons would be subject to supervision of MacArthur and his representatives.

Armament resulting from demobilization would be turned over to the United States 6th, 8th and 10th army commanders and to the 24th army corps commander.

MacArthur ordered the Japanese to demobilize their armed forces speedily and in orderly fashion and to maintain all records and archives until they are taken over by the occupation forces.

Personnel of Nipponese warships and merchant vessels were ordered to remain aboard ship until further instructions. All such ships, whether at sea or in port, were commanded to train all weapons fore and aft and to make them inoperative.

Specifies Requirements

General headquarters must provide MacArthur without delay the designation and code name of each army division, independent brigade, and regiment, and also designations of naval units. In addition the Japanese must disclose the specific location of each headquarters, the commander's name and home base, and actual strength of forces.

Other instructions included the following:

Steps must be taken to mark all minefields, mines, and other obstacles to land, sea, or air movements. They shall be made safe and removed as soon as possible.

Town Names in English

Directive two further orders that cable and radio broadcasting facilities be maintained intact and continued in operation and that voice broadcasts for public information in languages foreign to Japanese be discontinued immediately.

Names of towns and cities were to be posted in English on each side of highway entrances in letters at least six inches high.

The directive ordered a detailed statement on health in the Japanese armed forces and on recruiting and discharge methods.

Names and locations of war prisoners camps and the total number of prisoners and civilian internees shall be furnished to the supreme commander within 48 hours.

Lists showing complete names, ranks, nationality, next of kin, home addresses, age, sex and physical condition also are to be provided. Places of burial of deceased also must be given.

Extend Occupation Area

Selected air fields are to be made available to the occupation forces where required, with runways and dispersal bays cleared of Japanese aircraft and runways improved if required.

Operations which eventually will put 500,000 allied troops, mostly Americans, in Japan's key areas extended yesterday to Hamamatsu, 120 miles southwest of Tokyo, and Kyushu island, southern-most of the Nipponese home archipelago.

AMERICAN-TRAINED CHINESE TROOPS SET FOR JAP SURRENDER

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Chinese 6th army, which helped forge victory in Burma, was scheduled to fly to Nanking today for an air borne occupation of the former Chinese capital, coming scene of Japan's formal surrender in the China theater.

Formal surrender ceremonies were expected to be carried out in Nanking Thursday, with Gen. Ho Ying-chin, commanding Chinese field forces, accepting the capitulation. Meanwhile, Chinese reoccupation of strategic centers continued.

"Guests of Japanese"

NANKING, China, Sept. 4 (AP)—American and Chinese troops who arrived in Nanking less than a week ago are in effect "guests" of the Japanese who have occupied the former Chinese capital for almost eight years, the first American correspondents to enter the city were told today.

WAINWRIGHT'S WIFE TO MEET HIM IN CAPITAL

Skaneateles, N. Y., Sept. 4 [Special]—Mrs. Jonathan M. Wainwright today said in an interview at her home here that she intends to go to Washington, D. C., this week-end to await the arrival from Manila of her husband, Lt. Gen. Wainwright, the hero of Bataan, who spent more than three years as a prisoner of the Japanese.

Mrs. Wainwright said the time of the arrival of her husband in the nation's capital is indefinite. She said she received a cable from him today in which he said, "I hope to meet you in Washington."

Mrs. Wainwright described herself as extremely thrilled and happy at the part Gen. Wainwright had taken in the Japanese surrender. He witnessed both the main surrender of the Japs to Gen. MacArthur in Tokyo bay and then flew back to Manila to watch the capitulation of Gen. Yamashita, commander of the Jap forces in the Philippines.

Wilmette Officer Back

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—Eight army generals, two other officers and two enlisted men, freed recently after three and a half years in Japan's prison camps, are scheduled to arrive at Hamilton field here some time tomorrow. They include Maj. A. C. Tisdelle, Wilmette, Ill.

JAP ARMY URGED ATTACK ON REDS FIRST, NAZI SAYS

BY FRANK L. KLUCKHOHN

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

MIYANOSHITA, Japan, Sept. 4—Here, 70 miles from Tokyo and 22 miles from Fujiyama in the towering, picturesque Japanese mountains, where freezing cascades tumble from the hills, I found 150 diplomats living in the luxury hotel Fujiya with its two swimming pools and great game rooms.

The German, Italian, Thai [Siamese], and Indo-Chinese representatives were headed by Heinrich Stahmer, Hitler's ambassador to Japan since January, 1942. None of the diplomats were guarded, nor had they been.

Interviewed in the living room of his large suite in which there were exquisite lacquered cabinets and prints as well as supplies of delicacies, Stahmer said that a split between the Japanese army and navy probably kept the Japanese from going to war with Russia, which his government had hoped they would do, instead of attacking the United States.

Army Wanted to Fight Reds

Stahmer asserted he did not try to get Japan to attack Russia. "What is the use of trying to push people into doing something if they do not realize that they should, themselves?" he said. "There was a struggle between the Japanese army and navy on this point," he said, adding that the army wanted to attack Russia but the navy did not before Pearl Harbor.

"Do you believe that without the atom bomb Russia's entry into the Pacific war would hav brought the Japanese surrender?" he was asked. "I believe they would have gone on fighting," he said.

Stahmer asserted the Germans never knew until a day or two before and sometimes not until after an event what the Japanese were going to do. He said that there had been considerable exchange of technical knowledge and critical supplies between Germany and Japan exclusively by submarine. There was a big German submarine base near Singapore altho U-boats occasionally reached Japan direct. The Japanese usually completed the run from Singapore.

Didn't Prepare for Hitler

Stahmer said he never had been instructed to prepare for an arrival in Japan, when Germany was collapsing, of "Hitler or any other German." Stahmer said he had no real news from Germany after the [July, 1944] attempt to assassinate Hitler. The last message he received from Germany was a brief radiogram that Hitler had been killed and the government was collapsing. This came, he said, from the foreign minister. In May he moved to Miyanoshita "not of my own accord."

Stahmer said he "wants to return to Germany to find out whether I am a prisoner. I don't think I am because I was never responsible for any tortures or atrocities."

This differed sharply from the opinion of another German, Dr. Ivar Lissner, down the hall, who held documents tending to prove that he had spent a year and a half in a Jap prison, had been beaten, suffering internal bleeding and paralysis. He said this was on an order signed by Stahmer on the advice of the German Gestapo chief in Japan, Meisinger.

Italians Treated Well

Mrs. Florence Merge, a New Yorker, whose husband, Salvatore, was a member of the Italian legation, said that the diplomats were given white bread thruout the war altho the Japs got only brown. Diplomats also were given double rations, as well as 20 Japanese cigarets a day. She said the Japanese treated the Italians well even after Italy surrendered and became a co-belligerent with the allies.

Every one seemed reluctant to talk against the Japs and claimed that they did not know that American prisoners had been beaten. I was told that a number of German sailors were usually to be seen in Japanese ports but that the Japs did not like them.

68 JAPS GIVE UP ON GUAM; LEAVE JUNGLE HIDEOUT

GUAM, Sept. 4 (AP)—Led by the highest ranking Japanese officer captured on Guam since the island was occupied in August, 1944, four officers and 64 enlisted men surrendered today from a jungle hideout. The leader was Lt. Col. Hideyuki Takeda, who had received allied leaflets telling of the emperor's surrender and sent emissaries to the surrender rendezvous.

Seabees Get There First

ROTA, the Marianas, Sept. 4 (AP)—The marines landed today on this island, 32 miles north of Guam, and found a large sign reading: "The 48th Seabees welcome the marines to Rota." The Seabees had come ashore on this surrendered Japanese base three days earlier to examine the airstrip.

The Japanese commander, Maj. Shigeo Imagawa, met the marines and told them that all surrender terms had been met, so the job of removing the Japanese garrison of 3,000 began immediately.

1,700 on Panay Give Up

MANILA, Sept. 5 [Wednesday] (AP)—Lt. Col. Ryoichi Tozuka surrendered his force of 1,700 soldiers and civilians on Panay Island at 40th division headquarters there on Monday, the army reported today. The ceremony took place near Maasin, where three years ago an American and Filipino force capitulated to the Japanese. Lt. Col. James E. Marr, Upland, Cal., a battalion commander of the 40th division, accepted the surrender.

JAP WAR LORDS NOT LICKED YET, SAYS ADMIRAL

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 4 (AP)—Japan's war lords "are not half licked yet" and are going to "take a lot more killing in the future," Vice. Adm. John Sidney McCain, colorful commander of the famous task force 38, said today.

"I don't like the look in their eyes," the peppery, explosive exponent of the navy's fast striking carriers told reporters as he recalled witnessing the surrender ceremony aboard the U. S. S. Missouri in Tokyo bay.

Just Measuring Us, He Says

"Listen, baby," he barked when asked why. "They were just measuring us—just like you measure a man when you're going to hit him the next minute. They don't know they're licked yet. They don't know we are better men than they are."

Gesturing with one hand while rolling cigarets with the other, McCain said he approved Adm. Halsey's expressed desire to kick the Japanese generals in the face—except "it wasn't in the face I thought about kicking them."

Surrender Ceremony a Pageant

The surrender ceremony he termed "quite a pageant—and anything you say about it will be right. It had color, drama, everything."

He said no movie actor could have played the part of Gen. MacArthur better than the general himself played it.

"He was just right, a rough, tough guy and that's what the job needed and still needs."

He said MacArthur saw to it that the Japanese generals received "no courtesies whatever" other than bare essentials while aboard the Missouri and that they were not spoken to when they came aboard until time to sign. When that was done they were told to leave, and they left.

ALLIES COMPLETE PLANS FOR LAST JAPS TO SURRENDER

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 5 [Wednesday]—(AP)—British and Australian commanders today put the last touches on arrangements to take the surrender of Japanese forces at Singapore, in the Duth East Indies, and Southwest Pacific islands.

A naval squadron under Adm. Arthur Power, commander of the East Indies station, lay anchored off Singapore, bringing the British flag back to that great naval base for the first time since the Japanese captured it Feb. 15, 1942. Occupation units were expected to go ashore at any time.

Brig. E. L. Sheehan of the Australian army yesterday met Japanese surrender envoys aboard the destroyer Vendetta off Rabaul, New Britain, a news report said, to arrange capitulation of Nipponese forces in the Bismarck Islands and New Guinea sectors. Full surrender of 89,000 army and navy men in the areas is set for Thursday.

A Melbourne dispatch said Australian troops sailed from Darwin to accept the surrender of perhaps 6,000 Japanese in Timor Island.

U. S. SUB IS SUNK BY OWN TORPEDO, SAYS SURVIVOR

GUAM, Sept. 5 [Wednesday]—(AP)—The United States submarine Tang was the victim of one of the freaks of the Pacific war—she was sunk by her own torpedo, which boomeranged after being fired at a Japanese ship. The disclosure was made today by one of the survivors, Lt. Lawrence Savadkin, 24, sub-engineer of Forest Hills, N. Y., who is on his way to the United States after his release as a prisoner. The Tang was sunk Oct. 25, 1944, in waters between Formosa and China, after she had sunk six ships of a Japanese convoy and was gunning for more kills.

MORE PRISONERS OF JAPS ARRIVE AT YOKOHAMA

450 Reach U. S. Forces in Special Train

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Sept. 4 — Four hundred and fifty allied war prisoners freed from camps 90 miles west of here arrived this afternoon at Yokohama station, traveling in a special train. They cheered when they saw the medics and nurses of the 1st cavalry division, guards and newsmen on the platform, since for many these were the first free Americans they had seen in more than three years. About 300 aboard the train were Americans, the others were British, Dutch, French, one Australian, and one Canadian.

Among the units represented were the 193d [Maywood, Ill.] tank battalion, 194th tank battalion, 33d tank battalion, 200th coast artillery, 59th coast artillery, and the old 4th marines.

Other arrivals by train, plane, and water brought the day's arrivals up to 850 and the over-all total up to 2,289.

Most in Fair Shape

Many of the Americans were captured at Bataan and Corregidor, but despite their long years of imprisonment, despite the beatings, torture, and insufficient food, most appeared in fair shape. Only a few had to be carried from the train. Some officers and men from the submarines Perch and Grenadier also were on the train.

The prisoners were held most recently at two camps near Ashio, where they worked in copper mines, sometimes laboring eight hours, resting eight hours, and then laboring eight more hours the same day.

Japs Get MacArthur Orders

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 4 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today gave the Japanese specific instructions on camps not yet freed. He told the Nipponese to turn the camps over to the highest ranking officer held in each and gave the latter authority to demand needed food supplies and medical care.

A sharp increase in prisoner arrivals here was announced for the next two days when 2,147 will come by train from the Niigata area and 488 from Kobe.

Prisoners just freed after long captivity related stories of starvation and torture to Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commanding 8th army occupation forces.

Eichelberger and two officers of the general headquarters war crimes branch interviewed prisoners aboard the hospital ship Benevolence, and more Japanese names were added to the war criminals list.

miliating him. They threatened to put his eyes out with sharpened bamboo sticks, he said. They formed circles, each one punching the captive as they passed, he related. He described the shameless acts of the women who were among his most insistent tormentors. He said he was offered a knife for hara-kiri.

Soldiers Take Charge

"I kept asking for some commander," Petersen said. "But apparently the civilians wanted me for themselves. Some one hit me on the left temple with a heavy club. When I came to I was still tied and the people were standing around stupidly. Then some soldiers came up and took charge of me.

"They gave me back my shoes and marched me to a barracks five miles over the mountains. I felt sure I was going to die but I kept up a big front. On the march I sang crazy songs like 'Mairzy Doats,' which seemed to amuse the soldiers.

"At the camp was begun four days of incessant questioning by an interpreter speaking poor English. In all that time I had no food or water and was kept awake. I was paraded in a rickety truck before soldiers and civilians. My only shelter was a tiny 3 by 5 foot cell crawling with vermin and without cover from the chill night.

"Japanese army officers asked me interminable questions about our fleet and air force. They amazed me too by the abnormal interest in sex. They even wanted names and addresses of easy women in the United States and pressed me for all details of immorality there. I guess I told them some tall tales but they loved it."

Then on the night of Aug. 14, Petersen said, he got one small rice ball, three tiny, hard biscuits and about a half pint of water which he said tasted like a feast.

"I was put aboard a train for a 12 hour ride to Tokyo. Then an amazing thing happened. I was given a seat. Civilians were made to stand and bow to me. I got clothing, food, and water. I just couldn't figure it out," Petersen said.

Mystery Is Solved

"We got to Omori at noon on the 15th. I figured I'd have lots of news for the other Americans there. But when I got in they were eating like kings and some one asked me if I'd heard the war's over. I was flabbergasted, but then the mystery of my good treatment was solved."

Petersen shot down one Jap plane in his brief flying career last July 11 off the Hokkaido coast.

TWO HELD IN LIQUOR ROBBERY

FINDS HONG KONG A LOOTED CITY; JAPS CRINGING

New York, Sept. 4. (AP)—CBS distributed tonight a delayed dispatch from Hong Kong by Correspondent George Moorad in which he described the re-occupied British crown colony as "one of the most thoroly looted cities in the world."

He said the Japanese army, now straggling out of Kowloon, appeared "bewildered, docile and cringing." With no homes in sight for the 15,000 enemy troops in the Hong Kong-Kowloon garrison, they "bid fair to become part of a great nomadic army," Moorad said.

"The formal surrender signing with the British depends largely on when the elusive Jap commander, Lt. Gen. Tanaka, can be found," he said. "In the meantime all Hong Kong island and the Kowloon wharf areas have been cleared, all prisoners of war have been liberated and British and Chinese communities are working desperately to bring order out of chaos.

"It is a city of skeleton-like people, Britons and other Europeans in ragged shirts and sometimes barefoot, while some Chinese are dying of starvation and others are scrambling desperately for foodstuffs left behind by the Japs."

Moorad said looters had reduced universities, public buildings, beautiful homes and large stores to empty shells.

Japan Delays Delivery of Ashes of Its War Dead

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—Delivery of the ashes of Japanese war dead in Tokyo, Yokohama, Chiba and Ibaragi, which had been set for Sept. 7, has been postponed as a "precautionary measure," Tokyo radio said today. The broadcast implied, but did not state, that Japanese authorities feared the delivery of the ashes might lead to trouble between the people and allied occupation forces.

'DEATH RAILWAY' BUILDERS FREED; REACH RANGOON

BY ALFRED WAGG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 4—Prisoners of war who helped build the "death railway" from Bangkok, Thailand, across the upper portion of the Malay isthmus, where thousands of prisoners died in the last three years, arrived here today. A majority of American prisoners, mostly flyers, had been removed to Formosa and French Indo-China.

The Rangoon arrivals told of their slave labor experiences, of being shipped from Singapore crammed like cattle into boxcars, with no sanitation facilities and food for four days. The prisoners, encamped along the gorges between Moulmein and Bangkok, said they were treated like coolies. Even the sick worked 18 hours.

Conditions Get Worse

British Maj. Maurice Dittion said that as the railway building extended into mountainsides and deep jungles, conditions became rapidly worse. He said they were fed one rice cake daily and were forced to collect their own water without chemicals for purification.

The main causes of death, which often struck hundreds daily, the major said, were malaria, dysentery, cholera, black water fever, and typhus brought into the camp by Indians who had been in forced labor elsewhere and had contracted the disease. Twenty thousand southern Indian Tamils were among the largest group of prisoners.

34 of 884 Survive

One Australian said that out of his outfit of 884 men only 34 survived the first 81 miles of the railroad.

British signal corps men made radios out of cereal boxes in order to get news. Also members of Free Thai [Siamese] groups operating inside their country managed to smuggle news to the allied prisoners at four month intervals.

The public relations office said the 8th army would take no notice of Japanese houses of prostitution unless they become centers of disease. Then they will be closed.

SENATE TO GET PEARL HARBOR BILL TOMORROW

Ferguson Ready to Offer Formal Resolution

the call for investigation or court martial proceedings with a denunciation of attempts to whitewash those responsible for Pearl Harbor.

Wants Lid Taken Off

"I implore the administration to cease its cover up activities and allow the lid to be completely taken off the whole stench-ridden bungling mess of December, 1941," Wiley said. "I must respectfully differ with President Truman, who, without his usual good judgment and fairness, has in effect whitewashed our late President and unduly criticized congress and the people.

"We want the Pearl Harbor investigation to be constructive; we want it to enable us to rid ourselves forever of the blind Pearl Harbor mentality. We want to translate the lessons of Pearl Harbor into the new atomic age."

The proposed congressional investigation, it was said, will also seek to establish facts concerning the responsibility of Col. Theodore Wyman Jr., district army engineer at Honolulu from June, 1940, to March, 1942, for unpreparedness at Pearl Harbor.

Wyman Part Suppressed

War Secretary Stimson ordered the entire chapter, relating to Col. Wyman's role, suppressed when the army board's report was made public last week. The chapter was headed "Wyman and construction delays in Hawaii."

The board reported Stimson ordered this section withheld until further reports were received. Members of the military affairs committees of both senate and house were surprised at the order, noting that the house committee in June, 1944, made public a lengthy report detailing Wyman's actions and accusing him of collaboration with a German born contractor in delaying completion of a permanent aircraft warning system.

In August, 1944, it was learned, Robert P. Patterson, as acting secretary of war, called for all the evidence gathered by the house committee and referred it to the army board then conducting the Pearl Harbor inquiry. This evidence was reportedly included in the board's report which was finished in October, 1944, but Secretary Stimson 10 months later ruled the evidence was not yet complete and should not be given to the nation.

Rohl Called Collaborator

Hans Wilhelm Rohl, Los Angeles and San Francisco contractor, who sought naturalization in March, 1941, 28 years after he had come to this country from Germany, was named by the committee as Col. Wyman's collaborator in what proved to be disastrous delay. Wyman and Rohl were frequently companions on wild drinking parties, the report stated.

The army officer "constantly discriminated" in the awarding of defense projects to Rohl's firm, Hawaiian constructors, according to the report, giving it 125 million dollars in contracts over a two year period prior to the Pearl Harbor attack.

Wyman Decorated

Wyman was accused of permitting Rohl to delay completion of the aircraft warning system for more than a year before Dec. 7, 1941, so that it was still uncompleted on the morning of the attack, altho the contract called for its completion by June 1, 1941.

The report expressed amazement that Col. Wyman not only went unreprimanded but was transferred to the "Canol" project in northern Canada in 1942 and was awarded the distinguished service medal for meritorious service during his stay in Hawaii. Committee members expressed the belief this subsequent approval by army authorities of Wyman's actions and the difficulty of explaining such a course of conduct was responsible for Stimson's suppression order.

The prisoners now are believed to be in the vicinity of Mukden.

Filled with Russians

The Russian commandant at Dairen and Capt. Chester C. Wood, 7th fleet task unit commander, are cooperating in the continuing search.

Dairen is filled with blond, stalwart Russians. Parked at strategic points are low, heavy soviet tanks. In the beautiful hill girt harbor bobs a lend-lease seaplane squadron.

Russian officers rode in American staff cars and numerous lend-lease jeeps were evident.

Almost every building flies a red flag. Civilians, including an estimated 60,000 Japanese, produced bolts of red silk which they converted into Russian flags. Both Russian and Chinese government flags flew from Chinese establishments.

Decline Offer to Celebrate

The Tokyo radio already had broadcast accounts of the surrender when the Americans reached Dairen. Many Russians had been celebrating. They waved their bottles, grinned, and asked the Americans to join them. The offer was declined, however, because of the Americans' desire to locate their prisoner comrades without delay.

Many White Russians live in Dairen, but there was no animosity evident between soviet forces and the local Russians—many of whom have been hired as interpreters.

Commercially, Dairen has been a dead city for two years, except for black market activities. Food shortages aggravated its industrial decline. It boasts large dock installations, however, which Russians and Chinese—under their new 30 year friendship treaty, will share.

CHICAGOANS ASK FULL PROBE ON PEARL HARBOR

Complete investigation of the diplomatic and strategic events that preceded the attack on Pearl Harbor is essential if a similar disaster is to be prevented as the starting point of another war, Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond said yesterday.

"America must have the facts so we can learn to correct conditions such as resulted in the death of 3,000 highly trained officers and men at the start of the war," asserted Hammond, who is chairman of the board of the Whiting corporation, Harvey, and deputy chief of the Chicago ordinance district.

He added that THE TRIBUNE is "doing a marvelous job and showing a lot of courage" in publishing the disclosures by John T. Flynn, investigator and publicist. Flynn charged that President Roosevelt was responsible for decreased strength in the Pacific and for the vulnerable position of the fleet at Pearl Harbor.

Sheldon Clark, oil executive and president of the Navy League of the United States, also urged that the full facts of Pearl Harbor be determined in an impartial investigation.

CONDUCTOR'S DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT

A verdict of accident was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday after an inquest into the death of James Gleason, 52, of 2846 Warren av., an elevated train conductor who was killed Saturday when his head struck a platform projection at the Kostner av. station on Lake st.

SURRENDER WITNESS SAYS JAPS MAY NEED 20 YEARS POLICING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Maj. Thomas A. Mesereau, who witnessed the Japanese surrender ceremony, said today that Japan might have to be occupied 20 years if the ways of the people are to be changed.

The former West Point football tackle, who commanded the first battalion landing at Atsugi air field, told a press conference he believed the Japanese adult could not be changed and that the reeducation of the people would have to start with the children.

Mesereau, 23, whose home is in Bergenfield, N. J., arrived yesterday afternoon in Washington after a 32 hour flight in a C-54 transport plane which brought news pictures of the surrender ceremony. Now on leave, Mesereau is commander of the 3d battalion, 188th regiment of the 11th air borne division, which formed the guard of honor and provided escort for Gen. MacArthur on his arrival in Japan.

MRS. LUCE ASKS FULL TRIAL ON PEARL HARBOR

New York, Sept. 4 [Special]—Declaring that Gen. Marshall and "all the other officers accused of bad judgment" in the Pearl Harbor investigation had a right to "clear their names," Rep. Luce [R., Conn.] said today in an interview that she thought courts martial should be held.

"There are a lot of questions about Pearl Harbor that should be cleaned up," she said. One of them, she continued, dealt with "an attempt in political circles to blame the American people who can be blamed only in part for not being better prepared. They certainly cannot be blamed for the destruction of the defenses we had at Pearl Harbor."

Mrs. Luce remarked that "the President of the United States, who is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, had one paramount responsibility, and that was to coördinate the state, army and navy departments and keep those latter two departments advised at all time of any crisis confronting the nation.

"If the President had done this, we would not have had a Pearl Harbor."

BYRNES RAPS ARMY BOARD FOR HULL SLAP

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes today criticized the army's Pearl Harbor inquiry board for its criticism of Former Secretary Hull.

Byrnes told a news conference the army board had gone beyond its jurisdiction in criticizing his predecessor's policy making and execution prior to the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941.

The board held that at a time when the army and navy were seeking more time to prepare, Hull presented the Japanese with a document which they considered an ultimatum. Hull denied it was an ultimatum.

So far as he knew, Byrnes said, this was the first time in the history of the United States when a board of army officers had undertaken to criticize civilian officials of the government.

CAFE OWNER FOUND DEAD IN CAR

James White, 67, owner of a restaurant in Kankakee, was found dead, apparently of a heart attack, yesterday in his automobile in a cornfield east of Kankakee. He had been stricken while driving from his home in Essex, Kankakee county, to his restaurant.

ORDER BANNING JAPS ON WEST COAST REVOKED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—War time orders excluding persons of Japanese ancestry from west coast areas were revoked by the army today, effective at midnight tonight [Pacific war time; 10 p. m. Chicago time].

The action, the war department said, resulted from the capitulation of Japan.

At one time early in the war approximately 110,000 persons of Japanese descent had been evacuated from California, Washington, Oregon, and Arizona.

Few Affected by Action

Mass exclusion, however, was ended in December, 1944, and the restrictions were placed on an individual basis. A spokesman for the war relocation authority said that relatively few were affected by today's action.

At present between 47,000 and 52,000 persons of Japanese ancestry are in eight relocation camps, and a segregation center at Tule Lake, Cal. The group at Tule Lake includes approximately 5,000 to 6,000 Japanese aliens or American citizens who have renounced their citizenship. These are under the supervision of the justice department.

The exclusion orders were revoked by proclamation of War Secretary Stimson and Maj. Gen. H. C. Pratt, commander of the western defense command.

Lifts All Exclusion

Gen. Pratt's proclamation lifted all western defense command exclusion orders still effective and Stimson's rescinded a proclamation designating certain areas in Arkansas, Colorado, and Wyoming as relocation camps and imposing restrictions on movements into and out of the camps.

"All persons permitted to return to the west coast areas by reason of the revocation of individual exclusion orders should be accorded the same treatment and allowed to enjoy the same privileges accorded other law abiding American citizens or residents," Gen. Pratt's proclamation said.

The revocation will not affect prosecution of any persons previously charged with violating the exclusion orders, the proclamation stated.

45,000 to Resettle

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—Approximately 45,000 Japanese-Americans will resettle on the Pacific coast as compared with 110,000 before the war, R. B. Cozzens, assistant director of the war relocation authority, said today.

Revocation of the exclusion order, announced today by the war department, will not affect WRA activities, Cozzens said. "WRA will assist in finding homes and employment for the 45,000 Japanese-Americans still in the centers."

Nearly 12,000 Japanese-Americans have already resettled on the west coast, Cozzens said.

NEW U.S. POCKET BATTLESHIP 'GOT' JAP SUICIDIST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—In her first encounter with enemy opposition, the 30,000 ton battle cruiser Alaska shot out of the air a Japanese suicide plane diving on a large American carrier.

Altho the Alaska—first of three ships of her class to join the fleet—participated in the carrier strikes against Tokyo last February, it was not until a month later that she met enemy opposition. She was one of several heavy units protecting carriers during strikes by task force 58 preliminary to the Okinawa invasion when she shot down the suicide plane on March 18.

The Alaska, the United States navy's version of the German pocket battleship, was commissioned June 17, 1944. Other ships of the class are the Guam, also with the fleet, and the Hawaii, now nearing completion. Their length of over 800 feet is exceeded only by the 45,000 ton Iowa class battleships and Essex class carriers.

West Point Man Who Aided Japs Gives Up

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 4—Brig. Gen. Matteo Capinpin, Filipino born American graduate of West Point and one of the defenders of Japan, has been located in Tokyo. "I have come in to be hanged," said Capinpin when he was discovered having lunch in the Imperial hotel.

JAP-AMERICANS SENT TO CHICAGO -MAKING GOOD

10,000 Prove They're Good Citizens

Approximately 10,000 persons of Japanese ancestry—75 per cent of them American citizens—have been assimilated into the life of Chicagoland in two years and are now doing everything from operating a kosher restaurant to making watches and working at mechanical dentistry.

In return, according to W. W. Lessing, government district relocation officer, they have proved themselves hard-working, reliable, and good citizens. Lessing said complaints have been few. One raucous objection came from fellow workers who protested the Nisei [Jap-Americans] work too fast. Only 600 have asked permission to return to their pre-war west coast homes.

Accepted by 19 Unions

They have been accepted in 2,000 firms, and at least 19 Chicago unions, and have been employed in leading Chicago hotels, homes, and on neighboring farms. Others have gone into or are operating watch repair shops, restaurants, beauty parlors, fish markets, hotels, and boarding houses.

"Chicago deserves a pat on the back for demonstrating its democracy by accepting the Nisei with little opposition during war days," said Lessing.

Hiroshi Shibata, employed in the relocation office since his hearing was damaged in the service, echoed Lessing's statement and said Japanese-Americans have opportunities in professions such as engineering, the law, and teaching, that were denied to them on the coast.

Checked Anti-Jap Feeling

The relocation project began two and one-half years ago. Lessing was given the job in this district of finding the Nisei jobs and a place to live. He toured the district and found where his charges would be acceptable.

More important, he went to the leaders of the communities concerned to discover whether there would be local feeling against the Japanese-American job holder. He said he operated on the assumption the Nisei would not want to go where they were not wanted.

5,000,000 Lost Tons of Ships Cost War, Says Japs

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Sept. 4 (AP)—Japan lost more than 5,000,000 tons of shipping during the war and this "decisive defeat" in sea borne supply warfare was a major factor in her total defeat, the Nippon Times reported today. Japan's present shipping tonnage totals 285,000 tons, comprising 747 vessels over 100 tons and including all vessels under repair or stranded at sea.

Russia Dissolves State Committee for Defense

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight the soviet state committee for defense, set up to direct Russia's war effort, has been dissolved and the committee's functions will be taken over by the council of the people's commissars.

Japs Put in a Bid for American Tourist Trade

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—Japan put in a plug for tourist trade today. The Domei agency said the country was "endowed with the natural conditions for the tourist industry." It added that everything was being done to give international tourists first rate hotels, meals, and souvenirs.

THREE TOKYO RAIDERS FIND U.S. 'LOOKS GOOD'

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Three drawn and weary men who took part in the Jimmy Doolittle bombing of Tokyo stepped on United States soil today for the first time in 41 months.

"This is the first piece of the United States I've seen since the deck of the carrier Hornet," said Lt. Chase J. Nielsen of Hyrum, Utah, as he left an army transport plane at National airport. "It looks might good." The Hornet was the carrier from which the men took off to bomb Tokyo.

Equally happy were Lt. Robert L. Hite of Earth, Tex., and Staff Sgt. Jacob D. Deshazer of Salem, Ore. The three, rescued two weeks ago from a Japanese prison camp near Peiping, were flown here from Karachi, India. They arrived shortly after midnight.

Lt. George Barr of Milwaukee, Wis., another Tokyo raider rescued with them, was left behind in Peking, China, for medical treatment. He is suffering from beri-beri.

CANADA CENSORS PROSECUTE FOUR PAPERS IN WAR

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 4 (AP)—Censorship officials said today that four of approximately 100 daily newspapers published in Canada were prosecuted during the war for breaches of censorship or Canadian defense regulations. They were the Vancouver Sun and Ottawa Le Droit, fined $300 each; Quebec Le Soleil, fined $50 for premature publication of a ship sinking and the Ottawa Citizen, acquitted on a charge that arose from an editorial.

Publication of 11 weekly and monthly foreign language publications was banned, in most cases for the carrying of what was termed communistic propaganda before Russia entered the war. The Canadian Tribune, Toronto weekly, was suspended for three issues for carrying communistic propaganda, the officials said.

The charge against the Vancouver Sun came after a series of articles claimed weaknesses existed in west coast defenses following Japan's entry into the war.

An editorial criticizing the allies for bombing Paris led to the charge against Le Droit.

The charge against the Citizen was made early in the war when it published an editorial which said that soldiers who had learned how to use machine-guns would know how to use the guns on politicians when the veterans returned home if proper treatment was not accorded them.

ANOTHER WAR BRIDE FINDS SHE HAS 2 HUSBANDS

Girl Asks Annulment

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Ann Birdwell-Marshall, 19, of Kansas City, today filed suit for annulment of her marriage to Jack Marshall, 33, a Wichita mechanic and an uncle of her first husband, whom she married in the belief that Birdwell was dead. Sgt. Gean D. Birdwell, 21, reported killed in action over Burma, was rescued from a Jap prison camp at Yokohama.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Laurie Cales Bernstein, who married an army lieutenant last July after having been advised in May that her first husband, Lt. James Cales, a navy flyer, was killed in action, learned today that Cales has been found safe in a Japanese prison camp.

Lt. James Cales

She married Lt. Ethan Bernstein, a wounded veteran of the European war, on July 9. Cales' name appeared yesterday on a list of men liberated by a special mission of the 3d fleet. Relatives notified her in southern California, where she was vacationing. They had been married a year before he entered the navy.

Visibly upset, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allaway, said they didn't know their daughter's plans.

Cales was reported missing on Sept. 1, 1944. On May 7, this year, the navy reported him killed in action.

She has a 6 month old son, James Cales Jr., whom the flyer has never seen.

Lt. Bernstein, wounded at St. Lo, still receives hospital treatment.

Another Bride Worried

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Keiser of Williamsport was worried today. After her first husband, Sgt. Earl Smith of Montgomery, Pa., had been reported missing May 25, 1944, in China, and declared dead by the war department last May 26, she married Pvt. Hoyt H. Keiser July 30. Last night friends heard a short wave broadcast from the Pacific in which an Earl Smith of Montgomery was introduced.

"I hope my brother Carl is listening," they quoted him as saying. "Say hello to Dick."

The Keisers' 7 year old son, Richard, entered school today. Carl is the name of Earl Smith's brother.

[At Camp Cooke, Cal., Pvt. Keiser, informed that his wife's first husband may be alive, said he would get in touch with Mrs. Keiser immediately, but that the decision was hers as to what she would do. "Naturally, I have a preference about it, but I'm not saying anything about that," he added.]

HITS EXCLUSION OF FILIPINOS AT SURRENDER RITE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines to the United States, today in a statement raised the question of why the Philippines were not permitted the same participation in the Japanese surrender ceremonies as the other Pacific allies. He said in a statement that he did not begrudge the participation of such countries as Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and France in the surrender signing ceremonies aboard the battleship Missouri, but that 18 million Filipinos want to know why the Philippines were not given the same privilege.

CONGRESS BACK TODAY, FACING MASS OF WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4—The first peace time session of congress in four years opens tomorrow with monumental tasks facing the legislators.

While the need for a Pearl Harbor investigation was uppermost in conversation of returning congressmen, the necessity of charting a reconversion plan ranked a close second. All the backed up problems of the sudden peace must be tackled.

The White House has labeled as "must" legislation two measures aimed at post-war employment. These the Murray full employment bill and a measure to reorder unemployment compensation features of the social security act to provide for maximum benefits of $25 a week over a period of 26 weeks.

Also on the legislative calendar are problems relating to surplus property disposal, tax reductions, government reorganization, and the dismantling of temporary war agencies.

NAME ATCHESON POLITICAL AID TO MacARTHUR

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—George Atcheson Jr., 48, career diplomat, with nearly 25 years of service in the far east, will be acting political adviser to Gen. MacArthur in Japan, State Secretary Byrnes announced today.

In telling his news conference of the Atcheson appointment, Byrnes said the diplomat had been recently named United States minister to Thailand. After the conference, it developed that there had been no announcement of the latter appointment at the White House to date.

A native of Denver, Colo., Atcheson entered the diplomatic service as a translater in the consulate at Pekin in 1920 and has served in the far east most of the time since. He was counselor of the American embassy at Chungking from 1941 until last spring.

TOWN CHIPS IN TO HELP A BOY RECOVER SIGHT

Brighton, Ill., Sept. 4 [Special]—There is only one general topic of conversation today in this village of 697 persons—the eyesight of Bobbie Watson, 7.

Restoration of that eyesight, which was snuffed out in May, 1944, when Bobbie knocked over a can of lye and some of the lye splashed into his eyes, has become a matter of deep community concern. The villagers have dug into their pockets to make up a pot so Bobbie could go to New York for a series of operations by a world famous specialist in cornea grafting.

Bobbie is in New York now with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Watson, both 27. The Watsons rent a 120 acre farm 6 miles northwest of the village. Neighbors are doing the chores while the parents are away.

First Operation Completed

Word was received today that the first of what is expected to be four operations has been performed, and that Bobbie is doing well in the eye institute at the Columbia-Presbyterian medical center. This first operation was for the removal of scar tissue from the right eye, which had caused the lid to adhere to the globe.

After a similar operation on the left eye, the eyes will be ready for an attempt at the grafting of new corneas—a rare and delicate operation involving the transplanting of corneas secured, in most cases, from the eyes of stillborn babies.

Dr. Raymon Castroviejo of New York performed the operation and will perform the others.

Neighbors Chip In

Their funds depleted by what they had already done locally and in Chicago in obtaining treatment for the boy, the Watsons were worried for a time about the prospective New York trip. At this point their neighbors of Brighton stepped in. Several women toook it upon themselves to go from house to house asking contributions toward a fund to send Bobbie to New York. Money came in—in amounts as high as $50, as low as $1. By last month there was $700 in the pot.

In New York, the Watsons are the guests of the Church of Christ at 48 E. 80th st. The church offered them the hospitality of its dormitory, above the meeting rooms, when the minister, the Rev. E. C. Couch Jr., learned of the reason for their trip.

BRITAIN BEGINS MIDEAST TALKS; CALLS ENVOYS

Studies Egypt's Demand for Troops' Ouster

BY WILLIAM FULTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 4—With Egyptian demands for the withdrawal of British troops spotlighting proceedings, the British foreign office has begun consultations on future policy in the middle east. Foreign Secretary Bevin has summoned British diplomats from Egypt, Tehran, Beirut, Jedda, and Bagdad.

Nokrashy Pasha, Egyptian prime minister, recently asked the Egyptian senate for authority to negotiate revision of its British alliance. Signed in 1936, the treaty provided for British military occupation of Egypt, recognized special British interest in the defense of the Suez canal zone, and confirmed an earlier agreement on the administration of the Sudan. Nokrashy Pasha told the senate the presence of foreign troops "imposed restrictions upon Egypt's independence."

Arrive from Egypt

Miles W. Lampson, British ambassador to Egypt, and Walter Smart, oriental secretary of the British embassy in Cairo, have arrived for a conference with Bevin. Arabic press dispatches said Lampson has been officially notified of Egypt's desire for treaty modifications.

The British have many ticklish problems in their position with countries of the middle east, notably those connected with relations with Arabs and Jews and the future handling of the rich oil reserves in the area.

Expect British Trade Drive

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 4—Commercial circles here think that Britain, stimulated by the ending of lend-lease, will conduct a full scale export offensive in the middle east and that it is with this in view that Foreign Minister Bevin is seeking the comprehensive picture which Ambassador Lampson and Walter Smart, oriental counselor in the British embassy here, together with chiefs of diplomatic missions to other middle eastern countries, can give him.

Many problems remain to be solved before the tranquility necessary for future trade can be obtained. The first among them is Palestine. A settlement there appears distant and Jews and Arabs seem mutually suspicious of one or the other's gaining commercial ascendency. There is also the economic development of solely Arab states wherein oil is bound to play a big part.

The value of the Arab league as a possible stabilizing force will be examined. A final settlement of the Levant states' status and Egypt's recently insistent proposals for a treaty revision remain outstanding. In Iran [Persia] there continues some concern over a withdrawal of allied troops. This is complicated by apprehension reported from Tehran lest the Russian forces consider their mission uncompleted.

Mideast Parley Near

JERUSALEM, Sept. 4 (AP)—Oil and mineral concessions in Palestine and Transjordan may be a topic at an imminent conference of Moslem leaders and consuls of Arab states with Emir Abdullah, ruler of Transjordan. Abdullah was expected to arrive here today.

ITALIAN PEACE PACT EXPECTED WITHIN 60 DAYS

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP)—The allies tonight appeared ready to conclude a peace treaty with Italy within 60 days. Foreign office circles predicted, however, that treaties with Hungary, Romania, Finland, and Bulgaria would be "considerably delayed," because of unsettled conditions in those countries.

The Big Five foreign ministers' council, which will hold its first session here on Sept. 10, was expected to put the Italian peace on top of its agenda. The Big Three agreed at Potsdam that Italy now was in position to join the united nations and said a peace treaty should be effected as soon as possible.

Failure of the Balkan nations to establish representative governments was believed likely to prevent the foreign ministers from considering treaties for them at this session.

GERMAN DEVICE MAY BE USED TO REBUILD BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 4—Delicate map making instruments seized from the Germans after their surrender may be used in the task of rebuilding Britain, the air ministry said tonight. Instruments known as stereoplanagraphs were used by the German air force and were hidden in a mining engineering college in the Hartz mountains. A British staff officer indicated they would play a big part in post-war town and country planning. "Parts of the United Kingdom could be photographed from the air and the stereoplanagraph would produce an accurate map from the photographs," he said.

YANK BAYONETS TO PUT GERMANS IN MINES: WERTS

Men Needed in Pits, He Asserts

BY HENRY WALES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Sept. 4—American bayonets will force German miners, who are seeking to escape from coal pits as farm hands, back to the Ruhr and Silesia under British and Russian occupation, said Leo R. Werts, former director of the Illinois state employment service and now United States representative of the man power allocation branch of the four power committee on labor supply.

"Many persons dislike coal mining and numerous Germans left their jobs in Germany's coal fields and settled on the land," said Werts. "German authorities are investigating the employment cards of these men and we intend to send spotters to the farms to discover miners and send them back to the pits. If they refuse to go the American army will use force to make them as coal extraction is the principal factor in rehabilitating Germany."

Finance Chief Difficulty

Werts said that the four power committee was examining the question of evacuating perhaps half the present 3,000,000 population in Berlin and scattering the people over Germany. The post-war capital will not be able to support the pre-war population of 4,000,000, it was said, because the government will be decentralized and all industry which could be used for war production is suppressed.

"Financing is the principal difficulty in rebuilding shattered Germany," said Werts.

He said the allied policy prohibiting any German who was ever affiliated with the Nazis from holding any office or post is resulting in inefficient administration. He said practically all capable Germans played ball with the nazi party regardless of their sympathies. However, he said he expects that training will produce a new crop of able key men.

Reorganization Delayed

Werts explained how various interlocking factors are delaying the reorganization of Germany. He said allied policy must eventually decide what industries and how many industrial units will be permitted to function, and the reparations commission must reach a decision on the indemnity the reich must pay.

He expects 50 per cent of the metallurgical and chemical industry will be dissolved forever. He hinted that former Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's plan to make Germans farmers has not been abandoned. He said a committee is now investigating how large a percentage can be moved into agriculture.

Werts' family resides at 5707 Blackstone av., Chicago.

U.S. and Canada Allied in Post-War Era: La Guardia

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 4 (AP)—Mayor La Guardia of New York said today that Canada and the United States will stand firmly together on post-war defense matters. "Anybody that goes after Canada goes after the United States, and anybody going after the United States goes after Canada," the mayor said. Chairman of the American section of the Canada-United States permanent joint board on defense, he spoke following the opening session of a two day meeting which marked the board's first peace time assembly.

QUISLING BEGINS DEFENSE OF NAZI DEALINGS TODAY

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 4—The treason trial of Vidkun Quisling is to be resumed tomorrow morning. The accused is expected to defend his collaboration with the Nazis on the grounds that he was protecting his country from England and Russia.

Quisling, minister president of Norway during the German occupation, also has technical pleas. He contends that the decrees of King Haakon and the government in exile in London were unconstitutional. He contends that those who fled the country with the entrance of the Nazis five years ago lost all authority.

Quisling is being tried under Norwegian law but with variations introduced by war time decrees by the government in exile. These variations, according to the defendant, nullify the validity of the entire proceedings.

Death Penalty Is New

The main war time change was the introduction of the death penalty for treason. The prosecution in its summation on Friday pointed out that the Supreme court sustained the constitutionality of this and other war time modifications when it approved the death sentence for Raidar Haaland, a 20 year old spy and torturer for the Gestapo, who died before a firing squad here three weeks ago.

The charges against Quisling ran from civil and military treason to larceny. The counts are brought under the pre-war Norwegian law as well as under the war time decrees. The war time decrees are not retroactive but the prosecution has introduced evidence indicating that Quisling's relations with Hitler, independent of the Norwegian government, started before the invasion and continued thru the effective date of the London decrees.

Judge Questions Defendant

Some aspects of the trial have been strange to American reporters but are in accordance with Norwegian custom. Presiding Judge Erik Solem questioned the defendant whenever he wished, during the preliminary statement of the prosecutor and during testimony of state witnesses. The attorney general's treatise pointed out that in Norway a judge's impartiality does not require him to be passive but on the contrary he is obligated to search for pertinent facts.

American correspondents also were nonplussed to find that all documentary evidence of the prosecution and of the defense was submitted to the court and made public before the court convened. Norwegian law requires that opposing sides in the trial receive advance copies of evidence. The rule also requires submission of names of all witnesses with statements of their probable testimony. This bars surprise evidence and surprise witnesses.

3,000 CANADIAN ARMY TRUCKS SOLD TO UNRRA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 4—The Canadian War Assets corporation has sold 3,000 surplus Canadian army trucks to the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, it was announced today. The trucks will be used in Czechoslovakia and Poland. Further purchases of unwanted army vehicles by UNRRA are anticipated.

Surplus new and old clothes sent to Britain by American, Canadian, and South American relief organizations and no longer needed for bombed out Britons have been turned over to the American Red Cross for distribution in European countries, including Germany. Two large consignments of clothes and blankets have been sent to UNRRA for France. Norway already has received 100,000 garments and more are on the way.

Since Christmas, 1939, 20,345,731 garments arrived in Britain from the American Red Cross and other relief organizations. In 1942, 200,000 garments were sent to Malta and early this year large shipments went to the Channel Islands.

MILITARY COURT FOR WAR TRIALS IS OPPOSED HERE

Bar Group Is 7 to 4 Against Tribunal

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Distinguished Chicago experts on constitutional and international law voted almost 2 to 1 against the four power military tribunal scheduled to sit in judgment on the nazi war criminals and they will so report to the Chicago Bar association board of managers tomorrow, it was learned yesterday. The men and women lawyers who cast ballots on the proposition comprise the association's committee on international and comparative law.

The consensus was that the offenders, many of whom may face the firing squad or the gallows, should be tried under existing laws. In the meetings which led to the vote opinions were expressed that the tribunal as now set up is based on ex post facto legislation.

Vote on Two Questions

The report to be made by the committee this noon will say that after much discussion the members —14 being present—balloted on two questions:

1. Is the making of aggressive war something which was recognized in 1939 as a punishable international crime?

2. Should this offense be prosecuted before a military tribunal?

Results of the balloting were: On question 1—yes, 11; no, 2; not voting, 1. On question 2—yes, 4; no, 7; not voting, 3.

The report also will state that Charles P. Megan, chairman of the committee, did not vote but had it noted that he would be inclined to vote "yes" on question 1 and "no" on question 2. United States Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson proposes to try the war criminals before a military court—a proposal made to President Truman last June 8, which was carried out when the United States, the United Kingdom, Russia, and France signed the trial agreement in London Aug. 8.

Plan Submitted by Jackson

Justice Jackson's report to the President June 8 said he had proposed more than a month earlier to the other powers a specific plan for these governments to join in establishing an international military tribunal and in defining the powers and jurisdiction of the tribunal, in naming the categories of acts declared to be crimes and describing those individuals and organizations to be placed on trial.

Brig. Gen. Nathan William MacChesney, judge advocate on Gen. Pershing's staff in France during World War I., is the board of managers' member of the committee on international and comparative law.

Serving with Chairman Megan, a former president of the bar association, are Charles O. Loucks, vice chairman; Katherine Agar, Ernest S. Ballard, George K. Bowden, Edwin H. Cassells, Helen Cerise, Herbert Cornell De Young, Walter T. Fisher, Henry A. Gardner, H. M. Gottlieb, Leon Green, Tappan Gregory, Wayne H. King Jr., William KixMiller, Herbert M. Lautmann, John J. Lupe, John V. McCormick, Adlai Stevenson, Silas H. Strawn, Edgar B. Tolman, Deneen Watson, Benjamin Wham, and J. Frank Damann, president of the association.

REQUEST SPAIN TO PULL TROOPS OUT OF TANGIER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4. (AP)—Franco Spain has been asked to withdraw her troops from strategic Tangier but will share top representation with France in a new international governing body. The United States, Britain and Russia also will be represented.

Tangier sits in the African coast at the western end of the Strait of Gibraltar. An invitation to the United States and Russia to participate in the government of an international zone at Tangier gives them their first peace time position in the Mediterranean.

5 Spanish Seats

Qualified authorities disclosed today that this will be the pattern for Tangier's government, as determined by American, British, French and Russian experts who met last month in Paris:

Spain and France each will have four representatives on a legislative assembly and one each on a control commission. Britain, Russia and the United States will have three each on the assembly. It isn't clear yet what voice they will have on the commission.

The strong position allotted Spain gave diplomats something to talk about. Because of its axis-supported origin and its conduct during the war, President Truman, Prime Minister Sattlee and Premier Stalin took a stern stand at Potsdam against letting the Franco government join the united nations.

Awaits Full Approval

Tangier used to be under international control but Franco shoved out the international regime in 1940 and took over for Spain alone.

A long bulletin, issued here at the state department, as well as in Paris, London and Moscow, disclosed the plan for Tangier. The arrangement must be approved by the five governments concerned. The plan would:

1. Reëstablish the sovereign rights of the sultan of Morocco in the Tangier zone.

2. Provide for a formal international agreement later for governing the zone.

Permits More Changes

3. Permit eventual consideration of changes in the Tangier statute, which created the original international zone in 1923.

The Big Four governments will give the Tangier administration "all appropriate assistance to assure provisioning of the zone."

Italy, which was granted three assembly representatives in 1928, probably will not be represented in the new regime.

BURGLARS TAKE $1,858 IN APPAREL

Burglars, who smashed the glass in the front door of a shop of the Gaytime Frocks, Inc., at 4834 Irving Park road, took $1,858 worth of apparel, the manager, Albert Jefferson, told police yesterday.

9,000 CHILDREN LEFT TO NORWAY BY NAZI TROOPS

OSLO, Norway, Sept 4 [Reuters]—Germany deliberately encouraged its soldiers to have children by Norwegian girls and now Norway must care for 9,000 illegitimates whose fathers are German, Dr. Sven Oftedal, minister of social affairs, has announced.

Norwegian wives of German soldiers are being sent with their husbands to Germany, he said, but unwed mothers will be Norway's responsibility.

Summarizing results of the five-year German occupation, Oftedal said repairs to damaged private property alone would cost $200,000,000 while maintenance of the thousands of Quislings now in jail would cost $6,000,000 yearly. Norway's food situation was improving, he said, but 70,000 to 80,000 houses were needed, requiring a $40,000,000 expenditure.

WEALTHY BRITON FLAYS BRETTON WOODS SCHEME

HACKNEY, England, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Bretton Woods plan was described today by Herbrand Arthur Russell, known as the duke of Bedford, one of Britain's wealthiest men, as "a most impudent attempt by the worst type of Wall street financier to secure financial domination of the world."

Author of "Poverty and Taxation," Russell declared in a Rotary club speech that "the financiers who hatched this scheme suggested the establishment of a gang of their own representatives who would be above every government of the world, including our own."

Asserting that Britain should not accept a loan from the United States, he said that if the British government "were enlightened it would first of all reform our monetary system and then set about seeing what could be done with other countries so as to avoid this financial noose."

He added that Britain "should put it to the Americans in a frank and friendly way that if they, too, only reformed their financial system they would become more prosperous than they had ever been in the past."

BULLETS PROVE 3D PERSON SLEW TWO DETECTIVES

Victim's $3,032 Tends to Back Holdup Theory

Police yesterday pushed their search for the black gloved gunman who killed Detectives George H. Hellstern and Charles A. Brady at Clark st. and Lunt av. Sunday night as ballistics data disclosed at the inquest established that the bullets which killed them bore no resemblance to the bullets fired from the detectives' guns.

At the request of Capt. Michael Ahern of the Rogers Park station, to which both detectives were attached, Coroner Brodie continued the inquest to Sept. 25 in the Town Hall police station.

Capt. Ahern admitted that he does not believe any of three persons still held in connection with the double killing is the actual slayer. None was identified at a showup last night.

Peoria police last night were holding a suspect who has an artificial left hand, over which he wears a black glove. He said he arrived in Peoria Sunday. He formerly lived in a hotel at Halsted st. and Jackson blvd., he said.

Robbery Motive Studied

Capt. John L. Sullivan of the Summerdale station detailed two men to Hope hall, 6036 Ravenswood av., formerly operated as a home for paroled convicts, first by the Volunteers of America and later by the state.

The place was abandoned by the state in 1937. Capt. Sullivan said he had received information that it is operating again. When his men arrived, he said, they found no one in the house, but were ordered to remain there.

Speculation developed that the slayings may have been the result of a robbery attempt. Friends of Hellstern, in whose pockets $3,032 in bills was found, said he sometimes displayed his money. It was suggested that a robber may have sought to waylay him, unaware that Hellstern and Brady were policemen.

Ballistics Report Submitted

Information on the ballistics tests made by the police crime laboratory was presented by Capt. Ahern. He said the bullets taken from the bodies of the slain detectives were of a .38 special caliber, probably from a Smith and Wesson revolver, and that neither of the two bullets was from the revolver of either policeman.

Explaining why the bullet that killed Brady struck him at the base of the spine, Capt. Ahern said that Brady apparently was walking a short distance ahead of Hellstern and near the curb, so that he would have been facing away from the slayer when the shooting started. The bullet traveled upward and lodged in the left side of the chest.

U. S. AND COUNTY BEGIN SESSIONS OF GRAND JURIES

A federal grand jury of 14 women and nine men and a county grand jury of 14 men and nine women were sworn for September yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan and Chief Justice Harold G. Ward of Criminal court, respectively.

Judge Ward was reëlected unanimously to his second term as chief justice by his associates, Judges Julius H. Miner, William J. Lindsay, Leonard Reid and Charles Byrne. He is the first judge to preside over Criminal court two successive years.

Saul G. Roman of 7025 Cregier av., a secretary employed by the Chicago Mail Order company, was appointed foreman of the federal grand jury. Lester C. Cooley of 3522 W. 58th pl., a Commonwealth Edison company engineer, was chosen foreman of the county grand jury. Ira H. Latimer, executive director of the Chicago Civil Liberties committee, was excused from federal jury service on his plea that the committee is busy supporting enactment of full employment legislation.

BYRNES FAVORS CONTINUANCE OF U. S. SPY GROUP

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes today advocated that the United States have a unified intelligence corps in the post-war period.

He told a news conference, in answer to questions, that he believed the office of strategic services might be kept as the civilian branch of such an organization, along with the regular intelligence service of the army and navy.

The OSS, along with various other war agencies, is scheduled to expire by the end of the year. Its continuation would be up to congress.

The OSS was set up for two purposes—to gather its own information and to coördinate information from other agencies into composite reports, which then were turned over to the joint chiefs of staff at Washington or to commanders in the field.

BROWNLEE, OPA DEPUTY, QUITS; WILL TAKE REST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—The resignation of James F. Brownlee as deputy administrator of the office of price administration "on doctors' orders" was announced tonight by Administrator Bowles.

Bowles said that after several months of rest, Brownlee will rejoin the OPA staff as a special adviser.

Bowles named Jerome M. Ney of Fort Smith, Ark., now director of the consumer goods price division, to succeed Brownlee. Geoffrey Baker of Westport, Conn., director of the food price division, becomes associate deputy administrator for prices.

LEGION MEDAL AWARDED NIMITZ AND EISENHOWER

Gen. Eisenhower, Adm. Nimitz, and War Secretary Stimson have been awarded the American Legion distinguished service medal, it was announced yesterday, and will be invited to the national convention here, Nov. 18 to 20, to receive the honor.

Posthumous award of the medal was made to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., and War Correspondent Ernie Pyle. A member of each family is expected to be present to accept the medal. President Truman will attend and address the meeting, barring unforeseen developments.

Convention committee chairman Philip Collins said: "The Legion will not be responsible for others than the 2,000 Legion and 1,100 auxiliary delegates. Others will have to make their own housing arrangements."

COURT TO RULE ON McKAY PLEA TO DELAY TRIAL

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 4 [Special]—The Michigan Supreme court is expected to decide tomorrow whether the trial of Frank D. McKay, wealthy Grand Rapids politician, and four co-defendants charged with liquor graft conspiracy will start immediately in Ingham county Circuit court as scheduled, or will be delayed by a stay pending decision on a defense petition for a writ of mandamus.

Joseph W. Planck, Lansing attorney, filed a petition with the state supreme court today, seeking the order postponing trial and requesting that a mandamus writ be issued requiring Judge Leland W. Carr, Ingham county jurist, who indicted the defendants as a one-man grand jury, to show cause why a series of orders denying defense motions should not be set aside.

FILES FEDERAL TAX NOTICE ON ESTATE OF F. D. R.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Sept. 4—Earle R. Koons, attorney for the Franklin D. Roosevelt estate, announced today that a preliminary notice had been filed with the collector of internal revenue at Albany, N. Y., in compliance with federal law on estate taxes. No tax payments were made, however, and several more months will be required to complete an inventory, he said.

The one page document put the government on notice that a taxable estate was in process of settlement, but gave no hint of its size. The late President left an estate of about two million dollars, according to authoritative estimates elsewhere, about half of this having been inherited from his mother.

Value of Stamps Unknown

Koons denied published reports that the famous Roosevelt stamp collection was worth another million dollars, but said its exact value would not be determined until a group of experts appointed by the estate had completed an inventory.

The stamps and most of the other Roosevelt documents have been shipped from the White House to the family home at Hyde Park, N. Y., where the government will create a national historic monument as soon as appropriations are made.

Something on the nature of the memorial or memorials to be created there for the late President may be decided tomorrow at a meeting in the White House of the Roosevelt memorial committee of 60 named soon after the President's death last April, Koons said. President Truman will preside as honorary chairman and permanent committee officers are expected to be appointed.

To Renounce Rights

Within a week, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and other members of the family are expected formally to renounce their rights to occupancy of the Hyde Park mansion, the attorney said. Under terms of Mr. Roosevelt's will, the home and 33 adjoining acres then will go to the government and the property removed from the tax rolls.

Another document is expected to be filed at Poughkeepsie on or before Oct. 12 preparatory to payment of the New York estate tax, but Koons said that neither will this disclose the size of the estate. The executors will probably not be able to file and accounting before next March, he said.

Marines Reopen Ranks; Enlisting Men 17 to 25

Col. Chester L. Fordney, chief of the marine corps central procurement division, announced yesterday the resumption of enlistment of men 17 to 25 years old and of men between 26 and 32 who have had previous military experience. Discharged marines may reënlist within 90 days without losing their rating, and will be given 90 day furloughs before being called to active duty.

NAVY RULES BAR PROMOTION PAY TO PRISONERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—The navy and marine corps have a rule that a promoted officer can't get a pay raise until he "accepts" the promotion and takes a physical examination.

For example, James P. S. Devereux: He was in charge of the marines defending on Wake Island. After he was captured, he was promoted from major to lieutenant colonel.

But he wasn't able to "accept" the honor. Officers explained today his pay raise can't start until he returns and "qualifies." He's entitled to back pay as a major, but not as a lieutenant colonel.

Devereux hasn't yet been definitely located in the Japanese prison camps.

Chairman Vinson [D.-Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee, promised "an inquiry to protect men whose health, due to imprisonment, would not enable them to pass a physical examination.

THE ACTUAL CURE FOR STRIFE

THE SCIENTIFIC remedy for conflict, in industry and elsewhere, is brought to light and continually demonstrated in Christian Science.

It is the understanding (1) that in any situation what is good for one must be good for all, and (2) that what is good for all is always in their reach—understanding which rests on the basic fact in Science that authentic good is by its very nature impartial and universally available.

If a proposed course of action promises benefits for some but is not good for all, Christian Science leaves no doubt whatsoever that a program far better for even the apparently favored ones is available. If individuals, blocs, or nations have an apparent opportunity for profit through injustice to others, they can do far better for themselves, to say nothing of the others, through action in the interest of all.

This, Christian Science makes plain, is the great practical truth underlying the teaching, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its method of healing strife, disease, and other evils is given in

DEMOCRATS WIN 2 WARDS; FACE RUNOFF IN 36TH

Ringa to Oppose Garippo in Oct. 2 Decision

Candidates backed by the regular Democratic organizations won overwhelming victories in a show of party strength yesterday in the 31st and 50th ward aldermanic elections. In the 31st ward the Republicans had not put up a candidate.

In the 36th ward, however, Frank R. Ringa, Republican, a former alderman, making a comeback attempt after an absence from the council since 1931, got enough votes to prevent Louis P. Garippo, the candidate of the ward Democratic machine, from obtaining a clear cut victory. The two will be rematched in a runoff election set for Oct. 2. Four other candidates dropped out as a result of the vote.

Ringa Polls 6,294 Votes

The final tally of the vote in this ward was Ringa, 6,294; Garippo, 7,389; Anthony P. Ross Jr., 985; William P. Wollpert, 389; Alex Noto, 292, and Frank A. Podraza, 747.

The winner in the 50th ward was Jerome Huppert, candidate of the ward's Democrats. The final count was Huppert, 11,159 votes, and Jens M. Jensen, Republican, 7,131.

In the 31st ward State Sen. Thomas E. Keane overwhelmed his two opponents, who ran without any organization backing. The final count was Keane, 11,629; Joseph A. Ciaciura, 1,249, and Peter

J. Sklodowski, 1,432. Sklodowski's small vote was a surprise. He is a member of the CIO United Auto Workers union and his candidacy had the approval if not the active support of the CIO political action committee.

Succeeds Father in Post

Keane, 42, of 1049 N. Sacramento av., now is a state senator and a master in chancery. He succeeds his late father, Ald. Thomas P. Keane, who represented the ward in the city council from 1931 until his death two months ago.

Huppert, the winner in the 50th ward, is a comparative newcomer to politics. He is 39 and lives with his wife and three children at 1937 Farwell av. For the last few years he has been employed as an auditor by the Chicago park district.

KARBER QUITS AS CLIPPINGER'S CONGRESS FOE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4 (AP)—James W. Karber of Ridgway, former Saline county state's attorney, today withdrew as Democratic candidate in the 24th congressional district race.

His withdrawal left unopposed the candidacy of Roy Clippinger, Carmi weekly newspaper publisher, who won the Republican nomination in the special primary July 21. Karber was the Democratic write-in candidate.

HOARDED ARMS TO TRAIN MEN, COURT IS TOLD

Naval Officer Has an Arsenal of Own

New York, Sept. 4 [Special]—Whether 180 weapons of war stolen from a base in North Africa were destined for a naval officer's private collection or whether they were to be used to equip navy men was the question laid before a naval court martial today involving Lt. Comdr. Equen B. Meader, executive officer of the naval depot at Mers-El-Kebir, Algeria.

Witnesses appearing before the court in today's session said that Meader was dissatisfied with the equipment the navy provided him at the Algerian station and decided to accumulate his own arsenal to be sent to any advanced base where he might be stationed.

Twelve Charges Listed

Meader is accused by the navy of 12 charges with 101 specifications. His personally acquired "equipment," as produced by Lt. Comdr. Allen Blank, judge advocate, assisted by Lt. Harold E. Magnuson, includes Belgian, French, German, English, and American machine guns, rifles from many countries, bayonets, swords, a British anti-tank rifle, a gun disguised as a woman's purse, a trench knife, brass knuckles, hand grenades, pyrotechnics, an armor piercing shell, and a high explosive shell.

The weapons were sent to Meader's home in Queens, N. Y. Packed in 42 wooden boxes, they were listed as personal goods and were brought by various ships, including destroyers. Chief Petty Officer John E. York, ordnance expert, testified that the high explosive shell could have exploded and killed any one within 50 yards of it.

Many in the navy are interested in the case because fighting men unofficially are allowed to bring home "souvenirs," a navy official said, adding: "But not to this extent."

Wounded Vet Testifies

Lt. Charles Fox, who was wounded during the African invasion and was stationed at Mers-El-Kebin with Meader, testified that Meader, "intimated he would take such equipment to the Pacific." Fox said Meader wanted the weapons so that he could give small arms training to the men at the base, where he instituted special firing practice for them.

This testimony led Adm. Lamar Leahy, presiding officer at the trial, to ask: "What was this station—a training station or an operating base?"

Ensign Harry T. Kibby, who was stationed at the base as a yeoman, said he heard Meader say "he'd be damned if he'd go into any station so ill-equipped. He said he'd take as much as he could when he went to his next station."

Infantry Pack on Back

Kibby asserted that the navy men who took part in the North African invasion in November, 1942, were poorly equipped. "We had no clothes," he said. "We had no food. We went in there and we had an infantry pack on our back and six cans of rations. That was all."

Another witness, Lt. W. P. Long, said he saw much equipment scattered about in Meader's room at the base in the summer of 1943. When he asked Meader what it was for, Long testified, the commander replied: "I'm getting it sorted out to see what I'm going to take to Italy because I know I'll need it there."

Witnesses have testified that Meader is known as a collector of guns.

PREACHER DIES OF SNAKE BITE AS 'LORD'S WILL'

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 4 [Special]—Snake handling rites of a religious sect were blamed today for the death of Lewis Francis Ford, 32, lay preacher of the Dolly Pond Church of God near Birchwood in Hamilton county.

Ford died last night at a hospital 70 minutes after he had been bitten by a three foot rattlesnake during a religious service. W. L. Ford, the victim's father, said the young preacher was bitten on the right hand as he took the reptile from a small wooden box.

He "Got the Victory"

"Lewis got the victory over the snake after it bit him," the elder Ford asserted. "It was as limp as a rag."

Ford was taken to a nearby home where several followers of the faith prayed for him. When his condition became critical, he was rushed to a Chattanooga hospital.

"When he got to where he couldn't talk," Mrs. Ford said, "he pointed to his throat, smiled, and pointed to heaven."

Ford told a Chattanooga newspaper reporter before the services that "I may be bitten and I may die. But if I do, it will be because the Lord wants to show unbelievers the snakes are poisonous."

Members of Ford's church said that the rattler which bit him would be handled at Ford's funeral services.

Pastor's Wife Bitten; Dies

Wise, Va., Sept. 4 [Special]—Commonwealth Atty. John Roberts today was investigating the death of Mrs. Harvey O. Kirk, wife of the Rev. Kirk, who was bitten on the wrist in a snake handling demonstration.

Mrs. Kirk was bitten Saturday afternoon, gave birth to a child yesterday, and died an hour later. The child also died. Dr. G. T. Foust, who made out the death certificate, said death was due to a rattlesnake bite.

Authorities said Mrs. Kirk became ill immediately after being bitten, but refused medical aid. She was not attended by a doctor at the child's birth. Neighbors said she died singing hymns.

URGES INCOME TAX REDUCTION OF 20 PER CENT

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 4 (AP)—The "shot in the arm so desperately needed by lagging reconversion" is a 20 per cent reduction of the federal income tax, Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania asserted today.

In an address prepared for delivery before the 18 Republican congressmen from Pennsylvania, Martin called for a decrease in federal expenditures, including a cut of federal employes, as a start toward balancing the federal budget.

"We have only one road open to bring future national revenues up to the necessary level, and that is to put taxes on a mass production basis—each individually lower, but much greater in the aggregate," Martin asserted.

EZRA POUND STILL FACING CHARGES BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—The justice department said today it does not plan to drop treason charges against Ezra Pound, American writer held by the United States army in northern Italy.

A spokesman said the department recently received a lengthy memorandum on Pound from military authorities in Italy, and added that his case is being studied "intensively." A Rome dispatch recently suggested that Pound might be released for lack of evidence.

Pound was indicted July 26, 1943, for allegedly giving aid and comfort to the enemy by acting as a propaganda broadcaster.

'IDLENESS PAY' SEEN THREAT TO POST-WAR BOOM

Senate Group Is Warned Against Benefit Boost

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4—Senate hearings on the administration's bill boosting state unemployment benefits to a maximum of $25 a week for 26 weeks ended today with representatives of business and industry predicting boom conditions that would make unnecessary any increase in aid to jobless war workers.

The brightest picture of post-war business and employment opportunities was given the senate finance committee by Dr. Emerson Schmidt, economic analyst of the United States Chamber of Commerce, on leave from his post as economics professor at the University of Minnesota.

'Great Boom' Foreseen

Schmidt told the committee the liquid assets of American business and the backlog of wartime savings held by individuals should produce "a great boom" of several years duration. He added that federal reserve authorities are "feverishly working" on credit controls to prevent runaway prices.

Schmidt warned, however, that "unwise reconversion and labor policy could do much to retard reconversion at the very moment when it is the most important single thing in the economy." He urged the defeat of any measure that would "make unemployment attractive."

Walter L. Seelbach, president of the Gray Iron Founders' Society, Inc., told the senators the industry he represents has immediate openings for at least 45,000 additional workers. He said he feared the pending bill would "intensify rather than alleviate" the industry's man power problems.

Other witnesses, representing retail dry goods dealers, coal mining companies, and state business associations, also opposed the bill today. Several said concerns wanting to reconvert are hampered by labor shortages caused by the unwillingness of war workers to accept peace jobs at lower wages.

Sees Idleness Encouraged

George H. Johnson, Joliet, Ill., executive vice president of the American Institute of Laundries, said. The bill is in conflict with the administration's full employment bill. "The government should decide whether it wants every one at work or whether it should revise unemployment compensation to encourage idleness," he declared.

In addition to increasing state benefits, which would be supplemented by federal funds, the bill would provide unemployment coverage for federal workers in ship yards and arsenals, benefits for maritime workers, and government transportation of former war workers to new jobs. Most committee members favor these latter benefits.

The bill is excepted to be reported to the senate Monday, but not until the committee has made several changes.

A companion unemployment compensation measure in the house will have even rougher treatment, with Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee, and Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.], ranking minority member, both unalterably opposed to increased benefits.

REPORTER FIGHTS NAZIS 5 YEARS; BOWS TO CUPID

William Mooney, 26, who dropped newspaper work for five years of warfare against the Nazis, disclosed yesterday that he had surrendered to Cupid.

The ex-staff sergeant was discharged Sunday with 140 points, and Saturday he will marry at Toronto, Ont., Miss Margaret Hunt, who has seen a bit of warfare herself.

It's a war romance. Mooney, a former City News bureau reporter, enlisted in the Canadian army five years ago, was injured and nursed back to health in England by Miss Hunt, a Canadian nurse. In 1942, he switched to the American air forces, and helped bomb Germany until wounded and shot down in 1943. He was freed last May after spending 671 days in nazi prison camps. His home is at 8149 Eberhart av.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Sept. 4, 1945.

An old discussion cropped up at the poultry farm the other day. One worker argued that the chickens were better off when kept in laying batteries inside a henhouse, and another insisted best results were secured when the poultry were allowed to roam good range ground.

As a matter of fact, chickens may be kept equally well both ways. The battery method, favored by large scale broiler and egg producers, has some advantages over the open range method. When this procedure is followed, it is possible to keep an accurate check on each bird. Laying hens are trap nested and a count may be kept of individual egg production.

When Eggs Are Test

This is important when eggs are the main crop desired from a fleck. With batteries, culling becomes an easy job, for poor layers are soon spotted and discarded. This is more difficult when the fowls run free and use any nest they desire for laying.

To keep chickens in batteries requires more care and attention than when the birds are let loose. The feed must be so prepared that it includes the vitamins and minerals the free bird picks up on the range. Sunlight and good ventilation must be provided, and sanitation must be excellent to avoid disease.

When chickens are turned out on a clean plot of clover or alfalfa the farmer avoids a considerable feed bill. Healthier pullets are a product of good range conditions, for the birds thrive on sunshine and fresh young grass.

Give Chickens Clean Range

Where range is used for poultry the farmer must be sure the ground is clean. Preferably, the ground should not have had chickens on it for two years. It is a good idea, if the chickens are on alfalfa range, to keep the grass mowed rather short so it always will be young and tender for them.

Using range in this manner means the farmer will get the full benefit of the manure. As the range is moved about a field, the chickens will manure each part. This saves the time and labor needed to clean houses and haul manure.

In range management, chickens may be allowed to run when two or three weeks old, if the weather is clear and warm. The farmer should keep 200 to 400 growing birds per acre, depending upon the type of range. Good alfalfa ground will support the maximum number. Good shelter from the sun and plenty of fresh drinking water are necessary for efficient range management.

Farmers with small home flocks usually allow their birds to roam, leaving the battery method to professional handlers who produce poultry and eggs on the assembly line basis. But either method is proper.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

Gardeners who collect, cure, and store their own seed stock from favorite varieties of tomatoes, corn, cucumbers, and other large seeded vegetables should make sure that no seed is from hybrid varieties.

It is possible to save ears of Golden Bantam, Country Gentleman, Evergreen, and other types of open pollinated corn for replanting next season. However, seed of hybrid varieties—as Golden Cross Lincoln, Bancross and others—will not grow true to type if replanted next year, and the results from such seed will be disappointing.

A hybrid variety of cucumber and a hybrid tomato were introduced for sale this spring, and the same problem will be encountered, if their seed crop is planted. Some seeds would not germinate; those that did grow would produce crops of uneven size and of poor quality.

SHOP PARTNER JOINS PICKET LINE; WANTS MORE MONEY, TOO!

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4 (AP)—There were five pickets in front of the Aero Pattern & Engineering company today and one of them was Charles Bueg, co-owner of the concern.

"I had to do it," he explained. "I'm a member of the AFL Pattern Makers association and I received a card instructing me to report for picket duty.

"I would have started picketing the shop, anyway. I want more money, like my men; they get between $2.25 and $2.45 an hour, while I'm getting $15 a week."

The shop employs approximately 20 men.

SOLDIER FATHER REUNITED WITH 'DOOMED' SON

Miami Beach, Fla., Sept. 4 (AP)—Jerry Wrinn, 8, with only a few years to live unless a cure is found for muscular dystrophy, was reunited with his soldier father today as hundreds thruout the nation sought to aid him.

Master Sgt. Frank Wrinn, twice wounded and just discharged from the army, flew here from New York to join his wife and only child as offers of help and hope poured in.

One who sought to help was Carl R. Jackson, 43, Miami, who was stricken with the same ailment five years ago. He called on the Wrinns and offered himself as a "guinea pig" for tests in controling the disease. Jackson has lost 50 pounds and virtually all muscular control.

"I've spent all my savings traveling all over the country to doctors and hospitals trying to find a cure," Jackson reported. "Now with the publicity given Jerry Wrinn, I'm hopeful that some scientist will come forward with an untried remedy."

FAILS TO GET A JOB; SHOOTS UNION HEADS

Lodi, N. J., Sept. 4 [Special]—Disgruntled because the CIO textile workers union had not yet found him a job since he was laid off as a war worker at the Wright Aeronautical corporation plant in Fairlawn, Patrick Litrenta, 36, walked into the local union office here today and shot Stanley Wasek, 36, president of the local, and Theodore Defranko, 40, union delegate, with a .22 caliber revolver. Both were taken to Hackensack hospital where Wasek's condition was reported critical.

Litrenta, who had once been expelled from the union because of a wildcat strike, admitted the shooting when caught by police half an hour later. Police said Litrenta claimed he was tired of being shoved around and went to the union office for revenge. He was removed to the county jail where he was held on a charge of intent to kill.

Litrenta told a girl office worker before the shooting that he planned to "get" the men when they came in. She thought he was joking.

N. Y. CONVICTION OF WRONG MAN HELD FRAMEUP

New York, Sept. 4. [Special]—Robert Daru, counsel for the New York County Criminal Courts Bar association, asserted today that Bertram M. Campbell, 57, who served a prison sentence for a forgery he did not commit, was the victim of "a kind of private gestapo technique."

Daru, who has been holding public hearings on the case, recommended in a report that in criminal cases initiated and investigated privately, the prosecution in open court be by private counsel [presumably to be appointed by the court and paid for by the complainant].

Campbell, who was convicted June 3, 1938, and served three years and four months in Sing Sing, was granted a full pardon by Gov. Dewey on August 28. Campbell's innocence was established when Alexander D. L. Thiel, a professional check forger, admitted the forgery for which Campbell was sentenced.

Blames Private Agents

Three witnesses who 'identified' Campbell as the forger signed statements saying that they were mistaken.

Blaming private investigating agents, representing banks and surety associations, for the Campbell case fiasco, Daru assailed the methods by which Campbell was "identified" by witnesses.

"It has been clearly established," Daru said in his report, "that two bank tellers and a bank cashier were coached in their testimony by which the identification of Campbell was thereby 'framed' by the use of a picture of Campbell with a dubbed-in mustache.

Not Required to Testify

"As these investigators worked unofficially as secret investigators in the case, it was unnecessary for them to appear in the open, to take the stand and testify, and be cross-examined in court. Had they been required to testify, the court and jury may well have learned the truth of the framing of the identification, and this miscarriage of justice might have been avoided."

Daru said "the court and jury assumed...that this was the case of the state of New York against Bertram M. Campbell. If the court and jury had known that, in fact, this was a bankers' association against Campbell, or private detectives out for a scalp to solve a wave of forgeries, against Campbell, there may have been a different story to tell."

OYSTER HARVEST UP AS RETURNING VETS GO BACK TO BOATS

West Sayville, N. Y., Sept. 4 [Special]—The manpower shortage, a major factor in halving the nation's normal oyster harvest in 1944 and 1943, is easing here to such an extent that within a month the oyster industry may be producing at a pre-war rate.

Both veterans and war workers are returning to the oyster industry. A freer supply of boats and fuel was also reported.

The quality of the crop now being harvested is reported "very good." Oysters ran small in size during the 1943 and 1944 seasons, reflecting the damage done by the 1939 hurricane. The current crop was set out in 1941. Demand for the oysters, reported last year to be up ten times, is expected to continue good this season.

3 Drowned in Minnesota as Boat Railing Gives Way

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Three persons, two of them women, drowned in the St. Croix river near here last night when the handrail of a boat on which they were cruising gave way. Victims were Gary Lee and Mrs. C. A. Prettyman, 54, of St. Paul, and Mrs. T. C. Cheney, 60, of Green Bay, Wis. Mrs. Prettyman fell into the river when the handrail broke. The others died trying to save her.

COLLEGES URGED TO HAVE COURSE ON DEMOCRACY

Educator Seeks to Help Save American Way

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

An eminent American educator is asking all colleges to set up professorships of American democracy on the ground that mere teaching of American history and civics is not enough to preserve the American way. This educator, Dr. Donald J. Cowling, retiring this month after 36 years as president of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., states that students will continue to have jumbled notions of the country's traditions and history unless something is done to correct the condition.

Dr. Cowling's plan is to be put in permanent form in a book entitled "Colleges and the Individual" under joint authorship with President Carter Davidson of Knox college, Galesburg, and to be published by Harper and Brothers early in 1946. The student's jumbled ideas of history, the book will say, result from the fact that historical allusions are constantly being "thrown at him by newspapers, radio, pulpit, movies, and conversations. Is there any wonder that he became confused, and insists that Alexander Hamilton and Benjamin Disraeli looked alike because George Arliss played both roles?"

Scope of Course Told

The answer, Dr. Cowling said, is the professor of American democracy. Dr. Cowling then outlined the course's scope.

The first emphasis in the course," he said, "would be upon the great personalities, political, military, scientific, literary, who have given new meaning and luster to the name 'American.' Also the great events, such as historic battles, constitutional conventions, crucial elections, judicial decisions, can be described so vividly that they will remain forever engraved on the student's memory."

Dr. Cowling then outlined the elements of law for the citizen's and his neighbor's protection which the course would contain; How do courts operate? How does one enter the political life of the country at various levels? What is peculiarly American about the public school system? What is the relation of church and state?

Perils to Freedom Listed

On the subject of the American economic system, its origin, and problems facing it, Dr. Cowling pointed to "three great forces" which "have been struggling to destroy this American freedom and substitute a control by force." He said the forces are the corporations, the labor organizations, and the federal government.

"The corporations must be re-educated in their responsibilities toward American freedom and toward individuals," he said.

The labor organization "needs a new type of leader who can provide enlightened direction and real service to his constituency," Dr. Cowling asserted.

Dr. Cowling was at the Palmer House yesterday in the interest of the $2,250,000 Mayo memorial at the University of Minnesota. He is chairman of the committee of founders of the memorial under appointment of Gov. Thye.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Sept. 5—First Continental Congress

RELATIONS between the American colonies and Great Britain were bad and rapidly getting worse when the 1st Continental congress assembled in Carpenters' hall, Philadelphia, Pa., on Sept. 5, 1774. Britain's attempts to tax and regulate the colonies had led to riots and bloodshed. Now Britain was closing the port of Boston as punishment for a series of rebellious acts culminating in the destruction of thousands of pounds' worth of British tea.

The primary purpose of the congress was to restore harmony between the colonies and the mother country. To this end some of America's most illustrious men had come to Philadelphia.

The 55 delegates who composed the completed congress included two future Presidents of the United States, George Washington and John Adams.

It was Patrick Henry, one of the delegates, who, perhaps unconsciously, put his finger on the real significance of the congress. "The distinctions between Virginians, Pennsylvanians, New Yorkers, and New Englanders are no more," he said. "I am not a Virginian, but an American."

For the congress, tho it was a consultative body with no binding authority, yet constituted proof that the mutually jealous and distrustful colonies could and would act together when their common interests were imperiled.

During its seven week session the congress prepared a declaration of rights and grievances, a petition to the crown, and an address to the people of Great Britain. It also set up a colonial association whose purpose was to suspend trade with Britain as a means of obtaining redress of grievances.

A distinguished Briton later declared that for "solidity of reason, force of sagacity, and wisdom of conclusion under a complication of difficult circumstances, no nation or body of men can stand in preference to the general congress at Philadelphia."

HUSBAND JAILED FOR A YEAR, WIFE SUES 7 TAVERNS

Mrs. Helen E. Gray yesterday filed suit for $10,000 against seven taverns in which she alleges her husband, Walter E. Gray, former River Forest policeman, became intoxicated last Oct. 13. Gray shot three persons in the last tavern he visited, at 6149 Ogden av., Cicero, and subsequently was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000.

The defendant taverns are the Graemere Hotel company, 113 N. Homan av.; Edward Flannigan, 5128 Madison st.; Fraternal Order of Eagles, 201 S. Des Plaines av., Forest Park; George and Isabel Radio, 5615 Roosevelt rd.; Frank Krienes, 5138 S. 49th av., Cicero; Martin's Bank Grill, 2518 S. Cicero av., Cicero, and John Kessler and C. J. Sullivan, owners of the tavern in which the shooting occurred.

U. S. Drops Case After 2 Clear Robbery Suspect

Peter Christiano, 38, of 14423 Davis st., Dixmoor, was dismissed yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with an $8,000 jewelry holdup in Fort Wayne, Ind. He was arrested on the charge Aug. 22 by the federal bureau of investigation and released on $5,000 bond. Assistant United States Atty. Jack Weifeld informed the commissioner that Christiano had been exonerated by two other men subsequently arrested.

New Quarters Occupied by Bankruptcy Referees

Federal referees in bankruptcy moved yesterday from 7 S. Dearborn st., where they had offices for the last 12 years, to new quarters on the fourth and fifth floors of the John Marshall Law school building, 315 Plymouth ct. The referees' clerks will have their offices on the third floor.

PLAN SEVERAL NEW HANGARS AT CITY AIRPORT

Several air lines are planning construction of new hangars at the Chicago airport to accommodate four engined airplanes, it was learned yesterday, and are negotiating leases with the city.

Pennsylvania Central Airlines will erect a hangar capable of housing five Douglas twin engined planes of the type now in service and two four engined Douglas DC-4s, the type used by the army in transoceanic flights.

Work to Begin in Week

Estimated to cost around $330,000, the hangar will be located in 63d st. near Cicero av. Work on it is to begin in about a week, and it is scheduled for completion this winter.

United Air Lines intends to expand its facilities by enlarging and remodeling its present hangars on Cicero av. Plans for the work are not yet completed. Eastern Air Lines also is discussing a lease at the airport.

Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt illustrated the need for speed in completing the new passenger terminal now under construction with figures showing large increases in traffic at the airport this year. Here are comparative totals for the first eight months of both years:

	1945	1944
Planes	52,394	33,521
Passengers	840,899	550,043
Mail	12,830,724 lbs.	10,507,962 lbs.

Committee Meets Today

The committee appointed by Mayor Kelly to recommend a site for a larger airport to serve larger airplanes and more passengers as the air line business grows in the next few years will meet for the first time today in the mayor's office.

Col. Roscoe Turner, noted speed flyer and president of the National Aviation Trades association, said in an interview here yesterday that Chicago is fortunate to have two main airport sites available—the present port and the Douglas field near Park Ridge.

The time will soon come, if it is not here already, the colonel said, when Chicago will have enough air traffic to support two main airports, and they must be far enough apart to guarantee plenty of "air space" over them.

"You can double the ground area of your airport," Turner said, "but you don't double the air space, or anywhere near it."

Col. Turner, who is president of the Roscoe Turner Aeronautical corp. of Indianapolis, Ind., said his company plans to operate feeder lines into Chicago.

New York, Sept. 4 [Special]—Among 150 civilian passengers who boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth tonight were State Secretary Byrnes and the state department delegation to the forthcoming meeting of the foreign ministers council in London. The ship was scheduled to leave early tomorrow.

John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs expert, who was invited by Byrnes to accompany him to London as an adviser, emphasized that he was attending the meeting as a private citizen, not as a representative of the Republican party.

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, was on his way to Geneva, Switzerland.

HUSBAND FINED AS PHOTOS SHOW HIS FISTIC HAVOC

The first thing Mrs. Helen Young, 51, did after her husband pummeled her was to have her picture taken as pictorial proof of the damage she suffered, she told Judge John T. Zuris in Shakespeare av. court yesterday. The Youngs reside at 5249 Byron st.

Mrs. Young, who charged her husband, Frank, 62, with assault and battery, showed the pictures to Judge Zuris.

Mrs. Young told the court her husband has mistreated her 15 of the 25 years they have been married. Judge Zuris fined Young $25 and costs, and urged them to compose their differences.

COUNTY JOLTS CHICAGO PLAN ON CONGRESS ST.

Objects to Neglect of Suburban Roads

County officials yesterday objected to a proposal, advanced by Chicago officials, that the county, state, and city share equally in paying the bill for the Congress st. widening project inside the city limits. The objection was based on the assertion that suburbs should share in the funds.

"If the county spends 15 million dollars on Congress st. in the next five years, it would cut seriously into funds needed for suburban highways," said Daniel Ryan, chairman of the finance committee of the county board. President Clayton Smith and Commissioner William Busse, who represents the suburbs, also questioned the wisdom of building only within the city.

Confer Today on Proposal

"If this improvement stops at Oak Park, how are the motorists going to get their cars past the city limits?" Busse asked.

The city proposal will be discussed this morning at a meeting in Smith's office. Representing the city will be Ald. Bowler [25th], finance chairman; Ald. Kells [28th], traffic chairman, and V. E. Gunlock, commissioner of subways and superhighways. County spokesmen will include Smith, Ryan, and William J. Mortimer, assistant to Supt. George A. Quinlan of the county highway department.

Cost in City 45.6 Millions

From Grant park to Austin av., the Congress st. project is expected to cost 45.6 million dollars. Kells said the city, county, and state would be asked to pledge 15 millions each and to share in the construction.

The county and state contributions can be reduced, Gunlock said, if Chicago spends all of its federal aid allotment on the west side route. In the next three years Chicago expects to get nearly 18 million dollars for improvement of urban highways. That would cut to 27 millions the amount to be paid from gas tax funds and the county share would be reduced to 9 millions.

County Offers 4.8 Millions

Quinlan has agreed to spend 4.8 millions of county funds on the Chicago portion of Congress st. and is ready to ask the county board to authorize the expenditure of 19.6 millions to extend the route from Austin av. to the Du Page county line.

Wesley W. Polk, state highway engineer, said he expects to call a meeting in two weeks to discuss Congress st. financing. He said the state would help pay the cost in the Chicago portion and in the suburbs as well, but indicated that meeting a third of the bill would be a little steep.

FORT SHERIDAN YANKS OVER 38 VOTE TO GET OUT

Soldiers at Fort Sheridan who are more than 38 years old voted overwhelmingly for a discharge in preference to remaining in the army, the Tower, weekly newspaper at the fort, reported yesterday after completing a survey.

Only six of 330 men past 38 want to remain in the army, the survey showed. However, this did not include 20 men more than 38 in the regular army, who prefer to remain in the army. Nearly 200 men already have initiated steps leading to their discharge.

A different picture was obtained in a survey of 38 WACs more than 38 years old. Twelve wanted a discharge, 13 wanted to remain in the WAC, and three were undecided.

Charges Bigamy

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Mrs. Orinda Quigley Thomas

A warrant charging bigamy was issued yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in Felony court for the arrest of a man who gave his name as Dr. C. Wesley Thomas, 45, a brain specialist, when he married Mrs. Orinda Quigley, 38, of Xenia, O., a widow, July 7 and Miss Ethel Sakalos, 34, of 404 S. Ashland av. July 24.

C. Wesley Thomas

The women told Assistant State's Atty. Samuel Papanek they discovered the alleged bigamy when Mrs. Thomas [Mrs. Quigley] a clerk at Wright air field, Dayton, O., came to Chicago to look for the specialist. She said the day after she was married in Chicago by a Methodist minister Thomas disappeared with $1,100 she had given him to establish a sanatorium in Cleveland, O.

The July 24 Mrs. Thomas, a cost clerk, said she was married by a justice of the peace in Waukegan, and that Thomas left her the next day after borrowing $1,300.

COUNCIL HALTS OFFICIAL'S PAY. AT WAUKEGAN

The Waukegan city council, at a meeting last night, gave Mayor Frank G. Wallin until next Monday night to appoint a new corporation counsel to succeed Jack E. Bairstow. At the same time, the council, by a vote of 8 to 5, halted further salary payment to Bairstow.

Bairstow has been corporation counsel of Waukegan under Mayor Wallin since 1941. The council rejected his reappointment July 9 by a vote of 8 to 4. The mayor had kept him on the pay roll as a holdover.

Last night, however, anti-Bairstow aldermen told Mayor Wallin that the holdover time limit is 60 days, that the limit had now expired, and that he must nominate another man. The council then canceled Bairstow's $169.23 salary for the Sept. 2-16 period.

ROWE TO SEEK NOMINATION FOR TREASURER IN '46

Richard Yates Rowe

Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville, state budgetary commission secretary, former Republican state chairman and secretary of state, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer in the April primary. A treasurer will be selected for a two year term in the 1946 November election.

Rowe, 54, and a graduate of the University of Illinois, is vice president and secretary of an insurance company, part owner of two weekly newspapers, and a trustee of MacMurray College for Women, Jacksonville.

He was elected chairman of the Republican state central committee in 1944, but resigned when he was appointed secretary of state after the death of Edward L. Hughes. When his term in this post expired he resumed the secretaryship of the Illinois budgetary commission.

PALESTINE HOME AIM OF EUROPE'S JEWS: GILLETTE

Guy M. Gillette, former Democratic United States senator from Iowa, said here at a press conference yesterday that he has been informed that 80 per cent of the million and a half Jews who survived Nazi concentration camps in Europe wish to be sent to Palestine. Gillette was named president of the American League for a Free Palestine Aug. 1.

He explained that his organization favors a "free and independent democracy" in Palestine, rather than a Hebrew state, with free immigration for Jews and others. He said he plans to head a delegation to London to seek to persuade the British to lift the ban against immigration of Jews to Palestine.

"Great Britain has violated the league of nations mandate by restricting Jewish immigration," he said. "The new government of Great Britain has publicly and officially committed itself to the abrogation of the Chamberlain white paper, under which Palestine has been administered for the last year."

FINDS SKELETON HIDDEN BEHIND CEILING IN 1896

John Powell, Negro, of 2917 Fulton st., yesterday was tearing out ceiling plaster in a rear room at that address when a package fell from the space above the laths. The package, bound in yellowed newspaper, fell to the floor and burst. It contained a skull and what appeared to be all the bones of an adult human skeleton. Powell notified Capt. Jerome Looney of Warren av. station, who ordered the bones removed to the county morgue. They will be examined today by Dr. Samuel Levinson, coroner's physician. The wrapping was a Pittsburgh [Pa.] newspaper, dated 1896.

The finding of the skeleton recalled a famous double murder case just across Fulton street 24 years ago this month.

The slayer was Harvey W. Church. His victims were Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Ausmus, automobile salesmen. Church killed both in the basement of his home at 2922 Fulton st. Church was hanged March 3, 1922.

EVANSTON ACTS TO CLAMP DOWN ON HOWARD ST.

The Evanston city council last night took action to request its city officials to confer with Chicago authorities to work out a more efficient police program for Howard st., which separates the cities.

The motion was made by Ald. John J. Corcoran [7th], chairman of the judiciary committee, and was approved by the council. It requested the Evanston mayor, police chief, and corporation counsel to meet with Chicago officials for a mutual program to provide more police protection to rid the district of criminal elements and violence.

Rogers Park police were holding Willard Jackson, 22, Negro, of 748 E. 43d st., to be viewed today by a 48 year old widow who was raped early yesterday in her apartment. Jackson took a lie detector test in the Evanston police station. Police said it substantiated his denial of the crime.

YOUTH RESISTS POLICEMAN, BOTH ARE WOUNDED

Policeman Robert Borland of Evanston and Fred [Buddy] Schwartz, 19, of 402 South blvd., Evanston, were each wounded in an arm by a shot from Borland's revolver during a struggle last night.

Schwartz had been sought, police said, since he escaped from the Dixon state hospital three weeks ago. He was committed two years ago. Policeman Borland placed him under arrest at South blvd. and Chicago av., Evanston, but Schwartz ran away.

The policeman recaptured him. Schwartz, police said, reached for Borland's gun. It was discharged. The bullet grazed Policeman Borland's left forearm and shattered Schwartz's right forearm.

More than 200 volunteer speakers are expected to attend for last minute information. They will hear Elmer T. Stevens, member of the Community and War fund board and last year's president; Stewart A. Cushman, chairman of the fund's speakers bureau, and Pvt. William Hoffmann, Swartz Creek, Mich., veteran of the Battle of the Bulge.

SEIZED SOLDIER ADMITS ENTERING EVANSTON HOME

Louis Shark, 19, of 1110 Florence av., Evanston, an army private, was arrested early yesterday by Evanston police and admitted, they said, entering one apartment and attempting to enter two others while on a four day stopover between Texas and Fort Riley, Kas. He was turned over to army authorities.

Shark was seized hiding in the vestibule of the apartment building at 716 Brummell st., Evanston, shortly after he had tried to open a window in the basement apartment of Mrs. Rose Swanson at 124 Clyde av.

Mrs. Eleanor Kramp, 132 Clyde av., who looked out her window and saw Shark attempting to open the window, notified police. Earlier, Shark told police, he entered the apartment of Carl Hiertz at 139 Custer av., but was routed when Mrs. Hiertz awakened and screamed. Sunday night, he said, he attempted to break into the apartment of Walter Tessendors, 624 Judson av., but was unsuccessful.

HIRINGS EQUAL LAYOFFS, JOB OFFICIAL SAYS

Layoffs because of cancellation of war contracts and reemployment in plants reconverted to peace time production appeared yesterday to have reached a balance, officials said.

Charles Cheadle, executive secretary of the joint program information committee, said the only persons discharged since last Friday were 20 women employes in the Federal Electric company, 8700 State st.

Since the end of the war, Cheadle said, a total of 106,479 persons have been put out of work by cutback in plants in Cook and Du Page counties.

THE FUTURE OF JAPAN

As Gen. MacArthur prepares to rule Japan from the American embassy, not too distant from the mikado's palace, it may be thought a fortunate chance that he, of all Americans, has become the "American shogun." MacArthur is the conqueror of the Japanese armies. The Japanese are bound to respect a man capable of that accomplishment, for the total energy of the Japanese people went to create and sustain the army, and they were taught that it was invincible. MacArthur is the man who vanquished it.

There is another sense in which MacArthur is preëminently fitted to assume his task. That consists of his long association with and understanding of another Asiatic people, the Filipinos. His father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur, was military governor of the Philippines from 1900 to 1901. As a major general in 1925, Douglas MacArthur commanded the Philippine department. Ten years later he returned as supreme commander and director of Philippine organization for national defense. He defended the islands in the dark days of Bataan and Corregidor, and he returned to them last year to triumph over the enemy.

The situation in the Philippines in 1899 cannot be compared with that in Japan today. We went to the Philippines to fight Spain and remained for a variety of reasons, some of them related to the brief vogue of a revived philosophy of "Manifest Destiny," and others springing from a sense of duty, at times verging upon sentimentality, toward a far-away people who were thought to require guidance. But the noteworthy fact is that, at least from the passage of the Jones act 29 years ago, our intent was to set up a republican government under tutelage, and that that purpose has been redeemed.

With all their misrule, the Spaniards had done much to simplify our task. They had eradicated anything like a Filipino ruling class, and they had introduced and firmly established Christianity. This leaven afforded encouraging opportunities to win the consent of the Filipinos to undergo an education in government with the consent of the governed, but it can not be gainsaid that there was, initially, considerable opposition to our activities, no matter how high-minded.

The last of our intentions was to have come to the Philippines to fight Filipinos, but conflict was unavoidable if we were to stay there. The hostilities were providentially not of undue duration, and, once they were over, we were able to proceed amicably upon a relationship of confidence and trust. The outcome was the acknowledgment of Filipino independence and the creation of a loyalty among the people which led to the emergence of fewer enemy puppets during the imperial occupation than in any other occupied country in either Europe or Asia.

We arrive in Japan by a wholly different route, but the problems that our military government under Gen. MacArthur encounters there are not wholly dissimilar, altho they are manifested in different ways. We are faced with a task of education. We may hope to remove Japanese oppressors from dictation over the lives of other Japanese, just as we lifted Spanish oppression from Filipinos. There is the chance of creating in Japan, as in the Philippines, a political consciousness and sense of responsibility which will place the common people, at last, in control of their own lives.

In his concluding address aboard the battleship Missouri following Japan's surrender Gen. MacArthur said: "The energy of the Japanese people, if properly directed, will enable expansion vertically rather than horizontally. If the talents of the race are turned into constructive channels the country can lift itself from its present deplorable state into a position of dignity.

"Today, in Asia as well as in Europe, unshackled peoples are tasting the full sweetness of liberty, the relief from fear. In the Philippines America has evolved a model for this new free world of Asia. In the Philippines America has demonstrated that peoples of the east and peoples of the west may walk side by side in mutual respect. The history of our sovereignty there has now the full confidence of the east."

The principal obstacles that MacArthur finds in his way are the samurai, the Japanese warrior caste, and Shintoism, which has two facets: religious Shinto, represented by the thousands of local shrines paying homage to everything from a cleft rock to a fox god, and state Shinto, the revival of an ancient authority upon which to establish the power of the emperor—a power which the warrior caste wanted made paramount in shadow, if not in substance, in order that they might maneuver under its cloak to accomplish their insanely ambitious program of conquest.

The samurai have existed for at least 800 years. If they are unwilling to eliminate themselves, it may be necessary to exile the modern leaders of the caste so that they will lose, for good and all, their hold on the people. The emperor seems to have cast them off in negotiating a surrender. We may find him a willing helper in breaking their power permanently. Shintoism, we may hope, will disappear in competition with unpersecuted Christian churches in the new Japan; or, if it does not, at least will revert to its character as a nature cult, divorced at last from perversion to political purposes.

In the face of their military overlords, the Japanese have had less freedom and less political liberty than even the German people had under their junker taskmasters and the nazi ruffians who installed themselves as the state. It is not unreasonable to expect that the Japanese will want to learn to exercise self-government. This cannot be achieved in a day or a year, but it is to be remembered that we took the Philippines in 1898 and that the official date for their freedom was and still is 1946.

TROUBLE IN BERLIN

Henry Wales reports to THE TRIBUNE from Berlin that it has been necessary to establish road blocks at principal intersections leading to the American zone of occupation in the city following a series of night brawls between American soldiers and Red army men. The Russians are feeling their oats after their part in defeating Hitler and seem to feel that Americans can be pushed around with the same impunity as Germans.

It hasn't worked out that way. Mr. Wales has been informed that the GIs have yet to lose a decision in a street fight. The Russians are not reluctant to resort to firearms, but they aren't trained marksmen, as are the Americans. The result has been a number of Russian casualties. The road blocks are intended to keep troops of the armies apart so trouble on a larger scale won't materialize.

It could have been predicted that this would be the outcome when the attempt was made to effect a joint occupation by men of wholly dissimilar outlook. The Russians, the British, and the French are in Germany for a purpose. The purpose is to exploit Germans. We have no ambitions as a nation along those lines, altho some of our Wall streeters and international minded business men may have. Our occupation forces are, therefore, dedicated to helping the exploiting nations and a few Americans who envision great gains to be had from Germany in keeping the Germans quiescent while the process develops.

Our boys are doing nothing legitimate in Europe and it is time to get them out of there. At best, they are condemned to boredom, homesickness, and a distasteful task. They are required to put up with indignities and trouble from alien allies with whom they have scarcely more in common than they do with their defeated enemies. The possibility that they may become involved in serious difficulties cannot be minimized. The only sensible course is to bring them home.

SPEAKING OF WAR CRIMINALS—

It might be well if Mr. Justice Jackson, busily engaged with his united nations associates in writing a streamlined lynch law with which to condemn German leaders as war criminals, would look over his shoulder and see what is happening at home.

The allied war crimes commission was not content to arraign the nazi leaders and make them answer for the murder and the bestiality which violated the laws of every land of Europe, including Germany. They are to be tried under an ex post facto law which makes it a crime to plunge the world into war.

Very well. As the truth about Pearl Harbor begins to materialize it is shown that President Roosevelt and at least three members of his cabinet, Secretaries Stimson, Knox, and Hull, knew a day in advance that the Japanese were going to declare war on the United States. They even had at their disposal a brilliant analysis of the timetable involved, indicating that the first act of war would be a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. They did nothing to warn American military and naval leaders or to prevent that attack from succeeding.

Other facts in the record would vitiate any plea that the leaders of the Roosevelt administration were merely stupid but innocent of war-like intent. There is the whole record of Roosevelt's attempt to maneuver this country into a European war. It need not be rehearsed again. There was his agreement with Mr. Churchill to help defend French, British, and Dutch imperial possessions in the Pacific. There is the statement of two of the White House's journalistic pets, Alsop and Kintner, that Mr. Roosevelt felt that he dared not violate his 1940 campaign pledges that American sons would not be sent into foreign wars, but likewise felt that he could get around those pledges "the smart way."

In the light of the new evidence Pearl Harbor looks very much like the smart way that Mr. Roosevelt was seeking. It would certainly look that way to a trial commission proceeding on the Draconian principles that Mr. Jackson and his colleagues have established for their dealings with the Germans.

Under the Jackson theory not only the civil heads of the government but also military leaders, who at their direction took steps leading to war, would land in the prisoner's dock. Our American military leaders could point out that they urged Mr. Roosevelt and his secretary of state not to send the ultimatum of Dec. 6, 1941, to the Japanese because we were not ready to fight. Some of the nazi army chiefs can no doubt prove that they warned Hitler against attacking Russia, but they are still on trial.

Mr. Churchill told parliament in the aftermath of Pearl Harbor that America's entry into the war was what he had worked for and hoped for for many months. Leaving aside the genuine crime of which Von Ribbentrop and Von Papen may be guilty, what difference would there be, under Mr. Jackson's theory that any one who starts a war is guilty of a crime, between the two nazi diplomats and Mr. Churchill and Ambassador Halifax?

And while Mr. Jackson is looking for war criminals what, if anything, does his commission intend to do about Stalin, who gave Hitler the go-ahead signal in 1939 and shared with him the loot of Poland?

The procedure in the war crime trials ignores the fact that most and perhaps all of the German defendants have been guilty of the most horrible crimes in history. It largely ignores those crimes and seeks an arraignment of the defendants on a brand new charge, established for the occasion, unknown to history as well as justice, that starting a war is a crime.

Mr. Jackson should be more careful how he points that gun.

SWORDS FOR SOUVENIRS

There seems to be a slight difference of opinion in Japan over swords. The Yanks think that they are prime souvenirs and wish to acquire as many as possible. The Japs claim that they are "objects of ancient art and cutlery," and should not be grabbed. This column will stay on the sidelines of the argument, and tell a story which illustrates the Japanese cult of the sword.

• • •

In the beginning there was Susa-no-o, offspring of the gods, who descended from heaven to the island of Kyushu. He found there an old man and old woman, weeping over their daughter. When asked why they wailed, they said that they had been blessed with eight daughters, but every year a great dragon came and devoured one. The time was at hand for the dragon's visit to claim the last survivor.

• • •

"Describe this dragon," said Susa-no-o. . . . "Well, it has eight heads and eight tails." . . . "Be easy; I'll settle his hash. Brew immediately a large vat of saki." . . . Then Susa-no-o poured the saki into eight tubs, and waited. Presently along came the dragon. It was terrific—eight hills and eight valleys long, with fir trees growing along its back. But when it smelled the tubs of saki, its behavior became almost human. Each head began to guzzle, and after the tubs were emptied, the dragon fell asleep.

• • •

Then out came Susa-no-o's snickersnee, and he butchered that dragon from heads to tails. Inside the beast he found a magnificent sword, whose steel notched the edge of his own weapon. He immediately realized that this was a divine sword, and dedicated it to the gods.

• • •

The sword from the entrails of the dragon is now one of the three sacred treasures of the Japanese emperors. Hirohito may have mentioned it in his recent prayers. Because an incident in which it saved the life of a later legendary hero, it is called the Grass-Cleaving Sword.

SEPTEMBER COMES

The meadow grass is bronze or gold; and where
The goldenrod is like a burnished rim,
The sumac candles flicker down the air;
And scarlet sassafras is crimson-dim.
The blazing-star and purple asters lean
Their fluffy hair against the wind and sigh.
The breeze is growing cooler, crisper, keen,
As flocks of redwings dip to marsh close by.
The willows' tattered lace is fluttering,
The squirrels hide their acorns, as they peer
Most fearfully at any moving thing—
A paradox of fearlessness and fear.
The sun is gone—the year is setting, too:

Reverie Before Breakfast

Did you ever see such fine nights for sleeping as this summer's?

The north woods have nothing on Chicagoland in 1945. You eat supper, flop down with the paper, and let nature take its course. Some one may shake you and tell you it's time to go to bed, but before daylight you're slept out.

You lie there a bit and think, "The war is won and the boy will be home before long. . . . The kids are back in school. . . . The garden did all right. . . . No more fussing about gas." You slide into your pants, go to the window and smell of the weather. After a cup of warmed-over coffee your old bones begin to thaw. You go out and climb into the car and back it out, quietly.

Out toward the edge of town it is light enough to see trees against the sky. You pull into a road leading into the timber, and walk down a path among the trees. At first you can't hear anything except the muffled toot of a train in the distance. In an opening a mist lies low over the dripping grass, crows talk politics in a big elm, a robin slips a-worming thru the gloom, acorns drop, and two squirrels start to squabble.

Now it is broad daylight and you go back. The wife asks, "Where have you been? I didn't hear you go out." . . . "O, I went down to see if I could get a paper."

TO ANY PILGRIM

Come bide with me here in this evening light;
My little house stands by a friendly road,
Where kindly people pass from morn to night,
Bearing the common lot—the common load.

Art weary, stranger? Then come in and rest
Upon the velvet of this springing sod.
Art disillusioned? Scan yon glowing West,
And find renewed your faltering faith in God.

Come in, and harken to the sleepy song
Of nesting birds that croon beneath my eaves,
And hear the soft winds call the blue dusk long,
In whispered monotone among the leaves.

Stay! Watch with me the sunset's lavish gold
Outpoured in splendor o'er this vine-clad wall,
To glorify my rooftree gray and old.
O, here is wealth, and I would share it all!

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

G. W. D. asks: "Will you please explain the difference between a medical and a disability discharge? Who determines the amount of compensation paid for a disability?"

Medical discharges are given for such ailments as tuberculosis, chronic psychoses, and chronic degenerative neurological diseases. Disability discharges are given to those physically disabled as, for example, by the loss of an arm. In most cases honorable discharges are given to those released for either medical or disability reasons. The veterans' administration rating board determines the percentage of disability of a service man. This board is not bound by any finding made by an army medical board at the time of discharge.

F. T. S. writes: "My husband was discharged from the army Dec. 7, 1944, and we were married five days later. He is receiving a pension for disability incurred in line of duty. Can he file a claim for dependency and receive a larger pension check? I am not employed and am under a doctor's care from time to time."

No. Pension is payable to him for his disability incurred in line of duty, but there is no provision for increasing a pension because of an acquired dependent.

COMMON SENSE IN DYSMENORRHEA

WITH the vast increase in employment of women occasioned by the war, it became evident that some were handicapped by dysmenorrhea. Naturally it not only hampered their efficiency, but absenteeism a few days each month was necessary in a small percentage.

This process may be uncomfortable but many are able to bear the distress without upsetting the daily routine. With others it is accompanied by additional symptoms which tend to make the situation more critical. These usually occur either prior to or at the onset of the period. The patient is seized with severe cramp-like pains in the lower abdomen which may extend to the back or down the legs, lasting from a few hours to one or two days. Headache, malaise, nausea, and vomiting may add to the discomfort. It is during this stage that some become so incapacitated that bed rest is imperative. A few may be up and about but feel so miserable that work is almost impossible.

Many factors are responsible for cramping. Mechanical difficulties may cause obstruction to the outflow and, as a result, the ensuing contractions of the uterus are extremely distressing. Should pelvic congestion exist, further complaints will be exhibited. Altho near-by inflammation or displacements may contribute, overexertion, fatigue, constipation, or long hours of standing may be accountable.

The general nervous make-up of the individual likewise plays a role. Some women are extremely sensitive to pain and, consequently, feel the discomfort more markedly. In many instances the tendency has been passed on from mother to daughter, one mimicking the other.

Several plans leading to relief have been advocated. Much, of course, depends upon whether the examination discloses an abnormality. Small fibroid tumors must be removed and pelvic displacements corrected. For those in whom the cervical canal is too narrow, dilatation is called for. Occasionally cutting the nerves leading to this area affords relief.

In milder attacks simple home measures will suffice. A building up program utilizing a balanced diet, adequate rest, and outdoor activity is frequently beneficial. Mental hygiene, too, is essential—with the elimination of personality complexes. Calisthenics designed to improve posture or relieve pelvic congestion are favored by some medical men. Haman recently reported patients receiving 75 to 100 per cent relief by indulging in simple exercises requiring less than five minutes daily.

Medicines of various kinds have been widely employed. Sedatives are helpful, particularly if indisposition is great, but these are only soothing. Hormones have not been as efficacious as anticipated, altho in some cases they are of value and are worthy of trial. In most instances a drug to relieve pain is all that is needed.

HANGING OUR CLOTHES

U. C. B. writes: When I was young, our hygiene classes taught that all clothing should be supported from the shoulders. Does modern teaching recognize this as a fact?

REPLY

So long as the individual is comfortable, and the garments do not interfere with circulation, I cannot see that it makes any particular difference.

INVESTIGATE

F. J. writes: My mother's ankles swell and when she presses her finger on the skin a hole appears. She was wondering what this could be?

REPLY

This may be dropsy [edema], but a thoro check of the heart, kidneys, and veins of the lower extremities will be necessary to determine the cause.

NO DISCOMFORT

R. T. writes: What is painless jaundice?

REPLY

Let us say that the symptom of pain in jaundice means that there is obstruction somewhere in the biliary system.

HARDENING OF INNER WALL

M. B. S. writes: What is inward hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Numerical Aftermath

A lady with a bent toward numerology already has gone to work on war endings. Her findings: The numerals of 1918, year in which World War I ended, and 1945, year in which World War II ended, both add up to 19. Nov. 11 is 11 plus 11, or 22. Aug. 14 is 8 plus 14, or 22. Radar was discovered in 1922. The United States fought in World War I, for 19 months, in World War II, for 45 months. Draw your own conclusions.

Street Scene

The setting was the corner of State and Madison sts. The time, the middle of the morning shopping rush. The age, atomic and gasoline. Two blind young women, each with a Seeing Eye dog, stood on the corner preparing to cross crowded State st. The traffic light flashed to green. The dogs alerted and tugged at their leashes. One young woman, apparently well accustomed to her intelligent canine guide, walked steadfastly forward at his first tug. The other, apparently still full of qualms and tremors, took one step forward, hesitated, then stopped. Miraculously a crowd of 25 to 30 persons grouped around her, no one saying a word in a group effort not to confuse her. A traffic policeman saw the crowd, the girl, the dog, hurried over to her side, and stood there, he, too, observing the silence.

Finally she relaxed. The dog started across. The two reached the center of the intersection when the green light changed to amber and then to red. Beside them, still without uttering a word, tiptoed the traffic cop, one hand held high in the air to forewarn all traffic. The girl and the dog reached the other side, ascended the curbstone, and went on their way, the girl's confidence in herself and her dog supreme. She never knew.

De Amicitia

Or true friends never forget. A letter from a gentleman in Stevensville, Mich.:

"A few weeks ago I left the house early to feed my chickens from a sack of feed stored in a small outhouse. Suddenly I felt a flash and heard something whisk my hat rim. Then I saw a blue pigeon on my shoulder. He walked from one shoulder to the other and stayed there until I got the feed. It wouldn't get down for feed, and I walked half way back to the house before it flew away, alighting in the street to strut in front of me and coo. It was telling me something.

"Finally I figured him out. While living in Chicago a few years ago, I saw thousands of pigeons in Grant park. Saw them walk out on some ladies' forearms and eat from their hands. They sure do love the hand that feeds them in Chicago. Two young white splotched ones flew on my arm in San Francisco, but this one was blue, and I knew he was my friend who had crossed Lake Michigan from Chicago's loop just to be with me just a little while. He did it again three days later. How true some friends are.

"Stevensville is a quiet little place where one can sit on the front steps of the general store to rest his feet and smoke the pipe of peace while being visited by a pigeon from Chicago. A movie should be made of those birds in action in Grant park from where a stranger came on a visit from the land of rhubarb and raspberries. Thank that pigeon for me, won't you? I think more of it than any redhead, blonde, or brunette I ever saw in the loop. That blue bird pointed the way to a memory of happiness that lit on my shoulder. She never lit there to cry on my neck. She just cooed and cooed with no fear whatever. I'm looking for another embrace."

BREAD AND THE NEW DEAL CIRCUS

Chicago, Aug. 30—Says the mayor of Chicago: "The jobless are not concerned with so-called systems of free enterprise, or controled economy, or regimentation. They want primarily the security of work and its rewards. All too often they have not cared whether it was offered by a Hitler or a Henry Ford."

How right he is! What care we what flag replaces the Star Spangled Banner as long as our bellies are full? What difference does it make whether our fascism is red, brown, or just yellow?

But this I should like to ask: Were our boys made to give their lives and souls in protest against fascism in Germany in order to silence their voice against it in America?

If so, we who connived the wanton mass murder of the race to that end don't deserve anything better than the regimented slavery the Herr Kellys planned for us. Our "Tobacco Road" mind is incapable of comprehending freedom anyway. Freedom is something fools fight for. What we want is something to eat and lots of circuses.

I am just a voice in the wilderness. What am I croaking about? We are getting what we bargained for.

They are not needed and yet are kept in service because they do not have enough points. Service men will never have enough points, I guess.

My husband and I were married four years, and he has been in service two years, 13 months of which was overseas. To date he has only 36 points. I am 31, and if the army keeps fooling around with the point system I will be too old to raise a family. Must we sacrifice what we want the most in marriage? Cases like this should be considered now that the war is over.

NO DIFFERENCE WHAT THEY FOUGHT FOR?

Chicago, Aug. 30—Surely we cannot let go unchallenged Mayor Kelly's assertion that the jobless care not whether their security comes from a Hitler or a Ford. ROOM FOR TROPHIES, BUT NOT TROOPS

GERMANY, Aug. 23—I have over three years of foreign service, one silver star, and 99 points toward a discharge. For the last three months I have been waiting to return to the States, but all I have been hearing is that there is no transportation.

I am inclosing a picture which appeared in today's paper. Is this justice to the American people who lost sons over here or whose sons are waiting to come home? If this keeps up I and the rest of us might be home in another 10 years. COMBAT ENGINEER

FIGHTING WAS HARDER

Coatsburg, Ill., Aug. 28—The problem of sending or keeping combat troops overseas against their will to occupy Japan and Germany has prompted some of our leaders to maintain that only troops with such experience can "do the job." Strangely enough, not being a nation of professional warriors, we had to train for and throw into combat millions of young men inexperienced in the art of warfare. They made mistakes, too, some of which cost them their lives. This is a much less critical assignment. Why not drop all farm and factory deferments for men under 26 now; draft them and train them for occupation duties? Surely they could be trained within six weeks to do police duty abroad if other youths were trained in six weeks to go into actual combat. ALBERT SHANHOLTZER

CANUTE BOWLES

Chicago, Aug. 30—Wonderful days. Atomic bombs and the ability of a government to throw its country into hock for near 300 billions and yet keep the economic setup unchanged, no inflation in fact—only in principle. Wonder if those bank deposits are spider webs or real? There was another guy once who tried to hold back the waves, so don't let us grudge Chester his show. If he makes good, something new has been added and governments can henceforth cast dull care to the wind—just go ahead and borrow blind—it will make no never mind. Still, isn't Mr. Truman from Missouri? H. E. W.

TOURING THE PALMER MANSION

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 31—Today's TRIBUNE tells us of the plan to demolish the Potter Palmer mansion. Many of us, of this generation, would eagerly take advantage of a chance to go thru this historic house. Would a suggestion to charge a fee for the privilege of this opportunity be in order? Proceeds could go to charity.

WHAT MADE THE SOLDIER MAD

[Acme Photo]

This picture of Hermann Goering's $35,000 automobile, shipped to the United States as a trophy of war, caused a soldier in Germany to write the Voice of the People asking why space couldn't have been found to bring him and his buddies home on that transport.

POLICE SEARCH HILLS FOR WHEAT KING'S SLAYER

Hired Man Is Hunted in Ranch Killing

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 4 [Special]—Police officers tonight searched the vineyard district of sprawling San Bernardino county for the shotgun slayer of Herman William Trelle, 50, five time winner of the world "wheat king" title at the International grain and hay show in Chicago.

Herman Trelle

John Giliberti, 60, a native of Sicily and a ranch worker, was named today in a murder warrant as Trelle's slayer. He is believed to be hiding in vineyards along the San Bernardino foothills.

Won "Double" at Chicago Show

Trelle won the wheat king title in Chicago in 1926, 1930, 1931, 1932, and 1936. He was the only man ever to win a "double" at the Chicago show—both the wheat and oats awards in 1926, when he was 31, and again in 1936. He also was Canadian wheat champion five times.

Theodore Krumm, deputy district attorney, who filed the murder complaint, said the shooting occurred Saturday afternoon on the front porch of Trelle's ranch house a few hours after Giliberti had been discharged.

Trelle, who came here to be near his ailing mother, supplanted Giliberti as manager of the Overholtz ranch in the Fontana district just west of here June 16. Giliberti had been kept as a worker until his discharge.

Trelle told officers before he died Sunday that Giliberti had shot him.

Naturalized Canadian

Born at Kendrick, Idaho, Trelle went to Canada in 1903, later obtained naturalization papers there, and began his farming career in Wembley, Alberta. His hard red spring wheat, tested, crossed, and improved by him from a strain developed at the Ottawa, Canada, experimental farm, was widely sought for seed purposes.

Trelle served in the Canadian air force in World War I, and in the Canadian navy in World War II. He is survived by his widow, Beatrice, and three children.

"I guess I've been a tough boss, Miss Jones, and bawled you out plenty—but I don't like the idea of not seeing you again."

Police Capt. Kyran Phelan said Rubenstein served 10 months in the De Kalb county jail for violation of the prohibition act in 1931. In 1928 Rubenstein shot to death Sam Crisclone, 20, who Rubenstein said annoyed a woman guest. A coroner's jury exonerated him.

Approximately 35 per cent of the cars tested Saturday failed to pass safety inspections, Gorman said. Rejections averaged 45 per cent of the cars tested on preceding days.

MILWAUKEE CIO SEEKING TO BUY MODEL VILLAGE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4 [Special]—Meyer Adelman, secretary of the Milwaukee county industrial union council, said today the county CIO wants to buy Greendale, federal government model village southwest of here. The CIO wants the village if it can also buy all the land and buildings. There are 3,400 acres of land in the village. The government has spent about $10,500,000 on the project since it was started in 1936.

A CIO committee has been studying the proposal for several days and has talked with Greendale officials, but Walter E. Kroening, federal manager, said no commitments have been made.

Would Expand Project

Adelman said that if the CIO purchased the property, it would be expanded to about 6,000 units, half of them homes for sale to union members and the other half, apartments, to be rented. There are now 650 units.

He also said that any churches built would be supported by tax money or rental income from the village property, the clergymen paid by the village, and no collections taken.

Churches Already Own Sites

At present St. Alphonsus' Catholic church and St. Luke's Lutheran parish have purchased sites for church and parochial school buildings. Adelman indicated if the CIO purchased the property from the government it would have to repurchase the church property.

The CIO council secretary said that if negotiations for Greendale do not materialize the union may seek another site.

SONNENSCHEIN'S STOLEN AUTO IS FOUND; 3 SEIZED

William Quain, 31, of 1929 Crystal st., a house detective at Hotel Sherman; Samuel Franzese, 30, of 1108 N. Dearborn st., and John Loughlin, 28, of 3503 Lexington st., were arrested by police robbery detail detectives yesterday at Wells and Kinzie sts. while riding in an automobile which was stolen May 5 from Henry Sonnenschein, clerk of the Superior court.

Loughlin, known to police as a petty thief, was sitting on the floor in the rear of the car with a .45 caliber revolver and 25 rounds of ammunition. Franzese, a discharged soldier, served nine months in the county jail on a robbery conviction, police said.

In Franzese's apartment police found six suitcases containing about $500 worth of articles which Franzese said had been stolen from automobiles on the near north side in the last five months. Quain, who had no record, told police he did not know he was riding in a stolen car. The three were held for a showup.

HEWITT MOVES TO SPEED STATE ST. BRIDGE JOB

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt said yesterday that he has requested the Overland Construction company to inform him when it expects to obtain steel to rebuild the State st. bridge and an estimate of the time it will require to complete construction.

Contracts have yet to be let for the north approach to the bridge, a viaduct over railroad tracks. Hewitt ordered City Bridge Engineer Stephen J. Michuda to draw up specifications for the aproach and for a second viaduct, to run from State st. to Wabash av. on the north side of the river.

The State st. bridge was torn down in 1939 when subway engineers began construction of their bore beneath the river. War halted reconstruction work on the bridge in April, 1942. Super-structure of the new bridge will cost an estimated $1,276,000.

FUMIGATING GAS KILLS ILLINOIS ARMY FUGITIVE

Baker said Geese's body was found in a house being fumigated with the gas. The doors were posted with warnings, and Geese broke a window to enter. Baker said he had no record of Geese's offense or sentence.

NEW LIGHT TO BE ON PALMOLIVE BUILDING SOON

The two billion candlepower Palmolive beacon [formerly the Lindbergh light] atop the Palmolive building at 919 N. Michigan av., from the tower of which it casts its powerful beam, is to be replaced after 15 years of service, it was announced yesterday by the building managers. The Sperry Gyroscope company of Brooklyn, N. Y., is preparing the new light as a gift to the city in memory of the late Dr. Elmer A. Sperry, founder of the company who started his business career in Chicago.

Dr. Sperry also presented to the city the original light in 1930 and it was lighted for the first time on Aug. 27 of that year. He did not live to see the light's great beam, strongest in the world; he died while the $133,000 tower which supports the light was being erected on top of the building. Charles L. Butler, superintendent of the building, said the decision to replace the old light came after an inspection by engineers of the Sperry company.

The new light is to be hoisted up the south wall of the building within a few weeks and will be lighted after dedicatory ceremonies Sept. 26.

Service Club Will Entertain New Members Next Tuesday

BY JUDITH CASS

INVITATIONS are out to an early fall party which the Service club gives each year for new members and to which the debutantes of the season are invited. The party will be a tea at 4 p. m. next Tuesday in the Racquet club. Mrs. Ralph Applegate is chairman of the tea, assisted by Mrs. William Pope, who is the club's vice president in charge of new members.

Mrs. E. Payson Smith will have returned to Chicago from the Smiths' summer home at Delavan lake in time to receive at the tea. She is president of the club, whose annual benefit is to be the opening of the "Ice Follies" Nov. 2 in the Chicago arena.

Mrs. Ralph Applegate

Opening this week in the La Salle st. station is the club's new children's lounge, which it has given to the Travelers Aid society. With an appropriation of $2,500, the club has created a gay and useful room with two sizes of cribs, facilities for feeding and bathing babies, and couches on which the mothers may rest. The room, formerly a ticket office next to the woman's lounge, is done in a red, white, and blue circus motif, and painted on the entrance door is a giraffe holding in his mouth a sign with the Service club and Travelers Aid names on it.

Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., Mrs. Richard Culver, and Mrs. Earl Wagner, who is chairman of the benefit, served on the children's lounge committee. Mrs. Sims and her children are expected next week from Au Gres, Mich., where they summered for the first time in their new home there. The house was a former school house which they had moved onto their property. It has been added to and remodeled a bit, and Mrs. Sims has been furnishing it appropriately in the early American period.

Wedding News

Maj. Gordon F. Bell's entire family will be present when he and Miss Barbara Gableman are married at 4 p. m. Saturday in the All Souls Memorial church, Washington, D. C. A reception will follow in the Sulgrave club. Maj. Bell's parents, the Allen C. Bells, and his brother and sister-in-law, the Alexander C. Bells, left yesterday to drive to Washington, stopping en route in Pittsburgh, Pa., to pick up the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, the Franklin Bells. Alexander Bell will be best man.

Maj. Bell will take his bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Gableman of Washington, on a wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga. He has been stationed in Washington under Col. Frank McCarthy and received his promotion to major the same day that Col. McCarthy was appointed assistant secretary of state. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Bell will return to Lake Forest in time for the opening of the Bell school next Wednesday.

The congratulations being showered on Bruce Benson by his friends are twofold. Mr. Benson not only has returned to civilian life within the last 10 days after serving as a captain in the army air forces, but has brought a bride to Rolling Hill, his farm in Prairie View, Ill. She is the former Harriet Jane Arnold, who became his bride in June in a ceremony in the Detroit home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving MacDuffie.

The bride, a former member of the Cleveland Junior league, has a 9 year old son, Channing Arnold, who will be a new playmate for Mr. Benson's four children, David, Polly, Bruce, and Walter. Mr. Benson, son of Mrs. Walter L. Benson of Winnetka, was married to the former Harriet Fentress before their divorce.

Glitter of Old Marks Parisian Style Openings

PARIS, Sept. 4 (AP)—In a magnificently varied collection rich in color, workmanship, and artful attention to line, Lucien Lelong officially opened the Paris fashion showings today with pre-war glitter.

This first important show among 60 that will continue thru Sept. 28 included more than 50 models which circumvented material shortages so ingeniously that spectators expressed confidence in Paris' continued style supremacy.

Altho the government has encouraged Paris couture by releasing small amounts of material, it is unlikely that enough textiles will be available before spring to permit France's third largest industry to begin exporting.

Lelong definitely has switched emphasis from the back-high point of the spring collection to the front, with all dresses and suits spotlighting wasp waists above draped or shirred hips and with front fullness sometimes carried to extremes by huge pockets and peplums.

He likes pencil slim suit skirts without plaits, with jackets worn well below the hips and flaring from a nipped-in waist. He uses crew necks on almost all blouses and sweaters—even on negligees. His other new favorites are draped shoulders and extensive use of fichu neck treatments.

As a contrast, Lelong has gone in extensively for wide flaring skirts on wool dresses, altho each of his superb black afternoon frocks clings close to the body lines.

Shoulders receive moderate padding—not exaggerated but a far cry from the sloping shoulders evident in earlier collections. The street dress length is just below the knee. Evening dresses are floor length, with no trains and few bustles.

Many coats have fur linings, while others are lined with brilliant colors. Lelong also has put touches of silver fox and mink at the throats of dresses, at the pockets, and at the ends of sashes on street and house ensembles.

An American military motif appears in the waist-hugging, broad-shouldered Eisenhower battle jacket of brown shaved lamb, and in a hat modeled after the G. I. overseas cap with black sealskin sides and a crown of canary yellow.

Those oversize hats are as dead as Heinrich Himmler. Lelong's heart goes out to pillboxes this year—worn either far front or far back and made from all types of material, from swirl silver fox to velvet.

[Two Chicagoland WACs, Dolores M. Knopick, 2934 N. Washtenaw av., Chicago, and Lt. Elizabeth B. Johnston, Berwyn, Ill., attended Lucien Lelong's winter fashion premiere, according to another Paris dispatch.]

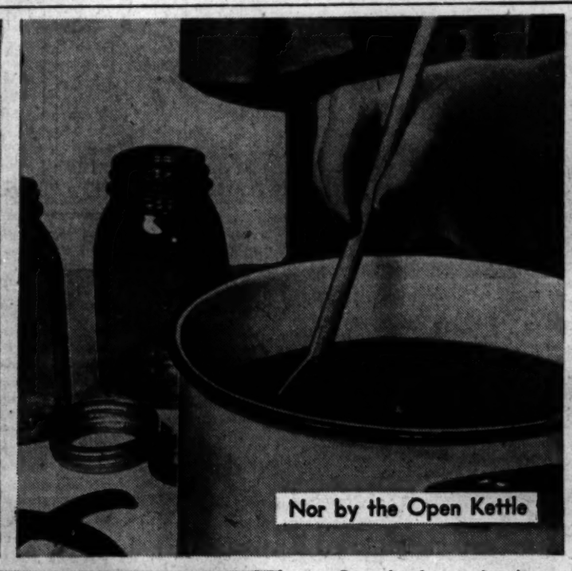
Roosevelt's British Cousin to Become Bride of Flyer

LONDON, Sept. 4 [Reuters]—An English cousin of the late President Roosevelt, Miss Jean Martineau, is announcing her engagement tomorrow to Flight Lt. Peter Cazenove of the royal air force, until recently a prisoner of war in Germany. Miss Martineau, daughter of Mrs. Cyril Martineau of Chelsea, London, a first cousin of President Roosevelt, probably is the only English girl to make her debut at the White House. That was during her last visit to America, 11 years ago, when she was 17 and President and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a dance for her.

Two Wrong Methods and the Right One for Canning Tomatoes

Don't Can in Oven—



Nor by the Open Kettle

1. Oven canning is not recommended because of the danger. Serious explosions have occurred with this method. Tomatoes also may be underprocessed, due to uneven heat distribution in oven and slow rate of heat penetration in air.

Use Boiling Water Bath

2. Open kettle canning is not recommended for tomatoes because there is a greater chance of spoilage and a considerable loss of vitamin and flavor content. This method is satisfactory for preserves, jams, jellies, pickles, and relishes.

3. The boiling water bath is correct. Scald tomatoes, dip in cold water, and peel. Heat to boiling, pack into hot sterilized jars, and add salt, but no water. Seal and process 10 minutes in boiling water to cover.

Velvet Offers Vivid Accent for Fall Attire

BY REA SEEGER

In they come—those sleek, very distinguished fall costumes that emphasize velvet for contrast. They're as distinctive and new as anything you'll find in town. They will magically slice away the surplus summer curves and, together with a new high hat, make you appear at least half a foot taller. If the velvet contrasts don't appeal to you, see the satin inset and contrast models. They're almost as effective as the velvet accents. Both are one piece dresses and slim, simple two piecers, composed of skirt and jacket to be worn as either suit or dress, are plentiful.

Dull, mat textured black crepe or crepes of picturesque fall colorings flaunt these velvet or satin contrast highlights. Also using the same contrasts are suits and one piece dresses of faille. The faille costumes are exceptionally elegant for dress parade with the details of velvet. Some are fashioned with concentric bands of velvet, three to a skirt, with the bands repeated in the bodice or sleeves, short or long.

The good old feminine trick of fastening bows of velvet to a skirt or waistline, bodice, or sleeves is worked again and again in all these "velvet and" creations.

The sheen of satin, contrasted and combined with dull textures such as crepe, faille, and the first of the thin wool crepe, is shining everywhere. Entire sleeves are made of the satin, as well as clever and interesting yokes; some that extend well down into the sleeves; intricate insets, and applique. Peplums, a wide band around the lower six inch portion of a slim skirt, side swept drapery, flounces, cuffs, and collars, all shimmering satin, make the most of the successful new town street and day time fashions now ready for the first fall rush of shoppers.

Wise Parents Careful Not to Spoil the Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In my opinion a child who is loved, reasonably indulged in material ways, leniently treated but expected to obey when the occasion calls for obedience, and given interest and companionship, all of which surely take time, is not "spoiled."

But the child who has been shown off; talked about in his presence [including discussion of his "naughtiness" as well as his "goodness"], given everything he cries or whines for; and who is not expected in a consistent way to obey and be considerate of others—that child is spoiled. Also he soon will be disliked by children and grownups, and even his own parents later will be irked by the very behavior they have brought about.

To unspoil such a child takes time, thought, and self-control, just as it took time, thought, and self-control to prevent spoiling. It is obvious which is the better way for parents to use their time and energy.

The unspoiling process can be brought about partly by "wholesome neglect," which consists of discontinuing the undesirable indulgence and centering of attention upon a child by adults. Naturally there is more to it than that—but other points in this connection will be taken up in a later article.

300 Enrolled in New Girls' Trade School

As a result of the strides made by women in the industrial and commercial fields during the war, the first public trade school for girls exclusively in Illinois opened here yesterday. It is the Ellen Richards Trade school located at 2535 Green st.

Formerly a vocational center with only a two year program, the school now offers a four year high school curriculum, with emphasis on restaurant training, dressmaking, commercial art, millinery, and beauty culture. The junior program for sixth, seventh, and eighth grade pupils has been abolished, Miss Ethel Dreier, acting director, explained yesterday.

A special venture for Chicago in the field of education, the Richards school will present courses on all trades demanded by a requisite number of pupils. One of the unusual courses to be offered soon will be that of clinical clerk, training for the role of doctor's or dentist's assistant. The course will require four years of high school but may be completed in three years by a pupil transferring into Richards after one successful year in a nonvocational school.

Because applicants for the school's popular beauty culture course must be 16 years old and have completed the eighth grade, Miss Dreier plans to introduce a preparatory course where girls under 16 may learn work of a mechanical nature which will assist in accomplishing the more specialized phases of a beauty operator's work.

The present beauty culture course requires 1,000 hours and is accredited by the state. Upon graduation, girls are ready to take the state examination for a beauty operator's license.

The school opened with an enrollment of 300 pupils, a large increase over the previous year. Sixty new pupils registered yesterday, and more are expected before the end of the week, Miss Dreier said.

Not yet prepared for night school courses, the Richards Trade school plans special studies at night for returning women war veterans later in the year. Included in this program will be courses in sales, merchandising, advertising and copy writing, sales psychology, small business management, and trade dressmaking.

Award Decorations to 11 Navy Nurses Once Held by Japs

For their work under Japanese bombings and their 37 months of imprisonment, 11 navy nurses were named yesterday as recipients of the army's bronze star medal and the navy's gold star. Three civilian nurses who served with them received the navy bronze star.

A Chicagoan, Lt. Mary Chapman Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Chapman, 4108 N. Central Park av., was among those honored. She is on duty at the naval air station in Alameda, Cal. Another nurse, Lt. Susie Pitcher of Des Moines, Ia., on duty at Great Lakes naval hospital, will not receive her awards until Saturday, when the presentation will be part of a Great Lakes radio broadcast program.

The navy nurses were at the naval hospital at Canacao in the Manila bay area, when the Japs first struck. They evacuated all of their patients to Manila, and the entire naval medical unit was captured Jan. 6, 1942.

Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. W. H. Fitting, of La Crosse, Wis.]

THE QUESTION

What is the most valuable thing you have lost in your life?

WHERE ASKED

Michigan av. and Wacker dr.

THE ANSWERS

Corp. John Kubarek, Iron River, Mich.—A rosary that was presented to me by a cardinal in Vatican City. It was a beautiful thing, fashioned of pearl and entirely handmade, and I was going to send it to my mother. It had been blessed by the pope. I only had it a day and a half, however, when it turned up missing.

Mrs. Richard Krug, housewife, Indianapolis, Ind.—An expensive diamond wristwatch that wasn't all paid for. I had to keep up the payments just the same. It was stolen out of my car the day before Christmas while the car was parked in front of the home of a friend. I had neglected to lock the car.

Walter Wood, surveyor, 2703 Wilton av.—A cat's-eye, which is a rare stone found in certain islands in the Pacific. It was sent to me by my mother who worked in the San Francisco naval laundry. She found it in a uniform sent there for cleaning, and gave it to me to have polished. I put it in my pocket and it vanished.

Shirley Collier, secretary, Minneapolis, Minn.—My shoes! They were stolen from under a bench while I was at a skating rink. They were the only good shoes I had and I had just spent my last stamp for them. I had to walk home that night with my skates on and it took me just twice as long to finish the half mile walk.

Mrs. Irene Kienlen, housewife, 3545 S. Western av.—I lost my spirit of adventure after I married. I used to be especially risky with my life, doing anything new and daring. But since I got married and became a mother I have grown very conservative in my actions and now I never take any unnecessary risks.

Harry Stevens, welder, 1311 Bosworth av.—Somebody stole my automobile out of my garage. It was during the war and I didn't have a priority to get a new one. I've been without a car ever since it was stolen, and it is especially galling now that gas rationing has been lifted. I'm waiting for the new cars to come out.

Thru the Looking Glass

We couldn't count the number of women we've heard condemn hairdressers, individually and collectively, for giving them coiffures they couldn't comb themselves the day after they were in the shop. Some women mutter that the hairdressers are deliberate schemers, who want to make things complicated so the customer will come to the shop oftener. Others just abandon all idea of a change of hairdress once they've found one they can manage. We must admit we've gotten a little bitter on the subject ourselves occasionally.

We were delighted, therefore, to read some words of wisdom from the Coiffure Creation council in one of the trade publications. Describing the trend of the moment as "sideswept and upswept" and giving professional instructions on how to create such hair arrangments, the council also had this advice for hairdressers:

"If a customer's hair is to look its neatest at all times, not merely for the one day after it is dressed, but for all the days until her next hairdressing appointment, it is necessary for her to be able to whip her own hair into a becoming and fashionable coif. It is to the advantage of the hairdresser to take a few momehts to instruct a patron how to comb the particular coiffure which has been created for her. It is not enough just to tell the customer how to recomb her hair style. She must actually be SHOWN how each section is to be combed to achieve the completed effect."

This, we think, is wonderful advice. And the instruction service is one a woman should be permitted to ask for and obtain in the shop where she pays a fair price for her work. We're inclined to urge women to demand it.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

RIDERLESS HORSE

Bruce's hand found Linda's in pledge of what he said, and the pulse of her finger tips went thru him like a drink of strong wine. He could remember afterward that when he drew her to him she gave a little contented sigh as her arms went around his neck.

It might have been a minute later when young Cliff's voice brought them back to earth.

"Where is Sherrill at?" he asked. "Rod is ready to go."

His father answered. "He and Lindy stepped out somewhere."

Still in her lover's arms, Linda whispered quickly, "You won't go now."

"I've got to go," he told her.

"Not now that we have just found each other," she pleaded.

"I don't like it, but this is the way it has to be. I'll be careful. You needn't worry."

Her fingers bit into his arms. "I won't have it," she cried softly, passion in her voice. "You can't go. It's senseless—and insane. All he has to do is wait in the brush and shoot you."

"I'll be watching for him every minute."

"I thought you loved me," she protested. "If you do, you are part of my life. I have a right to help decide what you will do."

"Even you can't come between me and what I think right," his low words asked for understanding.

Her fear was accented by what she had gone thru a few hours earlier. "Listen, Bruce," she urged. "I didn't mean to tell you, but I must. This afternoon I met Bill Cairns on the ridge above the south line of the Diamond Tail. He raised his rifle to kill me—and didn't fire because he was afraid I wasn't alone. I told him my brothers were just over the hill gathering strays. That saved my life. But nothing would save yours if Milroy got the drop on you."

He stared at her, greatly disturbed. "He must have been bluffing, unless he has gone mad. Why would he hurt you?"

"I don't know why, except that father and Brand gave him a terrible beating. But he wasn't bluffing. I read murder in his awful face."

"Don't leave the ranch until I've settled with him," he ordered hoarsely. "Stay near the house. Never go riding."

"I won't, if you'll stay here too until Milroy is captured."

"I can't do that. Don't you see I can't, Linda. No use talking. I've got to go."

"I'm to do as you order, but it doesn't matter how much I worry when your silly pride tells you to go out and be murdered."

She walked down the porch and into the house. Without a moment's hesitation Sherrill repeated to her father what Linda had told him of her afternoon's danger. He could feel the girl's anger beating on him.

"You knew it was a secret," she said in hot scorn.

The shocked horror of Applegate found a vent in temper. "A secret when a villain threatens your life. Are you crazy, girl? It's our business to see he never gets another chance. It would have been a fine how-d'ye-do if Bruce had left without warning us."

After Rod and Bruce had gone Linda turned on her father, a stormy challenge in her eyes.

"I suppose you think it's right for him to strut around and get killed and wrong for me to stick my nose out of the house," she cried.

"Sherrill is a man and you're a girl. He has to play his cards the way they are dealt. Out in this country a man has to fight his own battles. With a woman it is different. It's our job to see she is safe."

Linda went upstairs to her room, bitterly resentful. She paced the room, eyes bleak and heart troubled. Her distress lay far deeper than her anger, which was for the hour only and not too serious.

Bruce Sherrill and Rod Randall jogged down the valley not too comfortable in each other's society. They had been enemies and still felt a sharp animosity. Tho they would probably never be friends, in their feeling was a mutual substratum of respect and even admiration.

Upon one subject they were agreed. Bill Cairns must be run out of the country or killed. Neither of them was sure that he had really intended to shoot Linda. Since he had evened the score with her father by wounding him, there did not seem to be any point in the wanton murder of Cliff's daughter.

At the cross roads they separated, Bruce to take the foothill trail and Rod to continue to the Diamond Tail.

Rod noticed there was no light in the office of his father. Usually the old man spent his evenings there working out his accounts. When Ned came out of the house to meet his brother, Rod flung at him a careless question.

"Where's the old man?"

Ned explained that he had ridden down to the south boundary cabin in the morning with a sack of provisions and that he ought to have been back before supper, but had not arrived. It was odd, Rod thought, that his father had taken the supplies himself instead of sending one of the riders.

It might be because he wanted to get away from the house, where he could see his men tearing down the wire on the government land above the valley.

Out of the gloom a saddled horse without a rider moved toward them.

"I'm Nig," Ned cried. "Father was riding him."

He ran forward and caught the bridle of the horse. To quiet the animal he laid a hand on its neck in reassurance. The boy looked at his hand, eyes dilated. There was blood on the palm and fingers.

"There's been an accident," he said, with a catch in his throat.

Rod's mind worked in flashes. This was no accident. If his father had been flung from the horse there would be no blood on Nig's neck. What he saw in imagination was old Jeff shot while in the saddle, probably in the head.

The older brother snapped out crisp orders. "Tell Yorky and Cash to saddle for a ride. Have Bud hitch the wagon, put some straw in the bed, and drive to the south boundary cabin. Say for them to be quiet about it. We don't want to worry Mary till it is necessary."

Ned got a sixshooter from the house and saddled a pony for himself. His brother made no objection. In a few minutes they were on their way. Bud would follow with the wagon.

They found Jeff Randall's body lying in the dust outside the cabin. He had been shot thru the forehead just above the eyes. There was a second wound in the body, from a revolver fired at close quarters into the heart. He had been dead a good many hours.

and Mrs. William F. Fielder of Berkeley, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ingram of Lake Forest.

Prof. Fielder and the former Josephine Wilson were married in Chicago in 1895. Prof. Fielder was an architect here after moving west from New York in 1885 and taught at the Chicago Technical college for 18 years as professor of architectural engineering, until he retired in 1939. Since then the Fielders have spent the summers at Lake Geneva and the winters either in California or Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Truesdale Jr. (Joan Sutter) have brought their new son, Michael Stevens, home to Wilmette from Evanston hospital, where he was born Aug. 8. The baby and his 3 year old brother, William III., are grandchildren of the Alvar R. Sutters and of Mr. and Mrs. Truesdale of Winnetka.

Service News

Good news was awaiting Mrs. Jacob Baur on her return from Beverly Hills, Cal., where she has been spending the summer with Mrs. William A. Yeager, in the form of a telegram reading, "Col. Jacob Baur Greiner Jr. will receive air force medal of merit in Washington Wednesday, Sept. 5." Col. Greiner, a grandnephew of Mrs. Baur's late husband, formerly lived in Wilmette but now lives in New York. Since his return from the Pacific his wife and their 11 year old daughter have been staying with him just outside Washington.

Col. Greiner's sister, Mrs. Cullen Landis of Detroit, Mich., has been spending the summer in Cheboygan, Mich., with their father, Mr. Greiner Sr.

Engagement News

From San Mateo, Cal., comes the announcement, made by Mrs. Roger Bocqueraz, of the engagement of her daughter, Marie-Louise, to Lt. Comdr. Donald C. Lahey of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Addis Lahey of Lake Shore dr. Miss Bocqueraz is a member of the San Francisco Junior league. She was graduated from the Sacred Heart convent in Menlo Park and studied in France. Comdr. Leahy attended St. John's Military academy and is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He received his commission in the first class to be graduated at Quonset, R. I. He served for more than two years in Alaska and Honolulu and now is stationed at Mills field, San Francisco, Cal., as liaison officer between the commercial air lines and the navy air forces. The wedding is planned for October.

Mrs. James H. Hensinger

Mrs. James H. Hensinger, the former Helen Marjorie Speed, and Ensign Hensinger are at home in Indian Head, Md., where both are stationed with the naval reserve, in which she holds a commission as ensign in the WAVES. They were married recently at the Highland Park home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kellogg Speed.

Joan Goodnow Becomes Bride of Lt. Karstrom

The Evanston home of the Samuel Walter Whites was the scene of the marriage at 8:30 o'clock last night of their niece, Miss Joan Goodnow, and Lt. [j. g.] Jack Karstrom of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Karstrom of Evanston. With her wedding ensemble the bride, a daughter of Mrs. Albert C. Goodnow of Evanston, formerly of Glencoe, wore the tulle veil in which her mother and Mrs. White were married.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Robert N. McGuire, and Lt. McGuire came from his post in Elizabeth City, N. C., to serve as matron of honor and usher. Lt. Karstrom's sister, AdaBell, was bridesmaid, and Lt. Richard West was best man. Lt. Karstrom returned last month from duty in the Pacific. After a wedding trip he will take his bride to Grosse Ile, Mich., where he is to report for duty Oct. 5.

Since Stephen Chase Jr. could not get a furlough from his duties at Navy pier, where he serves as a radio technician third class, he and his bride of Aug. 18 did not take a wedding trip but went directly to their apartment in Winthrop av. Mr. Chase and the former Elinor Jensen were married in the Highland Park home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Wolters. Because of the recent death of the bridegroom's mother, the ceremony was small, with only members of the two families present. The bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy E. Jensen, and her two sisters, Mary Ellen and Katherine, were here for the wedding from their home in Audubon, Ia.

Miss Nancy Chase was maid of honor for her new sister-in-law, and Mr. Chase Sr. of Kenilworth was his son's best man. The former Miss Jensen was graduated from Carleton college, at which Mr. Chase was a student before entering the navy.

In an afternoon ceremony Friday in the First Baptist church in Worcester, Mass., the Rev. Albert Buckner Coe of the First Congregational church of Oak Park will read the service uniting his son, Buckner Coe, and Miss Kathryn Wright Dowley in marriage. Miss Dowley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lentell Dowley of Boston. Mr. Coe will take his bride to New Haven, Conn., where he is completing his studies in the Yale divinity school and serving as assistant to the minister at the Church of Christ at Yale. Dr. Coe, who has been spending the summer with Mrs. Coe at their summer home in Meredith, N. H., will be back in his Oak Park pulpit Sunday.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 4—Jimmy Walker hasn't yet sold the story of his life, nor has he sold the "Life of the Fighting Roosevelts"—meaning Teddy's family. He'll have to get Alice Longworth's permission for that one. . . . I don't believe Metro will allow Elizabeth Taylor to go east to do a sad play. Elizabeth, who's never been on the stage, has vibrant health, and in the play the girl is a semi-invalid. In the third act her family sits around waiting for her death. . . . What goes with Paramount? They claim Alan Ladd walked out when he was getting $150,000 a year. Now they tell me they're trying to get Gary Cooper to replace Alan opposite Betty Hutton in "California." Cooper's salary is $150,000 per picture. Ladd's salary is $75,000 per year and he makes three pictures. Sometimes he gets a bonus and sometimes he doesn't. Isn't it about time we settle these differences in private instead of calling names in public? That hurts not only the stars but the studios where the stars bring in that do re mi.

Bathing Beauty to Bullfighter

Esther Williams, who dined at my house the other night, said the screen has been her greatest educator. She was signed for pictures because she was a champion swimmer with a streamlined body, and face to match. She's since learned to sing, dance, act a little, and in her next she's to be a bullfighter. She's practicing daily with a famous matador, and when she goes to Mexico she's going to face a real bull. "Aren't you afraid?" said I. "Not yet. They promised the bull would know me," quipped she. . . . You've heard how girls suffer to be made beautiful for the screen. Well, I know a beauty of the stage born with a round, cubby face. In order to elongate it she was advised to have her eight back teeth pulled. She did. Then there's a motion picture star, too, who had some teeth out to give that caved-in look to her face. I also know a woman in our town who was bowlegged, had both legs broke and reset. Later married a famous multi-millionaire. . . . Some surprise here that Marlene Dietrich has been house guesting with the Orson Welleses. They got chummy when he was doing his magic show and she was the lady who got cut in two.

Her Heart Belongs to New York

Mary Martin's first shot in "Night and Day" is the back of her head. When she turns around she's got her face buried in a slice of watermelon, simply because the part of Texas she hails from produces the largest watermelons. Doesn't matter where a Texan is, he'll always get in a plug for his state. Mary lunched at Paramount with Frank Freeman, Henry Ginsberg, Russell Holman and Edith Head. Then we went over to pay our respects to Bing on his set. They were working in a little wooded glen. Mary said, "I should be right in there singing with him." I've never seen a greater change in any one than in Mary since her New York success. She told about playing Detroit when Grace Moore and Zasu Pitts also were there. They got together for supper, and at 3:00 a. m. Mary was horrified to find herself singing Grace's famous aria from "Madame Butterfly."

This and That in Hollywood

Ann Lehr has set her seventh annual garden party on Sept. 15 and 16 at the Hollywood guild canteen. You can't afford to miss this. . . . Mona Maris goes to England for "South American Interlude." You'd think she'd go in the other direction. . . . Since Ida Lupino and Helmut Dantine went on a fishing party they're shopping for a boat. I suggest they contact the waitress at Universal who's got one for sale cheap. . . . For years the bridle path on Sunset blvd. has been turned over to weeds. But now Joe Schenck has made it his private promenade. Edgar Bergen watched him plodding along wearing three pairs of woolen undies under a heavy suit, sweating it out, and Bergen decided what the path needed was a horse. So he's taken over with a beautiful animal, and for company there's a beautiful blonde and another horse. . . . British Patricia Roc was introduced to Charles Laughton at Universal during lunch. "Ah," said Charles, "Rank is throwing 'rocks' at Hollywood." . . . Did you know what the Spanish call Hollywood. It's "the tomb of the artist."

'Twas the Heat, No Doubt

Warners had a slaphappy day last week. Ida Lupino protected her honor by laying a teeth-jarring slap across Robert Alda's face in "The Man I Love." Zachary Scott was whipping a nasty back handed slap to Harry Lewis' mouth in another picture, Charles Boyer took his temper out on Katina Paxinou's head, Apache fashion. Errol Flynn had a family row with Lucille Watson by a sneaky type of slap on you know where. Why not release all these pictures under one title—"He Who Gets Slapped"?

Schools Order DDT to Fight Danger of Polio

Two Cook county schools postponed starting their fall term because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis, and Chicago public school officials took emergency measures yesterday to prevent outbreak of the disease in the city's schools.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, said the Forest Ridge and Midlothian schools would not open until next Monday because of cases in those areas. The Forest Ridge school board reported one child was dead and two ill of infantile paralysis within its jurisdiction.

The Chicago board of education placed an order for 200 gallons of a 2 per cent solution of DDT, the new miracle insecticide, and will spray locker rooms, shower rooms, and lunch rooms in an attempt to rid the buildings of flies and other insects.

John Howatt, business manager for the board, said the insecticide probably would be delivered within a week and spraying would begin immediately. The work will be done at night, first in the high schools and then in the elementary schools.

Five new cases of infantile paralysis and two deaths over the holiday week-end were reported to the Chicago health department. Outside Chicago, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, Cook county health director, reported one new case and one death.

County schools also have made plans to use DDT to combat flies and insect pests, Puffer reported.

Approximately 75,000 pupils returned to the county schools on their opening day and 328,323 to the Chicago public schools. Several county schools will open later, bringing the total enrollment to about 100,000.

Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of Chicago elementary schools, reported an opening day enrollment of 228,525, more than 6,000 less than on the first day of school in 1944. By the end of the month enrollment is expected to be 246,000 in the grade schools.

Supt. Johnson attributed the decrease in enrollment to the facts that many transfers had not yet been issued, that many pupils are still working and will return to school later, and that a declining birth rate has affected the schools. At the end of the month the enrollment will approximate last year's 368,680, he said.

Stage Notes

Olsen and Johnson's "Laffing Room Only" will not arrive to open the new Shubert theater, the revamped Majestic, until Tuesday, Sept. 18, a day later than the original intention. The theater will be in readiness by the earlier date, but the show does not close in Detroit until Sept. 15 and two days are required to hang and set the 24 scenes.

Victor Sutherland, out of the first two performances of "The Overtons" at the Great Northern because of laryngitis, will join the company at this afternoon's matinee.

Have It Out with Fiance, Girl Advised

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is really unbelievable what some women will put up with as far as men are concerned without making a squawk. Here's a young woman of 22 who writes that she has been going with a man for four years. For some time they have been engaged to be married. Recently he has started going out with other girls. Since he is jealous, she never went out with other boys during those four years. He wouldn't allow it. She loves him and naturally is hurt. What, she asks, should she do.

Our advice to this young woman is to have it out with her fiance in a dignified way, and find out just what his intentions are. A four year monopoly ending up in an engagement, suddenly interrupted by the man's taking out other girls with no explanation, certainly calls for a show down. The man obviously is not taking the engagement seriously. If, after a have-it-out talk with her fiance, this girl does not arrive at a satisfactory understanding, the engagement should be broken. Even tho she loves him she's wasting her time if she doesn't know what the score is as far as his plans for the future are concerned. He doesn't look like a very good bet for a husband in the light of his present actions.

We'd suggest that if he doesn't buckle down to being a faithful fiance she'd better go out with other men. So far she's had no chance to find out whether there might not be some other man she'd fall in love with who would be more dependable. If this man backs out of the picture now she's already wasted plenty of time.

Private Funds Sought to Open Cicero Nursery

Plans for soliciting private funds with which to reopen the Cicero Welfare nursery, 2345 S. 52d av., Cicero, which was closed last Friday by the town's board of education, were formulated last night by the Juvenile Welfare council, meeting at the Cicero Welfare center, Cermak rd. and 54th av. in the suburb. George Gasa was named president of the council, Mrs. William Bzdyl, vice president; Mrs. D. Soldat, secretary, and Mrs. A. Del Preto, treasurer. Approximately 45 children were cared for by the nursery, which has been operating for three years.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Different Objectives

It might be helpful to offer a reminder that there are two separate points of view about white collar girl careers.

One is that of the "marking time" young woman who uses business to fill in the years between school and marriage. In this group are many service men's sweethearts or wives, working until their men are back home and ready to undertake the support of a wife and family.

The "marking time" white collar girl is not overwhelmingly ambitious. Tho she does her work conscientiously, she will tell you frankly she is not in business to stay.

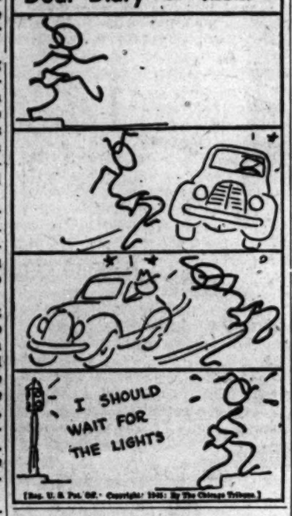
The other point of view is that of the woman who is in business to stay. She may be a woman of such gifts as to find a career her natural setting. Or she may be one who carries responsibilities within the home circle—the support, perhaps, of relatives, or the expense of educating younger brothers and sisters. Her ambitions quite naturally are different from those of the "marking time" white collar girl.

Both points of view deserve respect; each makes a contribution to business. We need to understand this: We can be allies in winning recognition for women even tho our objectives are different.

Not the Slightest

Notice one of the post-war promises is men's trousers that do not lose their crease. Is this of the slightest interest to knee-perchin' secretaries? POOR RICHARD.

Dear Diary BY BECKY



How to Dictate

A few additions:

Always keep a thick cigar in the corner of your mouth halfway down your throat and attempt to dictate around it; this is much better than a mouthful of soup or oatmeal.

Be certain to come into the office late Saturday afternoon [first appearance of the day], preferably about 5:55 before a two-day holiday, and dictate for a couple of hours. Your secretary is always glad to give up the little trip she had planned for the holiday.

Have your stenographer read back every long letter and interrupt, saying, "I didn't say anything like that." Wonderful what that does to one's disposition.

Call your stenographer in for dictation while holding a conference with several gentlemen and let her sit there while you discuss "railroading" as it used to be. She's terribly interested, and of course it keeps her from getting out the stack of dictation that "simply must go out on the night train."

THE HILL BILLY STENOG.

Lines to a Soldier

Can you turn a glamor miss

Typing, shorthand, daily chores,

Can you, a la Hollywood,
Give me charms? [I wish you could!]

How to be your lovely pin-up!

National Club Federation Plans Regional Meeting

The first of eight regional conferences planned for fall by the National Federation of Women's clubs will be held in Chicago Sept. 14 and 15. Mrs. Guy Patterson Gannett of Portland, Me., national president, will be here for the meeting, which will take place in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The conference will center on post-war planning. Among guest speakers will be Dr. Ira M. Altshuler, noted psychiatrist, who will address the conference on the first evening.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	Pass	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trumps	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trumps	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: two of diamonds.

Today's hand is from one of the early matches in the Masters' Team of Four championships at the recent National tournament. In this event total point scoring is used and honors are counted in contrast with other duplicate events in which honors are ignored. The bidding given above was that employed by our opponents. When I held the South hand I actually went on to four hearts and was defeated two tricks when the king, ace, and another club put East in to return a spade. The honors offset the two trick penalty and there was no score. In the post-mortem discussion one of our adversaries pointed out that game at no trump could be made. I countered with the suggestion that a spade opening would defeat the contract, tho frankly I had little faith in our teammates selecting such a lead. East stoutly maintained, and there is no gainsaying him, that the two of diamonds would have been his opening shot.

I was in no mood to lose an argument, which is usually the case when I am set two tricks in a contract I have reached on my own power. Even with a diamond opening, I persisted, the contract could be defeated by the return of the king of spades which would shut out the run of the heart suit. "Yes," retorted West, "but who would think of that?"

At the conclusion of the match we compared notes with our teammates, Sidney Silodor and Mrs. W. Wagar of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Wagar opened the two of diamonds and, to use her words, "Sidney had the king of spades out on the table almost before he had played the ace of diamonds."

The king of spades at trick two is a logical play. It sacrifices one trick in that suit but more than makes up for it by shutting out the heart suit. If declarer has a singleton heart or even two small hearts this will be the winning play. If declarer has the ace and another heart it is doubtful that the contract can be defeated. The defense took in three club tricks and two diamonds to defeat the contract.

CUBS PLAY GIANTS 2 TODAY; BITHORN ON WAY

PRACTICE? NOT WHEN REDSKINS BATTLE BEARS

Tuesday's Game Is For Keeps

BY EDWARD PRELL

When George Preston Marshall, the Washington loud speaker, was in Chicago for the College All-Star game last week he spent much of his time broadcasting optimistic reports on his Redskin football team. Whether this is fact or fiction may be at least partially settled next Tuesday night when the Redskins meet the Bears in Soldiers' field. This is one of the many previews scheduled thruout the middle west and east before the 10 National Football league teams start the 1945 race in earnest.

George Marshall

In defending these so-called nonchampionship games, a label given them by the National league, the various owners and coaches declare the exhibitions are just as hard fought as if they went down in the standings. It is a matter of record that many teams suffered vital losses by injuries in these extracurricular shows.

The Bears Recall This One

A couple of years ago the Giants wrecked several Bear regulars in a nonchampionship number. Marshall Goldberg's last season with the Cards was a complete washout when he suffered a broken leg against the Redskins in a nonchampionship game in Buffalo.

Last year the Bears and Redskins got together before 35,000 in Baltimore and Marshall's team won, 21 to 7, in a widely advertised clash of rival T formation man in motion systems. They did not play each other during the regular season, but the schedule calls for them to collide in Washington on Nov. 18.

This is the Bears' only game in the eastern sector this season and may be a break for the other title aspirants in that division, the Giants and Eagles. Last year the Bears played only Philadelphia in the eastern division, much to the Eagles' distress. All the Bears did was knock them off and help put the Giants in the play-off against the Packers for the league title.

They're Old Rivals

Washington has been most successful of the eastern elevens against the Bears. They've met for the league championship four times since 1937, each winning twice. In regular games during the season in this span they likewise have divided four decisions. Most famous game of the lot, of course, was the Bears' 73 to 0 rout of the Redskins in Washington for the 1940 title.

The Redskins, coached by scholarly Dud de Groot for the second season, have most of their veterans back in addition to a number of new men. Among the freshmen are John Adams, 6 foot 7 inch 235 pound tackle from Notre Dame and Earl Audet, 6 foot 252 pounder from Southern California who also is a tackle.

All of the regular backs are in camp at Georgetown university. Sam Baugh and Frank Filchock again will take turns operating the T from quarter back, unless de Groot figures out a back field combination employing both at the same time. It's a certainty that the Bears will have Sid Luckman, setting up another duel in the long series between the league's two greatest passers.

They're Pretty Good

Other Redskin backs are Wilbur Moore, Bob Seymour, Frank Seno, Mike Micka, and Frank Akins. Among the ends of Wayne Millner, former Notre Dame star, who is returning after military service, and Joe Aguirre.

The Bears continued their three-a-day sessions in Collegeville, Ind., yesterday. Their program includes practice from 8 to 11 a. m., from 3 to 5 p. m., and an hour and a half classroom meeting after dark. The emphasis yesterday was on spread plays, passes, and drill in getting into and out of the huddle.

REDSKINS SIGN DUKE STAR

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Winston Siegfried, 190 pound full back of the Duke university 1941 Rose bowl team, has been signed by the Washington Redskins of the National Football league.

BY ARCH WARD

TUG WILSON, Western conference athletic commissioner, was guest at a recent banquet in Detroit. . . . When the talk turned to the Tigers and their chances to beat the Cubs, if and when the two teams meet in the world series, Tug was asked whether he thought the Tigers should be allowed to use Pitcher Virgil Trucks, provided he gets his discharge from the navy. . . . "As a rabid Cub fan," answered Wilson, "I would say Trucks should be barred, by all means." . . . Jesse Owens is one of those who do not believe Gunder Hagg ever will attain the 4 minute mile. . . . "Every athlete has one great day in which he reaches the peak of his career," explains Jesse. "I had my great day at Ann Arbor on May 25, 1935, at the Western conference meet in which I set three new world records and tied another. . . . I had everything that afternoon. . . . Nothing bothered me. My reactions were as sharp as a razor's edge. I never have reached that peak since. . . . Hagg had his great day when he ran his 4:01:04 mile. Had Arne Andersson pushed him he would have achieved the 4 minute goal in that race. He never will be as perfectly attuned again." . . . Jack Zeller, the Detroit Tigers' general manager, is studying a new lighting system in which the illumination would be provided by tubular strips instead of separate bulbs. . . . These strips, engineers say, would follow the outlines of the grandstand and bleachers, thus eliminating shadows as well as the unsightly towers which characterize the present system. . . . Zeller explains, however, that the Tigers have no intention of playing more than seven home games a season at night. . . . The Tigers are one club which does not need any artificial stimulation at the gate. . . .

The New York Yankees, famed in other years for base cleaning sluggers, had left 916 runners stranded at the close of business Aug. 30. . . . Incidentally, Bud Metheny, Nick Etten, Herschel Martin, George Stirnweiss, and Oscar Grimes of the New Yorkers all have 100 or more hits apiece. . . . The Oakmont Country club course near Pittsburgh is rated the toughest golf layout in the United States, but Pine Valley in New Jersey is a close second in the opinion of the game's leading players. . . . Red Smith, who doubles as coach of the Cubs and assistant to Steve Owen, boss of the New York football Giants, is helping the latter just now at the pro eleven's Bear Mountain camp, but he'll be back for the world series, if there is one in Chicago. . . . Clark Shaughnessy still is turning out pamphlets on the football formation he made famous. . . . His most recent was entitled "The Modern T Formation with a Man in Motion." . . . A forthcoming one will be "The Inside of the T." . . . Things are looking up in the Detroit Lions' camp. . . . Altho Frankie Sinkwich, now in the army air forces, will not be available, every other regular member of the team which won its last five games last fall will be on hand when the season opens. . . . That five straight is the best string a Lion eleven has set up since 1934. . . .

A Small Boy's Idea of Heaven

A place with trees and hills to climb
When Nature calls to him
A pool in which to swim.

A place with pantries full of cakes,
Or cookies, crisp and brown,
Where there can be no stomach aches
For castor oil to drown.

A place with streams alteem with fish
Of ev'ry size and sort
Where he may gratify his wish
For restful outdoor sport.

A place where necks, and hands, and ears,
Tho smeared with dirt and grime,
May go unwashed thruout the years
Of never ending time!

So Live Today

Some folks are ever turning back
Upon the road of life,
In memory seeking surcease
From this day's care and strife.

Whilst others seek the day to come,
Wishing life away,
Expecting what [God only knows]
Will come another day.

'Tis best we live today instead,

Tomorrow an unknown deal.
So play the cards of life today

CARDS REMAIN 4 GAMES BACK; TIE PITTSBURGH

Play Halted in 12th of 8-8 Contest

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied today to gain an 8 to 8 tie in 11⅓ innings with the St. Louis Cardinals in one of the wildest National league games played here this season.

The tie left the second place Cardinals four games behind the league leading Chicago Cubs, who were idle today.

The Cardinals had a six-run lead going into the sixth inning, but the Pirates rallied for five runs to pull within one of a tie. From that point on, both Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pirates and Billy Southworth of the Cards paraded relief pitchers and pinch batters into the three-hour and 16-minute game with monotonous regularity.

They'll Not Meet Again

When hostilities ended at 5:16 p. m. by agreement to allow the Pirates to catch a train, Frisch had sent 20 players into the game, Southworth 16.

Play was stopped in the last half of the 12th inning after one pitch.

Since the clubs are not scheduled to play each other again this season, the game probably will not be concluded and thus will not figure in the standings of either.

It was Trout's 14th victory, Al Gettel's sixth setback and the 12th time the Yankees have been shut out this season.

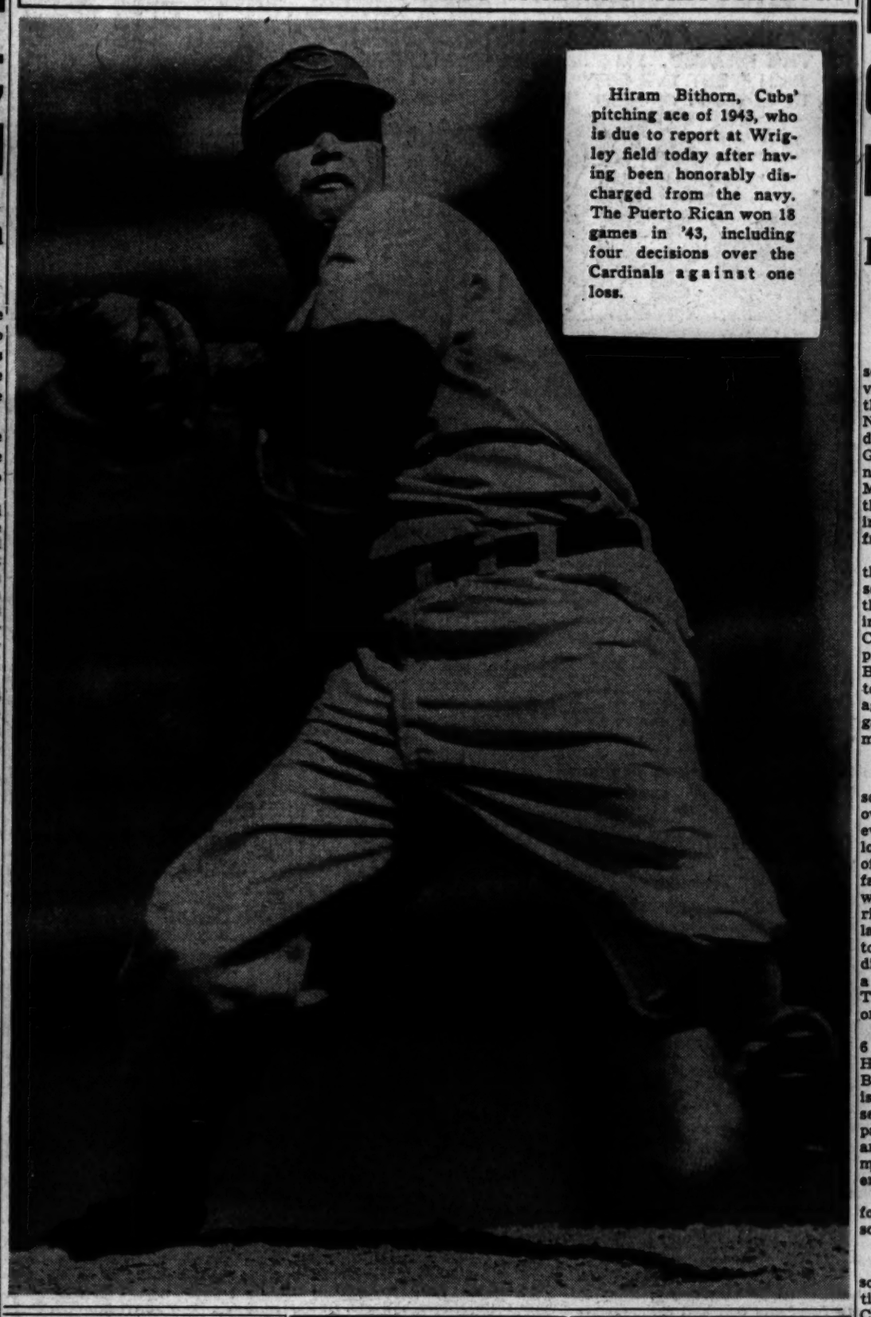
Beer Guzzling Muskie Comes to Usual End

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 4 [Special]—Louis McIntyre, Beloit policeman, returned from a fishing vacation at Rhinelander with two trophies, a 21¾ pound muskellunge and a bottle of beer—the bottle was found lodged in the fish's stomach.

McIntyre said that the fish battled for 35 minutes before being subdued and after taking it to a taxidermist at Merrill, Wis., he found to his amazement that the fish contained a full capped bottle of beer.

CUB FANS WEEL LIKE THEES—HIRAM'S RETURNING!



Hiram Bithorn, Cubs' pitching ace of 1943, who is due to report at Wrigley field today after having been honorably discharged from the navy. The Puerto Rican won 18 games in '43, including four decisions over the Cardinals against one loss.

WISCONSIN ADDS NAVY ELEVEN TO '45,'46 SCHEDULE

Madison, Wis., Sept. 4 [Special]—Coach Harry Stuhldreher of the University of Wisconsin today announced the signing of a home and home agreement with the United States Naval academy for two football games. The Badgers will meet the Navy eleven on Nov. 17 of this year in Baltimore and the Middies will come to Madison in 1946.

The scheduling of the game came as a result of the cancellation of the Pre-Flight school's schedules. The Badgers were originally booked to play the Iowa Seahawks in Madison on that date, while Navy was to oppose the North Carolina eleven.

Stuhldreher, speaking today at the annual kickoff luncheon, praised his squad despite the lack of experience. He singled out Dick Kreml of Austin High school, Chicago; George Fuchs, last year with Great Lakes; Buck Chaney, a half back; Bob Shea, a tackle from Waukegan; Eugene Johnson, a guard from Milwaukee, and Ray Mals, an end from the North Caroline Pre-Flight, as the outstanding new men.

N. W. STEPS UP DRILL

Football practice got underway in full swing at Northwestern university yesterday as Monday's opening day turnout of 30 players was more than doubled by the addition of navy trainees and other late arrivals. Still unreported are a quartet of freshmen, Jim Farrar, quarter back, Cleveland, and Rog Geir, half back, Ray Oldach, full back, and Chuck Hagmann, tackle, of Erie, Pa. All four are expected to be on hand today.

Jerry Vick, 6 foot 4 inch end, from Miami, Fla., became the season's first casualty when he suffered a turned ankle.

The list of returning letter men was increased to seven yesterday with the arrival of Duane Peterson, center, from Minot, N. D. Peterson, a sophomore civilian, earned a letter as a freshman last year. Peterson is the only center with previous varsity experience at that position.

Lt. Jack Berner, Former Illini, Dies Overseas

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 4 [Special]—Lt. Jack Berner, one of Illinois' greatest football players of recent years, died Aug. 17 in Europe of a heart ailment, it was learned here today. Berner had been overseas a year and had coached a team in the Nuernberg, Germany, track games, held last month for the forces of occupation.

Lt. Jack Berner

Berner played tackle and quarter back for Illinois in 1935-36-37 and was elected captain of the 1937 team after Lowell Spurgeon was forced out for the season by injury.

He coached football at Freeport [Ill.] High school from 1939 thru 1941.

INGWERSEN AND MEAGHER MAY LEAVE NAVY SOON

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Some of the country's leading coaches and athletic directors who have been serving in the navy's pre-flight athletic program soon will be free to return to civilian life.

Among those eligible for discharge under the navy's 49 point system are Burt Ingwersen, who has signed as an assistant football coach at the University of Illinois; Jack Meagher of Alabama Polytechnic, who will coach the Miami [Fla.] eleven in the All-America conference; Harvey Harman, Rutgers; Sam Barry, Southern California, and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist.

The navy recently announced cancellation of football schedules at pre-flight schools in Iowa, Georgia, and North Carolina. About 70 per cent of the players who would have been candidates for those teams will be eligible for discharge this month. Most are expected to bolster college teams this fall.

CAN'T SALVAGE GAMES

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 4 (AP)—Attempts of the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks to salvage the first two games on their canceled football schedule failed today when navy officials refused to permit the games. Ohio State, which was to have been played here Sept. 22, and Minnesota, which the Seahawks were to have met Sept. 29 at Minneapolis, will be notified tomorrow that the games are off, Pre-Flight officials said.

SOX, A'S OPEN 7 GAME SERIES AT DUSK TODAY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4—The White Sox were called upon today for nothing more exciting than catching a train for Philadelphia but they will begin tomorrow to pay off for the leisure. Because of rains earlier in the season they must go thru seven games in the next four days and to make it worse it involves night and twilight ball as well as the eighth place Athletics.

The Philadelphia stay will run something like this unless the principals are able to think up some new form of daffiness: a twilight-night double header tomorrow, two games each on the afternoons of Thursday and Friday, and a single game Saturday afternoon. This should put the Sox in a delightful frame of mind for a double header Sunday with Washington's ambitious Senators.

The pitching demands are going to be so terrific for the next several days that Manager James Dykes is thinking of trying out Joe Haynes in the twilight half of tomorrow's program.

Haynes still is limping a bit as the result of the fracture two months ago of his right ankle, but thinks he is strong enough to get around on the mound. If he wants to start tomorrow evening he can have the job, otherwise it will be Orval Grove, who was knocked out in one inning by the Tigers yesterday. The night game will be Earl Caldwell's problem.

PITCHING STAR OF 1943 GETS NAVY RELEASE

Prim and Passeau to Face New York

BY EDWARD BURNS

Senor Hiram Bithorn, who pitched seven shutouts in 1943 among his 18 victories, is due to rejoin the Cubs this afternoon in time to watch the National league first placers play a double header with the New York Giants in Wrigley field. The announcement was made by General Manager Jim Gallagher, who said the big fellow last was heard from in New York after his discharge from the navy.

When the speed ball pitcher left the Cubs at the end of the 1943 season he was their top man and not the least factor in gaining this rating was four victories over the Cardinals in five decisions. He pitched two-hitters against the Braves and Cards and held the Reds to three hits. His earned run average was 2.59 and he dropped 12 games for a team which lost five more games than it won that year.

Cards Are Easy for Hi

While the Cubs have had no reason to hang their heads in shame over the conduct of their pitchers, even in the hysterical string of losses to the Cardinals, the return of Senor Bithorn may be a tonic factor in the five remaining games with the 1944 champions. The big right hander has not pitched since last June, but will have two weeks to get ready for a crack at the Cardinals. On Sept. 18 the Cubs open a three game series in St. Louis. The Cards will play in Wrigley field on Sept. 25-26.

Bithorn is 29, stands an inch over 6 feet, and weighs 205 pounds. Hiram's last name is pronounced Bee-thorn and he's of Spanish-Danish descent. In his last days of navy service Hiram was engaged in patrol duty off the coast of Florida and has been visiting with his mother and sister in New York. He entered the navy Nov. 26, 1943.

Hiram came to the Cubs in 1942 for $7,500 from Hollywood. That season he won 9 and lost 14.

It's Prim and Passeau Today

Ray Prim and Claude Passeau, somewhat aroused by recent adversities, are slated to pitch for the Cubs today against the Giants. Both were beaten in St. Louis last weekend, each victimized by erratic support. Ray and Claude should be all right with the Cub infield quieted down after the St. Louis scare.

In two Giant-Cub games in New York on Aug. 19 Prim won, 3 to 1, then Hank Borowy beat his former neighbors, 7 to 0. The Cubs rejoiced in their 7½ game lead, hungered for a fatter edge. The Giants had scored only one run in a double header. Charley Grimm's boys scarcely could wait for the two remaining games in the Polo Grounds.

But something went amiss. On the night of Aug. 20. Van Mungo and the Giants beat Hank Wyse, 9 to 3, and on Aug. 21 the Giants beat Passeau, 4 to 3, with two runs in the ninth inning.

The Cubs left New York launched on what proved to be a five game losing streak, a streak which shrunk their lead to 2½ games in five playing days.

Giants Still Ambitious

The Giants are pretty much out of pennant contention themselves but they have a furious incentive to supplant the Dodgers in third place. They also are close enough to out-of-the-money fifth place to be in danger of reclining there if they get lazy. The Cubs will go into today's games four games ahead of the Cards, who played an 11⅓ inning tie with the Pirates yesterday.

Tho the Giants are nine and one-half games behind the Cubs, they enjoy the distinction of being one of the two clubs up on the Chicagoans in the team against team series. They have whipped the Cubs nine times in 17 attempts.

While the Cubs are battling the Giants the Braves will be in St. Louis for a series in which all games will be played at night. The Braves have faded 23½ games off the National league pace but they still have a much better record against the Cards than have the Cubs. After the current series the Giants will go to St. Louis and the Braves will come to Wrigley field.

O, That Nuisance Game

The Phillies will follow the Braves into Wrigley field. Then, thank goodness, the Dodgers will come to town and get that suspended nuisance game into the National league standings—standings which have been officially phony ever since the gumup was perpetrated on July 20 to enable the Dodgers to catch a 4 o'clock train for a night game to be started in St. Louis 28½ hours later.

It is said the hangover scheme of fractional double header manufacture may be abandoned next year, at least in cases where Sunday curfew laws are not involved.

Mauriello Knocks Out White in Fourth Round

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, knocked out Johnny White of Jersey City in 53 seconds of the fourth round of their scheduled 10 round bout at Queensboro arena tonight. Mauriello weighed 200 and White 212.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 4 [Special]—Notre Dame started preparations for its 57th season of intercollegiate football this afternoon, when 130 candidates for the 1945 team turned out for the opening practice.

Included in the group who reported to Coach Hugh Devore and his assistants were nine monogram winners from last year, plus 11 other squad members from 1944 who did not win letters. Capt. Frank Szymanski, center, led the group of monogram winners, which included Frank Dancewicz, quarter back; Elmer Angsman, full back; Marty Wedell, full back; Joe Gasparella, quarter back; Bob Skoglund, end; Pete Beremzey, tackle; Fred Roval, guard, and John Mastrongelo, guard.

Among the outstanding new men reporting were Half Back Phil Colella, a navy dischargee from Rochester, Pa.; Matt Maryanski, tackle, and Tom Potter, guard, both of whom are discharged service men, and both of whom won monograms at Fordham in 1942, and John [Pep] Panelli, right half back.

FIFTY REPORT AT PURDUE

La Fayette, Ind., Sept. 4 [Special]—A squad of 50 candidates reported to Coach Cecil Isbell today for Purdue's initial fall football practice.

Following a short session in which he emphasized the necessity for quick conditioning in order to prepare for the season's opener with Marquette here two weeks from Saturday, Isbell promptly launched a brisk outdoor drill in which passing and putting predominated.

MICHIGAN BEARS DOWN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 4 [Special]—Kicking and passing will be emphasized in Michigan football drills for the remainder of the week, according to Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler.

Crisler said, however, that heavy scrimmage will be a part of each drill period until he giyes the squad a rest for its opening game with Great Lakes in the Michigan stadium Sept. 15.

WENSKUNAS AT CENTER

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 4 [Special]—Mack Wenskunas, Georgetown, Ill., center on the 1942 Illinois football team, returned to that position today after a six week summer trial at full back.

Wenskunas did not jump to the first team, however. That post was retained by George Bujan, Christopher, Ill., the regular center in 1944. Wenskunas was on the second team, with Al Dobbeck, Elmhurst, Ill., freshman on the third.

82 HOOSIERS IN DRILL

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 4 [Special] — Speed was emphasized by Coach Bo McMillin today as he put his 52 man Indiana university football squad thru two drills. A kicking session closed the day's work, with End Ted Kluszewski and Freshman Back George Taliaferro doing most of the work as John Cannady, junior full back, rested an injured leg.

BUCKEYES GET PLAYS

Columbus, O., Sept. 4 [Special]—The addition of two plays brought the total to six today as the Ohio State football team worked out under a hot sun.

The status of Capt. Bill Hackett, suffering from the results of an auto accident following the close of the 1944 season, will be determined in the next two weeks, according to Dr. Walter G. Duffee, team physician.

75 OUT AT MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4 [Special]—Scrimmage was on the program for the University of Minnesota football squad today as it swung into its second day of fall practice. A squad of 75 players reported.

NORTH SHORE TO END 1945 GOLF SCHEDULE TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The North Shore Golf league, oldest of the Chicago district's interclub clans, today will wind up its regular 1945 competitive schedule with a final session at Ridgemoor. The team compiling the most points for the seasonal series of eight matches will represent the league in the Chicago District Golf association's anhual interleague championship battle, scheduled for next Wednesday at Glen Oak. Calumet will be the standard bearer of the South District league, which completed play last month, while the West District league will determine its titleholder tomorrow at Brookwood.

The final North Shore series today will be a position round, bringing together the first and second place scorers to date, the third and fourth, etc. The pairings for the finishing round, with current standings in brackets, follows:

Westmoreland [40] vs. Sunset Ridge [33½].

North Shore [31] vs. Skokie [31].

Ridgemoor [29½] vs. Park Ridge [24].

The West District league finale at Brookwood tomorrow promises a thriller in the match between the present leader, Riverside, which has 125½ points, and Brookwood, defending interleague champion, which has scored 115 to date. Twenty-seven Nassau points will be at stake in each of the west siders' matches.

The fourth annual Decatur $3,000 Open golf tournament will be held on Sept. 22 and 23 at the South Side Country club, Decatur, Ill., Chairman D. W. Robinson announces. The tourney, with 18 holes on the 22d and 54 on the 23d, is expected to draw a field of 150 players. The professional prize list is headed by first award of $1,000 in cash.

The Rockford Country club has been eliminated as a site for the 1945 championship event of the Illinois section of the P. G. A. The club had been interested in the tourney but dropped plans after the city's health officials advised against it because of the polio epidemic. Rockford folks, however, indicated to Tournament Chairman Bill Gordon of Tam O' Shanter and Rehabilitation Chairman Harry Adams of St. Charles, that they will entertain the 1946 tournament, probably with a June date. The 1945 show now probably will go to a Chicago district club, with Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 as likely dates. The 54 hole test will incorporate a pro-amateur event involving members of the host club.

The Illinois P. G. A.'s rehabilitation committee also has scheduled two other pro-amateur sessions, the first on Sept. 16 at Beverly and the second on Sept. 23 at St. Charles.

The annual meeting and two-ball foursome competition of the Chicago Women's District Golf association will be held Friday at the Midlothian Country club. During the last summer 1,500 hospitalized service men from Vaughan, Great Lakes, and Gardiner were given special golf outings by the C. W. D. G. A. at various clubs thruout the district. These included caddies, luncheons, liquid refreshments, golf, swimming, putting contests, prizes and greens fees. Figured in terms of dollars and cents, the clubs contributed approximately $9,000 to this cause.

Rose Folder Pitches One-Hitter for Bluebirds

Pitcher Rose Marie Folder last night turned in a one-hit game to give the Bluebirds a 3 to 0 victory over the Queens in Bidwill stadium while the Music Maids continued their winning ways in National Girls Softball league while defeating the Chicks, 9 to 1, in Rock-Ola stadium.

Bryan Wise's Bushwhacker, upset winner of the $5,000 Discovery handicap last week, will carry top weight into today's $10,000 Marathon handicap at Washington Park. The 7 year old son of Chance Shot has been allotted 122 pounds for the two and one-sixteenth mile affair, five more than K. G. Marshall's War Struggle will carry.

Ten thorobreds with reputations for stamina are expected to go postward in this grand finale of turf course features at the Homewood track. The 64 day coördinated Arlington-Washington park meeting will end tomorrow.

Two Grass Court Victories

War Struggle's consistent efforts have earned him two grass course victories, one at a mile and a quarter and the other at a mile and a sixteenth. He also has been narrowly beaten several times on the turf. He finished fourth to Take Wing, Layout, and Sirde in the Meadowland handicap.

Clyde Troutt's Cerberus is next in line with 114 pounds, four more than he carried in defeating Ava Delight more than a length in the $10,000 Epinard grade handicap three weeks ago.

$146.20 Daily Double

The semi-final day's program attracted some 12,500 as compared with Monday's Labor day crowd of 42,543 which established a new high for Illinois racing. The mutuel handle also reached a new peak, $2,281,043. The previous attendance mark was 41,706, set on Labor day last year, and the former betting mark was $2,092,018, made July 4 this year.

Howard Oot's Jeems [$20.60] and Mrs. L. H. Thompson's Okabena [$12.00] won the first two races and provided a $146.20 daily double.

Harmony Now Wins Sixth

Harmony Now, Ben Endovina's fast son of Menow, made the featured sixth race a breeze for his fifth victory in six starts. Billy Nichols booted in the 1 to 4 favorite three and one-half lengths in front of Calumet farm's Smart Play. Shady Brook farm's Sandslinger was third in an eight horse field. The winner paid $2.60.

The day's mutuel handle was $886,077.

BILL TOBIN FINDS THINGS LOOKING UP FOR HAWKS

Tobin said he had talked to Red Hamill, rough and rapid forward, in Toronto and that Red told him he had played a lot of hockey in England and would be in tip top shape early in the training season.

The Black Hawk prexy also came to a salary agreement with Reg Hamilton, whom the Hawks acquired from Toronto a month ago.

In his bulletin Tobin said he had been advised that Goalie Sammy LoPresti has been notified he will be discharged from the coast guard in 10 days and that Defenseman Johnny Mariucci will be out of the same branch of the service in time to report for spring training.

ODT APPROVES TITLE BOWLING MEETS IN 1946

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Bowling's major events today were restored to the sports calendar for 1946 by the office of defense transportation.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, told tenpin officials that it would be all right to go ahead and plan to hold tournaments next spring.

These events will include the American Bowling Congress tournament in Buffalo, N. Y., the National Duckpin meet in Providence, R. I., and the Woman's International tournament in Kansas City.

All Curbs to Be Off

Johnson said that "we never commit ourselves definitely more than 60 days before an event is to be held," but added:

"There is no doubt in my mind that all restrictions will be off long before March or April. Travel may still be crowded then, but the urgency of the transportation situation will be over."

John Canelli, vice president of the National Bowling Congress, told a reporter that a telephone vote of an eight-man emergency committee would be taken immediately to schedule the ABC, world series of bowling.

Expect Women to Follow Suit

It was assumed that the women would follow the lead of the ABC in resuming their annual championships early next year.

Bowling was one of the first sports to curtail competition drastically and Johnson remarked that bowling really coöperated in readjusting to war time conditions.

The last ABC tournament was held in Detroit in 1940, and approximately 30,000 persons participated. Approximately 10,000 enter the Woman's International and more than 5,000 roll in the National duckpins.

Johnson's action also applies to smaller tournaments which were curtailed or dropped during war time.

SHOTGUN SHELLS AWAIT HUNTERS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—South Dakota pheasant hunters will find a good supply of shotgun shells on store shelves when their season opens Sept. 29.

The war production board last week eased its restrictions on the sale of sporting ammunition. Sen. Gurney [R., S. D.] said today he was informed that a million shells already have been allocated to South Dakota hunters, and that more will be available later this month.

1941 RATE GOAL OF OLDSMOBILE BY END OF YEAR

Production to Start Next Month

BY PHILIP HAMPSON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 4—The Oldsmobile division of General Motors corporation expects that by Jan. 1 it will be in production at an annual rate equivalent to the 1941 output, officials said here today. Production is scheduled to start early next month.

Oldsmobile's pre-war record output was in 1941, when 265,000 cars were produced. Future planning provides for an eventual annual production of 450,000 cars.

Reconversion at the Lansing plant is proceeding on schedule and about 7,500 workers of the war time total of 10,000 are on the pay roll. Full employment by the middle of October is expected.

Start Lowest Priced Last

The first cars will be two door club sedans with six and eight cylinder engines, both in the company's medium price range. They will be followed by four door sedans in the same series. Then will come the series 98 big eight, the most expensive line. Last to be produced will be its lowest priced line, the series 66 six cylinder four door models.

Officials said the body supply situation is favorable and the outlook for materials to maintain production schedules fair.

The 1946 models will have numerous improvements and refinements over the 1942 cars. Among these will be a stronger and more efficient hydramatic drive with improvements developed as a result of building this transmission, which does away with all gear shifting, for army tanks. More than 20,000 were built for the T-24 light tanks alone.

Improve Shift to Reverse

Numerous changes have been made in transmission, including a new hydraulic reverse synchronizer providing much easier and smoother shifting to reverse.

Indicating how well the pre-war hydramatics have stood up, Oldsmobile recently received a letter from an Abilene, Tex., oil operator who reported mileage of 305,000 on a 1940 series 76 model, 209,000 on a 1942 series 66, and 145,000 on a 1942 series 98 and the cars still going strong.

Engine improvements include electro hardened aluminum alloy pistons, said to mean less bearing wear, longer engine life, and quieter operation. New connecting rods are lighter than the 1942 type, but are stronger.

The new Oldsmobiles will be shown to the public in Chicago at the Drake hotel Sept. 16 to 30.

BRIGGS STRIKE TO END; HUDSON PLANTS CLOSED

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4 [Special]—Members of the CIO United Automobile Workers local 212 voted tonight to end a strike of 3,000 employes which today closed seven Briggs Manufacturing company auto parts plants. Three Hudson Motor Car company divisions were made idle as 6,000 CIO-UAW production employes joined 500 foremen on strike in protest of demotion of a foreman.

The Ford Motor company said 1,500 workers in branch plants in Edgewater, N. J., Louisville, Ky., and Dallas, Tex., were laid off as a result of the continuing Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company strike, which already had forced idleness for 3,300 Ford employes in Detroit. A half dozen other automotive supplier plants were tied up by strikes of 100 to 900 employes.

Goodrich Output Slowed

Akron, O., Sept. 4 [Special]—Production at six B. F. Goodrich plants was almost halted today as employes refused to cross picket lines of striking foremen. John Saylor, president of the Goodrich local of the CIO United Rubber workers, instructed members to return to work, but advised them not to accept foremen's jobs.

Penn. Central Air Plans Sale of Debentures

Pennsylvania-Central Airlines yesterday announced it soon would issue 10 million dollars of 15 year convertible income debentures to provide funds for a fleet of four engine planes already ordered. White, Weld & Co. and Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co. will head the underwriters.

The air line has purchased 15 new type DC-6's to supplement its present 23 passenger planes. Providing more than double the capacity of its present ships, the new planes will seat about 50 persons, be faster, and will offer added passenger comforts.

Fourth of Funds for Expansion

Purchase of the planes, ground equipment, and inventories to provide more frequent flights on existing routes will require 7½ million dollars. The remainder of new funds will be reserved for general expansion including possible new routes for which applications are pending.

Allied Control company filed with the securities and exchange commission a statement covering the proposed sale of 100,000 shares of $8 par preferred and 20,000 shares of $1 par common stock to be offered in units of one share of preferred and one-fifth share of common. Ames, Emerich & Co. and Dempsey & Co., both of Chicago, will head the underwriting group.

Unit Offering Planned

International Resistance company registered 175,000 share of 6 per cent $5 par cumulative convertible preferred stock and an equal number of 10 cent par common shares, to be publicly offered at $5 per unit of one share of each. Proceeds will help finance reconversion and permit expansion. Underwriters will be headed by Newburger & Hano and Kobbe, Gearhart & Co.

The interstate commerce commission authorized the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad to issue $1,440,000 of equipment trust certificates to help finance purchase of three diesel locomotives and 500 steel coal cars.

The SEC approved the North American company's proposed offering at competitive bidding of 700,000 shares of its holdings of 1,348,192 shares of Pacific Gas and Electric company common.

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK WILL LEND TO NORWAY SOON

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Norway will be the next European nation to receive a loan from the United States Export-Import bank and the deal probably will be completed within a week, Wayne C. Taylor, president of the bank, said today in an interview.

The exact amount, the interest rate, and other details cannot be announced until Norway's cabinet gives final approval, he said, but the amount is substantially larger than the 20 million dollar loan made to Denmark last week.

Requests which have reached the stage of final negotiations are pending from Belgium, the Netherlands, and the Dutch East Indies, Taylor said. Preliminary conversations for loans are under way with Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Greece. Neither Britain nor Russia has negotiations pending.

Electric Roasters Come Off Ohio Production Line

Electric roasters came off the production line of the Mansfield, O., appliance division plant of Westinghouse Electric corporation yesterday for the first time since 1942, J. H. Ashbaugh, vice president, said. He predicted that refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, and other Westinghouse appliances soon would be available to the public.

BIG EXPANSION IS STARTED BY PONTIAC MOTOR

Jobs Will Increase to 16,000 Total

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 4 [Special]—Pontiac motor division of General Motors corporation has begun one of the biggest expansion programs in its history which will enable it to produce a half million automobiles a year and increase its employment to 16,000 workers, Harry J. Klingler, Pontiac general manager and vice president of G. M., said today. Peak employment in 1941 was 11,321.

Costing many millions, the expansion will add 1,100,000 square feet to the division's production area, making a total of 104 acres of enclosed space, Klingler said.

Pontiac built and sold 330,061 of 1941 model cars and was unable to fill a substantial backlog of orders. Present plans provide for 500,000 cars in the first 12 months of unrestricted production.

Foundry Will Be Expanded

Pontiac's foundry expansion will cost $3,081,365. More than a million dollars were spent on enlarging and modernizing this unit four years ago. Gross tonnage of metal poured will be raised from 800 to 1,344 tons daily.

Also slated for expansion and increased production are the engine, axle, assembly, and sheet metal plants, and heat treating and car shipping departments.

Other projects include a new salvage building, new gasoline and oil storage building, improvement and rearrangement of the apprentice school, and new locker and cafeteria facilities.

Already in operation is the big parts depot, converted from the plant Pontiac completed in 1942 for the making of aircraft torpedoes.

Six Assembly Operations Planned

Pontiac also will participate with other G. M. divisions in the operation of six assembly plants in various parts of the country, including those formerly operated at Linden, N. J., and South Gate, Cal.

"I wish to emphasize that these new assembly operations will increase rather than decrease the number of jobs available in this area," Klingler said. "The majority of the parts for cars to be assembled at these points will be made here and shipped to the sub-plants."

Asserting Pontiac expected a vast pent up demand for cars, Klingler said the factory expansion is being matched by an expansion program among the division's 3,000 dealers. The Pontiac dealer building layout section had provided modernization and new building plants to 412 dealers involving a total expenditure of $10,230,000 and adding 3,700,000 square feet of sales and service space.

Stokely Profit Tops 3 Million in Fiscal Year

William B. Stokely Jr., president of Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., yesterday told stockholders in his report for the fiscal year ended May 31 that the company expects sales of frozen foods in domestic and foreign markets to exceed by far pre-war levels. He said earnings in the period increased.

He explained that overseas shipments of Stokely-Van Camp processed foods during the war resulted in the placing of the company's trade-marked goods on the shelves of millions of housewives in foreign countries and also brought the products to the "particular attention of this country's millions of service men."

"This combination represents an impressive potential market for the company in the immediate post-war future that can be utilized quickly because Stokely has no important reconversion problems," he said.

Sales Near 66 Million

Stokely reported net income of $3,145,060, or $3.48 a share, in the fiscal year, compared with $2,252,978, or $2.91 a share, in the preceding fiscal year. Sales totaled $67,954,119, against $51,034,838 in the 1944 fiscal year.

Profit of All American Aviation, Inc., in the fiscal year ended July 30 was $191,771, compared with $238,578 in the preceding fiscal year, said Halsey R. Bazley, president.

He said the decrease was caused by an operating loss of $73,932 incurred by the air transport division and a writeoff of $62,968 in deferred charges in connection with route surveys and new route applications. The company's business totaled $3,800,000 against $3,475,000 in the preceding year.

Mail traffic increased 42.4 per cent in the 1945 fiscal year above a year earlier.

TRADE IN GRAIN IS LIGHT, PRICE CHANGES SMALL

Trading in grain futures yesterday was exceptionally light, with prices irregular and changes small as brokers moved cautiously. Wheat closed ¼ to ½ cent lower and corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher. Oats were ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower, rye ¼ higher to 1⅛ lower, and barley ¼ higher to ⅞ lower.

Announcement that the railroads had placed an embargo on shipments of grain to Minneapolis, Duluth, and other northwestern terminals as the result of accumulations on track tended to restrict hedging pressure, especially in wheat. Brokers said the volume of such business was the smallest in several months.

Mills and shorts accorded wheat some support, with part of the buying attributed to a reflection of sales to the government.

EQUITABLE LIFE ADDS TO INTEREST WAIVER OF VET ON FARM LOAN

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—An interest waiver which would enable a war veteran who wishes to engage in farming to borrow up to $4,000 interest free for one year was announced today by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Thomas I. Parkinson, president, said the society would waive interest for one year on $2,000 of principal on home and farm real estate loans to veterans and would extend the waiver to its present home and farm borrowers who served 90 days or more in the armed forces during the war. The veteran is entitled under the GI bill of rights to a government guaranteed $2,000 loan with interest waived for a year and Equitable will not require a government guarantee for its farm mortgage loans.

Parkinson said surveys indicate some 1,400,000 men in service plan full or part-time farming. He cautioned them against acting impulsively in going into farming, suggesting they make sure they have the qualities and experience needed for successful farming.

FORD TO BOOST CHICAGO PLANT WORKER TOTAL

Twelve hundred workers currently are employed in the Ford Motor company assembly plant in Chicago, but the number will be more than trebled when peak production of trucks and passenger cars is reached, Earl Zweifel, assistant branch manager, said yesterday. Employment will climb each month to a peak of about 4,000, compared with 3,000 before the war.

Plant reconversion is nearing completion and the first truck is expected to roll off the assembly line within two weeks, barring unforeseen delays, Zweifel said. The first passenger car should be turned out 30 to 60 days after the first truck, the time depending principally on availability of materials and the speed with which certain manufacturing equipment is acquired.

Two and four door sedans and coupes will be assembled in Chicago. Truck models will include those with 114, 134, and 158 inch wheelbases.

CATTLE SUPPLY SMALLER, PRICE LEVEL ADVANCES

Cattle receipts at the stock yards were smaller yesterday because of the Labor day holiday and prices rallied slightly from last week's late decline.

Chicago buyers paid the $18 ceiling for several car loads of steers, and bought the majority from $15 to $17.50. Butcher stock gains were the smallest and some beef cows, canners, and cutters were steady. Heifers sold mostly steady. Bull prices were slightly weaker, with the exception of yearlings that shared in the steer demand. Calves were steady.

Pork became scarcer as hog receipts decreased. Buyers paid the $14.75 a hundred pounds top for most barrows and gilts, and $14 for all sows and stags, the ceiling prices.

Sheep and lambs were steady to weak at the lowest September levels in four years.

Cook County's 1944 Tax Warrant Issue Retired

County Treasurer Schlaeger said yesterday he had redeemed $1,200,000 of 1944 tax anticipation warrants issued by Cook county. The whole issue of $8,200,000 has been retired, as have $1,740,000 of county highway department warrants. Funds for the redemption came from current tax payments.

STOCKS UNEVEN THO INDIVIDUAL FAVORITES RISE

Pullman and R.C.A. Set 1945 Highs

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—The stock market was irregular today with assorted rails, utilities and industrials rising moderately while many leaders drifted into minus territory.

Traders returned from the lengthy Labor day week-end with bullish sentiment predominating at the opening. Idle investment funds seeking income propped individual favorites. Numerous customers, however, reduced holdings or stood aside to await the reassembling of congress, more light on labor rifts threatening reconversion, and a possible substantial technical correction of the broad upswing. Hopes for tax relief were chilled by Secretary of the Treasury Vinson's assertion that high rates would continue.

Index Is Unchanged

Gains of fractions to two points were plentiful at the close, but declines of as much were widespread. Transfers totalled 1,070,000 shares, compared with 1,110,000 Friday. The Associated Press 60 stock composite was unchanged at 67.6. Of 919 issues registering, 387 were up, 307 down, and 225 unchanged.

Gainers included Pullman, Radio, Stokely-Van Camp, at highs for the year or longer; Pepsi Cola, Public Service of New Jersey, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Deere, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United States Gypsum, and Glenn Martin.

BOND PRICES MIXED

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—The bond market developed some firm spots today, altho the great majority of active issues fluctuated narrowly. Treasury obligations rose moderately.

A late buying flurry in Illinois Central 4s and refunding 4s brought gains of a point or more.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE

Prices rose in active trade of 41,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Lively issues included Admiral, up ⅝; Libby, McNeill, up ¼, and Commonwealth Edison, Domestic Industries, and Chicago corporation common, all unchanged. Among nine issues setting 1945 peaks were Cudahy preferred, up 1⅝, and General Motors, up 1⅝.

REPORT BRITISH TO START PAYING FOR U. S. GOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 4—The Daily Telegraph's New York correspondent, after talking with Leo Crowley, foreign economic administration chief, said today Britain has undertaken to pay cash for American supplies during the interim period between the ending of lend-lease and operation of the new arrangement expected to result from the forthcoming Anglo-American talks.

The correspondent did not attribute his information to either British or American officials.

The reported British decision to pay cash, at least temporarily, the correspondent asserted, not only means the coming winter will be far less hard for the British civilians than has been feared, "but also that the forthcoming discussions between the British and American governments will take place in a more friendly atmosphere than seemed likely a few days ago."

Sales of Retail Chain Rise Above 2 Million in August

August sales of Consolidated Retail Stores, Inc., were $2,058,033, compared with $1,729,522 a year ago, an increase of 18.9 per cent, the company said yesterday. Sales in the eight months were $15,394,690, against $12,892,443, an increase of 19.4 per cent.

Norge Makes New Products for Home Use

Details of two new products, a portable water cooler and a home and farm freezer, and limited information on a third new unit, an automatic cycle washer, were disclosed yesterday by M. G. O'Harra, vice president and general manager of Borg-Warner corporation's Norge division.

M. G. O'Harra

Constituting additions to the company's line of household appliances, which include refrigerators, gas and electric ranges, standard washing machines, and home heaters, the new products will be marketed as soon as manufacturing conditions permit mass production, O'Harra said. A large demand is expected for the water cooler.

Cooler Is Moved Easily

"Never before has the average home owner been able to purchase a small, electric water cooler which can be carried from room to room and used on the sun porch, in the den, in the playroom, or elsewhere in the house," he said.

It is adaptable for use in offices, hospitals, hotels, clubs, and elsewhere, has a capacity of 1½ gallons which can be cooled in one hour, and is powered with a 1-12 horse power hermetically sealed "rollator" unit. The cooler is approximately 22 inches wide and 13 inches high, and can be carried easily by the average housewife.

The home and farm freezer will be offered initially in four sizes, three primarily for the city or suburban home and the fourth for the farm. Capacities will run from 6 to 26 cubic feet. Each unit will be of the chest type with lift lid construction. The smallest is intended for storage, but also will freeze foods.

Designed for Varied Users

An 11 cubic foot cabinet is intended for those who process foods from their own garden. The 18½ cubic foot freezer will hold more than 500 pounds of frozen food, has two large food storage compartments and a separate freezing space, is powered with a 1-3 h. p. unit, and is designed for large scale gardeners. The 26 cubic foot unit will be a three compartment model, providing 20½ feet of storing space and 5½ feet for freezing. A ½ h. p. heavy duty power unit will be used.

O'Harra said the company was not prepared to disclose operating or engineering details of the automatic cycle washer at present. However, he said the product "will go far beyond anything offered to date," and several of its features will be exclusive with Norge. Its operation is fully automatic and standard exterior dimensions will permit installation in the average kitchen.

Estimated Steel Output Rises Slightly This Week

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Steel operations this week will average 74.9 per cent of capacity, compared with 74.5 per cent last week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. Production will total 1,371,900 tons against 1,364,600.

14 MILLION JOB TOTAL SOUGHT FOR FACTORIES

Equal to Pay Rolls When Japs Quit

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—The government today established an employment goal of 14 million persons in factory jobs in the next few months.

The war man power commission has proposed the figure as a "first goal" to be attained while millions are losing jobs in war plants.

Fourteen million were at work in factories in the record peace time year 1941, when defense work was piled on high civilian manufacturing. This also was the factory pay roll on Aug. 14, when Japan quit. Many have lost jobs since.

4 Million to Lose Jobs

WMC, in a report prepared since Japan's surrender and used only inside the government, estimated that perhaps 4 million persons would lose jobs in the next six months.

WMC said the task of making and finding work for millions of newly laid-off workers and returning veterans will "tax the energies of management, labor, and government for many months."

"The major war industries, aircraft, shipbuilding, ordnance, communications equipment, government, are in the midst of releasing nearly 2,500,000 workers in the 60 days after victory," the agency said.

"Aircraft plants will let go 1,000,000, shipbuilding, 350,000; ordnance, 800,000; communications equipment, 100,000, and government establishments, 100,000.

300,000 More to Be Released

"This displacement will be followed by a continued drop of over 300,000 more by February in shipbuilding and a heavy pruning of war and navy department civilian workers thruout the country."

WMC concluded that the total, considering chemical and metal producers as well, might mean 4,000,000 would lose war jobs in the first six months of peace. This would occur while the army and navy return men to the labor market at 500,000 a month or more.

WMC reported that "manufacturing industries cannot continue to absorb the available workers" after the first upsurge of peace time activity.

"Men and women in ever greater numbers must be taken into nonmanufacturing fields, mining, building, trade, and farming, which have been restricted by war or which need to expand their peace time activities," the agency asserted.

The drop to a 40 hour week would, in theory, open up 1,500,000 more manufacturing jobs, if production were held up to the level of V-J day.

How a Small Business Firm Can Have BIG Bank Credit

Accounts Receivable Loans
Installment Contract Loans
Listed Security Loans
Commodity Loans
Financial Statement Loans
Termination Loans secured by cancelled Government contracts

THE ABILITY to borrow at most banks is limited by a company's financial statement.

This, however, may not satisfy the credit needs of rapidly growing business firms.

So Merchandise Bank has supplemented the usual basis for extending credit with other loan plans that permit extension of larger credit amounts. Installment contracts and accounts receivable, for example, are acceptable means by which many small business firms have obtained larger lines of credit at Merchandise Bank.

Thus they have been able to take advantage of profit opportunities—to grow rapidly and soundly.

Through our flexible credit program, we invite opportunities to be of service to large and small business enterprises.

CEILING ON HIDES HELD UPSET TO NORMAL MARKET

Small Quality Differential Unbalances Demand

The demand for high grade cattle hides is far outstripping the supply, tho lower grade hides are readily available, because of office of price administration ceilings which do not permit large enough differentials for quality, trade spokesmen said yesterday.

A. L. Webster, hide broker, said his company has orders for more big packer hides than it can buy, but country hides and others of inferior grade are in ample supply.

Nearly All Bring Ceilings

Ceiling prices for choice hides and for those of inferior quality are almost the same, Webster said, and nearly all sell at ceilings. Marketers of lower quality hides do not wish to accept less than their ceiling, but the price may go down when choice hides become more abundant, he predicted.

Because of a heavy slaughter of cattle which began more than a week ago, all hide supplies are expected to improve in the next three or four months. Predictions are that the cattle slaughter this fall may break all records for the season. The chief stumbling block in making the hide into leather has been a labor shortage in the tanneries.

Processing May Take Six Months

The heavier run of cattle to market began too recently to have had any effect on the hide market so far, it was said. About 30 to 60 days elapse before the cured hide gets into the tanner's hands, another 30 to 60 days for tanning into leather, and still another 30 to 60 days before it emerges as a manufactured leather article ready for the consumer. Thus hides from current slaughter may not reach the public in finished form for six months.

Since the end of the war and army cancelation of orders for shoes and other leather items, "plenty of leather" has become available, trade spokesmen said.

SERVING THE SOUTH

I shall appreciate information on Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company.—S. M.

The Atlantic Coast Line proper serves the seaboard from Tampa and other southern Florida points to Norfolk, Va., and has access to Washington, D. C., over a jointly controled line from Richmond, Va. The road extends to Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala., and Atlanta, Ga., where connections are made with the Louisville and Nashville.

The company owns 51 per cent of L. & N. stock, and every dollar a share paid by L. & N. on its stock, split 2 for 1 this year, is equal to $1.45 a share on A. C. L. common. In addition to the L. & N. dividends, the company has substantial profits from separately operated properties. These increased each year from $344,867 in 1939 to $3,077,218 in 1944. The company's fixed charges in this interval were reduced $862,000, and net working capital rose from $5,052,000 to $19,212,000 despite a reduction of funded debt from $144,787,000 to $128,544,000.

Earnings have been subject to wide fluctuations, from $14.48 a share on the 823,427 shares in 1929 to net losses from 1932 thru 1935 and again in 1938. In later years the share profits were: 1944, $19.54; 1943, $21.22; 1942, $27.46; 1941, $13.51; 1940, $2.20; 1939, 96 cents. In the first half of 1945 earnings were below those of 1944. Dividends resumed in 1941 after a lapse, totaled $1 in that year, $2 in 1942, $3 in 1943, and $2.75 declared to date in 1945.

NEW FM WAVE BANDS WILLL BE ASSIGNED SOON

The federal communications commission yesterday announced that it would make specific operating assignments soon to each of the 46 frequency modulation stations in the new band assigned to FM. The FM stations now are assigned to channels in the 43 to 50 megacycle band and they are to be moved into the 92-108 megacycle portion of the radio spectrum.

The FCC announced that equipment tests in the new assignments must start by Dec. 1, and regular programs by Jan. 1, 1946. Licensees of FM stations will be permitted to operate on their present frequencies until receivers for the new band are generally available to the public and owners of existing receivers have had time to convert them.

The commission said that it recognized that equipment may not be available for operation under the new frequencies. Licensees will be permitted to operate with less power until equipment is available.

THIRD EINSTEIN PROGRAM TO BE ON AIR SEPT. 12

BY LARRY WOLTERS

The celebrated "Einstein Theory" broadcast, in which relativity is explained in simple terms for the average man, is to be given for the third time on the Human Adventure over W-G-N-Mutual at 9 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 12. Some 12,000 requests for another broadcast have been received. On this broadcast the program will introduce a policy of presenting noted guests. Col. Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle, the zany comedian, will take the part of the average guy who tries to get the Einstein theory thru his noggin and Clifton Fadiman, master of ceremonies of Information Please, will explain the proposition. Tonight the Human Adventure will broadcast "The Story of Insanity."

Information Please will be back next Monday night on NBC with Fadiman in his usual spot, and Fred Allen and Moss Hart as guests. The other regulars, Franklin P. Adams and John Kieran, will be on the program.

Margaret Truman, daughter of the President, is expected to participate in the Church of the Air program from Trinity Episcopal church, Independence, Mo., at 9 a. m. next Sunday over WBBM-CBS. She is a member of the church choir. The Rev. Harold B. Whiteman will discuss "The Post-War World and My Share in It."

The Associated Broadcasting corporation's coast to coast inaugural program has been announced for 2 to 4 p. m. Sunday, Sept. 16, with Paul Porter, chairman of the federal communications commission, as chief speaker. Headquarters are in Grand Rapids, Mich., but most of the opening program will come from Washington, D. C., Fort Myer, Va., and Hollywood. WJJD, which carries some programs of the network, won't be an outlet for this ceremony. It will be carrying baseball at that time.

Kay Kyser returned to California yesterday after several months in the Philippines and other Pacific areas entertaining troops. With his wife, Georgia Carroll, he will visit his mother in Rocky Mount, N. C., before returning to the air on Wednesday, Sept. 19.
